

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

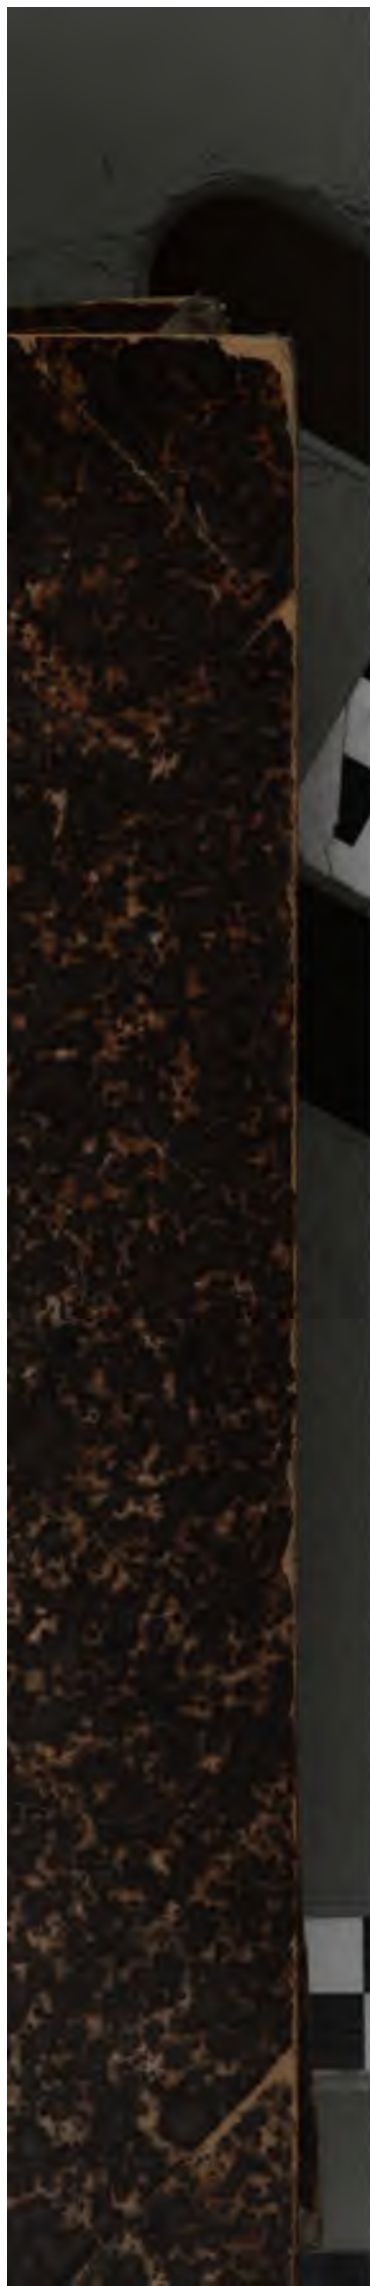

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. ASTOR LENOX AND TILDEN FOUNDATIONS

VOL. II.

JANUARY, 1898.

No. 1.

REPORT FOR DECEMBER, 1897.

During the month of December there were received at the Library by purchase 1,259 volumes and 220 pamphlets, and by gift 1,439 volumes and 3,371 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 3,146 books and 2,309 pamphlets, for which purpose 16,958 cards and 1,191 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	2,206	5,552
Number of volumes.....	4,564	24,467
Daily average of readers.....	85	214

A gift of $10,000 has been received from Mr. Schiff for the purchase of Semitic literature. The other most important gifts received during the month were: from State of Indiana, 6 volumes and 5 pamphlets; State of Pennsylvania, 190 maps of surveys; Connecticut, 22 volumes; Maine, 11 volumes, and from the different departments of Ontario, 58 volumes and 13 pamphlets. There came in also from the Boston Public Library, 180 volumes of municipal documents; from W. P. Garrison, editor of the "Nation," 370 volumes and 133 pamphlets; Edward D. Adams, 37 volumes and 2 pamphlets; Harvard Club, 14 volumes and 65 pamphlets; Reynolds Library, Rochester, 82 volumes and 9 pamphlets; the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, 4 volumes and 16 pamphlets; Hon. David A. Wells, 3 volumes and 12 pamphlets.

Professor Henry Drisler, Trustee of the New York Public Library from the date of its organization, died November 30th, 1897. He had been a Trustee of the Astor Library since 1876, and was a member of the Library Committee both before and after the consolidation. At a meeting of the Board of Trustees, on January 12, 1898, Mr. Charles H. Russell was elected a trustee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Professor Drisler.

It is proposed that hereafter the full annual reports of the Board shall cover the fiscal year ending June 30th, as the report to the State and municipal authorities must be made for this period: hence, no detail report is submitted at the present time.

During the six months, ending June 30th, 1897, the total number of books catalogued and accessioned was 15,770, and of pamphlets, 6,494; and the total number of cards made for the catalogue during this period was 59,179. In addition there were written 3,318 slips for the printer.

The total number of readers was 57,076, the daily average being 369, and the number of volumes used was 145,287.

The work of completing the files of periodicals has been satisfactorily carried on, and during the last six months 2,560 volumes of journals, transactions and reports of societies required to complete our files have been obtained.

The total number of periodicals and transactions of societies to which this library is subscribing, for the year 1898, is 2,502. Of these 483 are American, 497 British, 595 French, 660 German, 125 Italian, 36 Scandinavian, 27 Belgian, 16 Dutch and 12 Russian.

During the calendar year ending December 31st, 1897, the total number of volumes received by purchase was 16,098, and by gift, 10,128, making a total of 26,226. The total number of volumes catalogued and accessioned during the same period was 29,792. The number of pamphlets actually received during the year, by purchase, was 10,350, by gift, 40,247, and the total number catalogued and accessioned was 15,274.

The total number of cards written during the year was 156,925. In addition to this, 15,404 slips for the printer were written, and for each of these slips five printed cards were obtained.

The total number of cards in the Index Catalogue, which is open to readers, on the 31st of December, 1897, at the Astor Branch was about 80,000, at the Lenox Branch it was 27,800.

The total number of readers during the year was 103,384, and the number of volumes called for by readers' slips, outside of those taken from the free reference shelves, was 304,466.

PLANS OF THE NEW LIBRARY BUILDING.

The floor plans of the new building to be constructed for the New York Public Library are given herewith:

This building is to be about 366 feet long from north to south and 246 feet wide from east to west; 68 feet high from the ground line to the top of the cornice on the centre of the east front and 98 feet high from the ground line to the top of the cornice on the centre of the west front. It is to contain two open courts, each 81 feet square.

The important features of the plan are as follows:

1. A main stack room, 274 feet long, 72 feet wide, and 52 feet 6 inches high, containing seven floors, and having a shelving capacity for 1,250,000 volumes. Access to this stack is provided at each end, and at the centre on the east side from each of the three lower floors of the building, and also from the centre of the reading rooms which are placed on the top of it. The central portions of this stack, on the lower access, will be lighted by electric light.

2. The lending department on the basement floor, the lending delivery room being at the bottom of the north court, 81 feet square, lighted from above, and communicating directly with the lower tier of the main stack room.

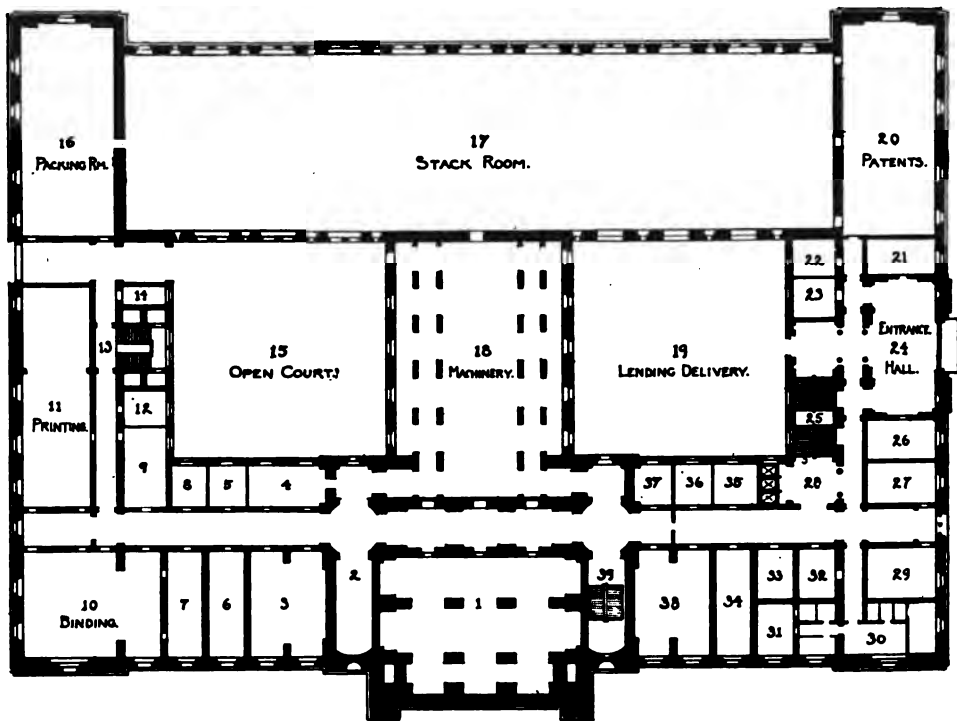

3. Three large public reading rooms on the first floor, namely: a children's room 118 x 42 feet; a periodical room 118 x 42 feet; and a newspaper room 92 x 38 feet.

4. Public reading rooms on the upper floor, including two main reading rooms, each 115 x 72 feet; two reading room extensions, with lower ceilings north and south of main reading rooms, each 38 x 92 feet, and a room for public catalogue, open reference shelves, and casual readers, 81 x 67 feet. The whole giving seats for about 800 readers, and being supplied by a central delivery room placed over the centre of the main stack, and communicating with it by book lifts, running from top to bottom.

5. Special reading rooms for scholars and special students on the second floor, including a public document room 38 x 92 feet, a room for Oriental literature 38 x 52 feet, a room for sociology and economics 18 x 48 feet, a room for mathematics and physical and chemical sciences 42 x 77 feet, a map room 42 x 38 feet, a music room 38 x 52 feet, a Bible room and six special study rooms, each about 15 feet square.

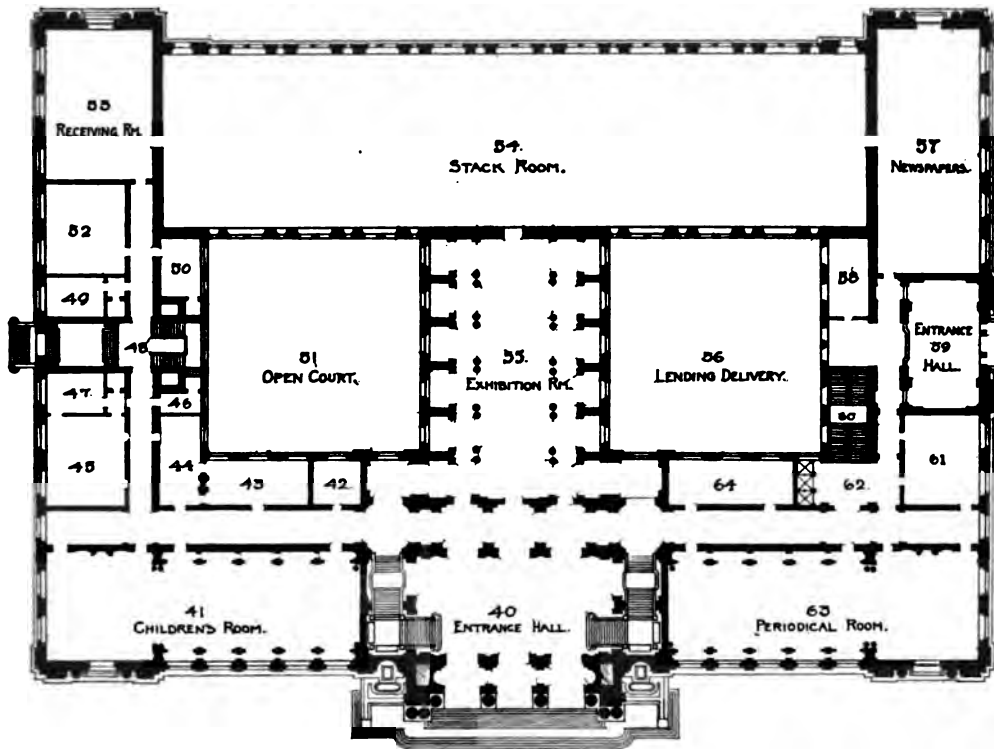

6. Picture galleries, Stuart room and other exhibition rooms, freely open to the public, occupying the west front of the upper floor.

7. The grouping of the rooms for administrative offices on the south side of the building. These include: printing office, bindery, packing and shipping rooms on the basement floor; receiving and checking room, business superintendent's offices, etc., on the first floor; director's offices, order room, catalogue room and accession room on the second floor.

WASHINGTON'S COPY-PRESS LETTERS.

PART III, 1794.

[No. 12. To CHARLES CARTER.]

PHILADELPHIA, 29th. May 1794

DEAR SIR,

I have duly received your letter of the 14th instant.—

The enclosed to M^r John Lewis, left open for your perusal, will shew what I require for myself, and am willing to do for others.—Do you & he therefore, after full enquiry into facts, point out what this ought to be—and no delay shall be experienced from me.—

The two hundred pounds for which you endorsed an order upon a Merchant of this place, has been duly paid. The remainder of the money due me for the purchase of the lots (amounting to about two hundred pounds more) I give, as I desired M^r. Howell Lewis to inform you to my niece M^{rs}. Carter.—And by these presents I confirm the gift.—Give my love to her

With great esteem & regard

I am—Dear Sir

Your Obedient Serv^t

G. WASHINGTON

CHA^s CARTER J^r. Esq^r.

[Endorsed:] To Cha^s. Carter j^r.

29 May 1794.

[No. 13. To JOHN LEWIS.]

PHILADELPHIA 29th May 1794

DEAR SIR,

The letter of which the enclosed is a copy renders further explanation on my part in a manner unnecessary—I must beg leave notwithstanding to add that when mistakes happen the sooner they can be rectified the better

All I recollect of this matter (and that but imperfectly) is, that Col^o Lewis (your father) purchased from a Michael Robinson for and on my account, the lots in Fredericksburg on which my mother lived.—Robinson (I believe) bought them of him, & no Deed having been made for them ~~he~~, to avoid trouble & the expence of double transfers, conveyed them to me.—

If this was done by wrong numbers it is incumbent on you as heir at law, to correct this error and it [may seem] necessary that I should, for that same reason, convey the lots 111 & 113 to the rightful owners of them.—

I wish that you and M^r Carter w^d examine into this matter thoroughly, & whatever is proper to be done on my part shall be executed without delay.—

I am Dear Sir

Your Obed. H^{ble} Serv^t.

G. WASHINGTON

JOHN LEWIS, Esq^r

[Endorsed:] To John Lewis

29 May 1794

[No. 14. To ROBERT LEWIS.]

DEAR SIR,

PHILADELPHIA July 18th 1794

If in a letter, not long since written to you, you were authorized to rent the South tract of land I hold on Difficult Run, in Loudon County,—I now desire that you will not do it.—I have had some overtures for the purchase of it; and have been offered five pounds an acre, giving credit, which I was willing to do, but the thing that parted us at that time, and may possibly do so for ever, was interest; he wanted credit without paying this to which I would not consent.—But as land thereabouts is rising fast in value, I have no doubts of obtaining the price & terms, & even more, by keeping it up, provided it is not incumbered with a Lease.—

I authorised you in my last, to lay out the money collected on my behalf for Rents due me, in purchasing in the Leases, but restricted this operation not to exceed (if I recollect rightly) the first of November.—I now prolong it until the first of January (which closes the present year) beyond which you are not at liberty to apply money to this purpose, without further instructions from me.—

You must be very particular in examining into the real State and condition of the Leases;—for if the accounts of the Tenants (without this enquiry) is to govern, the lives will never expire.—It is essential also to know, if transfers have taken place, under what authority it has happened; as there is a clause, or covenant in the leases (if my memory serves me), restraining this, without written permission of the Landlord.—And if it shall appear, by any of the leases, that an alteration of names, from the original instrument, has taken place, to learn, with precision, by what means it has taken place.—I shall expect written evidence of these facts.—a verbal explanation without, from the Tenants, will not satisfy me—

My love to M^r. Lewis in w^{ch} your Aunt joins

With affect friendship

I am Yours

SIR,

PHILADELPHIA, July 28th. 1794

Your letter of the 29th. ult^o. came to my hands a few days ago only.

M^r. Samuel Jackson (if that is the name of the person who asked me sometime in the course of last winter, if I would dispose of my land in Fayette, & at what price) must very greatly have misunderstood my answer if he conceived thirty shillings an acre was the value I had set upon it.—

The truth is, that at no period since I dissolved my partnership with Simpson, & had any idea of parting with this, & my other land West of the Alligany Mountains, did I ever fix a less value than forty shillings p^r Acre on the tract you live.—It is not to be presumed then that I should lower my price when it was increasing twenty five, fifty, and even an hundred p^r C^t in almost every direction.—

Mr. Jackson must have mistaken the tract in Washington County for that in Fayette, from the price; for thirty shillings p^r Acre was the value I put on that.—The conversation I had with that Gentleman was very short; for when I found he did not mean to be the purchaser himself, but was making enquiries merely to satisfy his own curiosity or to gratify that of others, I told him I had rated them at such & such prices, 40/. I think for that in Fayette & 30/ for the others, & being asked if I would allow any credit, he was answered yes; provided a certain part of the purchase was paid at the time of ensembling & delivery; and interest paid on the residue.—But he was told at parting, that as nothing final had taken place between him & me, he was not to consider any thing that passed between us, as binding upon me at a future day.—

Mentioning this matter to a Gentleman well acquainted with the value, & prices of land in that Country he told me he thought the Land on w^{ch}. you live (the whole tract I mean) would fetch Six dollars an acre:—accordingly Mr. Ross of Washington (one of your Senators) has been authorized to sell both tracts; Not knowing therefore what he may have done in this matter, I can not be more precise with you, at this time.—If the land is not already under engagement, and I do not believe it is, as it is but lately the power to dispose of it was given, it would give me pleasure that you sh^d. have the preference, if Mr. Ross and you can agree on the price.—And if you would pay a fourth of the purchase down, you might have credit for the residue four, five, or even Six years,—giving the Land, and your Bond bearing the rest, as Security

[No. 16. To BURGESS BALL.]

DEAR SIR,

GERMAN TOWN Aug^t 10th 1794.

We removed to this place about twelve days ago to avoid the heat of Philadelphia,—& probably may remain at it until the middle of next month. It was here I received your letter of the 5th. instant, which came to my hands yesterday.

The business of establishing Arsenals, and providing proper places for them, is within the Department of War; the Secretary of which (General Knox) set out on Friday last for the Province of Main, and will not be returned in less than six weeks.—But as I am persuaded he has no idea (nor are there indeed funds provided equal thereto) of giving 25,000 Dollars for the Site of one, only, I would not have you, by any means, avoid sowing wheat, or doing any thing else which you might have had in contemplation to do, on Account of what I mentioned to you in my last, on this subject.—

What (under the rose I ask it) is said or thought, as far as it has appeared to you, of the conduct of the People in the Western Counties of this State (Pennsylvania) towards the excise Officers?—and does there seem to be a disposition among those with whom you converse, to bring them to a sense of their duty, & obedience to law by coercion, if, after they are fully notified by Proclamation & other expedients of the consequences of such outrageous proceedings, they do not submit to the Laws of the United States, & suffer the Collection of the duties upon Spirituous Liquors, & Stills, to be made as in other places?—In a word, would their be any difficulty, as far as the matter has passed under your observation in drawing out a part of the Militia of Loudon, Berkeley, & Frederick to quell this rebellious spirit, & to support order & good government?—You will readily perceive that questions of this sort from me to you & your answers are for my private information, & to go no further than ourselves.

I am sorry to hear that your bad state of health requires the Waters of Bath, but hope they will restore you—My love (in which M^r. Washington unites) is offered to M^r. Ball & the family—

I am—Y^r. Affect^e.

DEAR SIR,

GERMAN TOWN 28th Aug^t 1794

M^r. Johnson & Doct^r. Stuart having resolved to withdraw themselves as Commissioners of the Federal City, & not to act after the meeting which is proposed to be held on the 15th of next month, it has become necessary to appoint two others in their places.—One of whom, it is said, ought to possess a considerable stock of legal abilities as cases are frequently occurring to render Law knowledge necessary for the purposes of deciding on points of law depending thereon as for the draughting of agreements & other instruments which are requisite in the progress of the business.—

M^r. Scott (at present of Baltimore) a gentleman eminent in the profession of the Law—a man of character & fortune—and one who has the welfare of the New City much at heart has been applied to and accepts the appointed trust.—And if it is convenient & agreeable to you to accept also the commission will be again completed and the business go on without interruption from & after the ensuing meeting as before.

It has been found from experience, indispensibly necessary that the Commissioners should reside in the City (in George Town would be tantamount) and devote, by some arrangement among themselves, much of their time to the multitudinous concerns of the same—thereby superceding the necessity of employing a Superintendent.—As the rendering of such duties are not to be expected on the terms the late Commissioners served (and two of them decline it under any terms) I have fixed the Salary for each at Sixteen hundred dollars p^r. annum.—

Were it not that I am unwilling to add any thing that might carry with it the appearance of influencing your judgment, in the decision you are called upon to make in this case, I sh^d. have expressed a wish that it might be found convenient to you accept the appointment.—If however, you should find it incompatible with your other plans & views and decline the acceptance I pray you to let me know, as far as you may be able to discover, in how respectable a light Doct^r Thornton stands, or would be considered by the Proprietors of the federal City (amongst whom he spent sometime in the Month of July last).—The Doct^r is sensible, and indefatigable I am told, in the execution of whatever he engages;—To which may be added his taste for architecture, but being little known doubts arise on that head.—If (in case of your non-acceptance) any other person or persons sh^d occur to you as fit for this business, be so good as to mention (under the Rose) their names to me.—The appointment is necessary, & can be delayed no longer

With very great esteem & regard

[No. 18. TO ALEXANDER SPOTSWOOD.]

DEAR SIR,

PHILADELPHIA, Nov^r 23^d 1794.

It has not been in my power to acknowledge, with convenience, the receipt of your letter of the 14th ult^o until now;—first, because it did not get to my hands until my return from the Westward, and 2^{dly}, because my attention, ever since to the present moment, has been occupied in examining the various papers on which my communications to Congress were to be founded.—

I do not see how any one can decide so well on the project you have in contemplation as yourself, who has a view of all the circumstances of the case, before you;—and who know how far so important a change in the scene, as that of transplanting yourself and family into a new country, is reconcilable to your feelings & dispositions.—and because, from the enquiries you have undoubtedly made, you must better know than any other who has not turned his thoughts to the subject, what you can sell for here, and buy at there.—

It has always been my opinion that new countries (by this I mean the interior of our own) are the best to lay the foundation of wealth, in as much as lands which, comparatively speaking, are to be had there cheap, rise in a fourfold ratio to what they do in the Atlantic Sea.—and it is to this circumstance, and the opportunities of acquiring them (by being in the scene) that the advantages consist.—as, until the navigation of the Mississippi can be obtained, or the communication between the Eastern & Western Waters be made more easy, than is the case at present, the principal demand for the product of the land is found in the emigrants who resort to it.—To this cause also, is to be ascribed the rapidly increasing prices of those Lands.—

In one part of your letter, you talk of removing to Kentucky; and in another, of vesting money in lands to West of the Ohio, which creates a doubt as to your principal view. You are not uninformed, I presume, that there is no land office open at this time in the last mentioned District; and that there is no means by which land can be obtained there, at present, except by purchase of Army rights, or from some of those companies to whom Congress have sold large tracts:—and in the present stage of our disputes with the Indians, that no settlement is thought safe from the scalping knife, that is not under the protection of some fort.—The same indeed may be said of the frontiers of Kentucky, while the central lands in that state are, as I am informed, selling very high. But of these facts you must be better informed than I am.—

I should think it perfectly expedient—so soon as you shall have resolved to sell your lands on Rappahanock—to advertise it in all the principal Gazettes, from Richmond to New York inclusively; and not to be too hasty in disposing of it, except for a very good price; as there are reasons to believe that in the course of this winter and the ensuing spring and summer, many men of property from Europe will remove to this country, or send over their property, with a view to invest it, either in our funds, or in lands.—

With respect to the other species of property, concerning which you ask my opinion, I shall frankly declare to you that I do not like even to think, much less talk of it.—However, as you have put the question, I shall, in a few words, give you my ideas of it.—Were it not then, that I am principled ag^t selling negroes, as you would do cattle at a market, I would not, in twelve months from this date, be possessed of one as a slave.—I shall be happily mistaken, if they are not found to be a very troublesome species of property ere many years pass over our heads (but this by the bye)—For this reason—and because there is but little sale for what is raised in the western country, it remains for you to consider whether their value would not be more productive in lands, reserving enough for necessary purposes, than to carry many of them, there. My love to M^{rs}. Spotswood and the family.

I am—Dear Sir

JOSEPH REED ON THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS OF 1778.

(From the original manuscript in the Emmet Collection, New York Public Library.)

CAMP NEAR THE VALLEY FORGE

June 15. 1778

DEAR SIR

Your Politeness & Attention during my short Stay at York Town have left such Impressions on my Mind that I cannot but take every Opp^y to shew my very sincere Regard & Respect.—And as the late Intelligence from England is both interesting & curious I have taken the Liberty to inclose you Extracts from a Letter received from a Relation there formerly Agent for one of the States, & a Letter from Gov^t Johnstone one of the Commissioners lately arrived. If they are not otherwise useful they will for a few minutes soften & relieve that intense Application to Business which adorns the Patriot, while it weakens the Man. To these I have also added a Copy of my Answer to the Govern^r, the Opinion I have given is so universal on the great Subject of their Commission, that I cannot suppose there is the least Danger that the Reply of Congress will set our Claim upon lower Ground. And as Politeness required an Answer, Sincerity & Candor would not allow me to flatter him.—One Part of my Brothers Letter which seems to intimate the Admission of our Independence, if claimed by a new Congress chosen after the present Terms are propounded, appears to me to deserve particular Attention as an insidious manœvre to distract & divide us. Your good Judgment will lead you to make such Use of it as you think best to guard against the Mischief intended—indeed any Use you please of the whole except printing them which I do not conceive myself altogether at Liberty to do.—The Fact alluded to in my Letter & evincive of the base Duplicity of the former Commissioners is proved by their Letter laid before the House of Lords last Session of Parliament & now printed in the parliamentary Register sent me among other Papers by Gov^t Johnstone. Unless it can receive some Explanation I am not capable of giving it I cannot conceive a more palpable Treachery & ineffable Meanness.—

I cannot but congratulate you, Sir, on the respectable Appearance of our Army & their Improvement in Discipline & every soldierly Quality—On the Extinction of every Spark of Discontent & Faction against the best of Men & the Regularity with which the several Departments seem now to be conducted. To the latter I ascribe very much of the former, as the Attention & Care of the General being no longer called off from his Command to exercise the Duties of the Staff—his Time & Talents are devoted more directly to the military Duty of his Troops—the happy Consequences of which are more & more conspicuous every Day.—I have now been here near two Weeks (great Part of the Time waiting for M^r Dana to complete the Business of the Arrangement of the Army) & can assure you that in the whole Time I have not heard a single Complaint of those Departments which formerly afforded so many—nor indeed of any other—I will not tax your Politeness with an answer to this Letter, I know the Nature & Extent of your Engagements do not admit the Waste of a Moment—but I shall nevertheless do myself the Honour of communicating any Occurrences here which are of Importance & not likely to reach you thro the publick Channel.

With every Sentiment of Respect & Esteem I remain

Sir

Your very Obed. Hbble
Serv.

Jos: REED

P. S. As I have not Time to copy the Governours Letter I have inclosed the original which you will be so obliging as to return me under Cover when you have made what Use you please of it—Upon farther Consideration I have thought best to delay an Answer to the Governours Letter least as the great Subject is under the Consideration of Congress I might say too much or too little & have therefore only concluded to send a bare complimentary Letter of Acknowledgment which is not worth troubling you with.

The letter is not addressed, but the endorsement is apparently in the handwriting of Henry Laurens. It is not mentioned in Wm. B. Reed's Life of Joseph Reed.

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

INTRODUCTION. IN TWO PARTS—PART I.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume I, Introduction. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°. The above volume is the first of twenty, into which the nine volumes of the original edition of Sanderson have been expanded.

The lives of the signers are arranged not as in the ordinary editions of the work, but geographically, according to states. The text of volume I includes the Preface and chapters I to 6, pages I to clvi of the Introduction.

Other editions of Sanderson in the library are mentioned in the notes to the preceding list. The articles by Benson J. Lossing on The Signers of the Declaration of Independence in Harper's Magazine, vol. 47 (July, Aug., 1873) pp. 258, 424, have special reference to these volumes. See also Lyman C. Draper's Essay on the Autographic Collections of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence and of the Constitution, New York, 1889, pp. 60-63.

The material indexed herewith consists of: documents 20, engravings 7, letters 16, maps 12, newspapers 2, plans 2, portraits 51, views 21.

View: Jamestown, Va. "Landing at Jamestown." Line engraving. [New York? 1860?] 4°. EM. 1664

It is set in the border of a copper-plate engraving by Fittler, dated 1795. Below it is inserted a portrait of Captain John Smith.

Portrait: Smith (John). "The portraiture of Captayne John Smith admiral of New England." Pen-and-ink drawing [by David McN. Stauffer] of the portrait on the map in Smith's Description of New England, London, 1616. [New York, 1885?] 8°. EM. 1665

Portrait: Emmet (Thomas Addis). "Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D., LL.D., Surgeon to the Woman's Hospital, New York." Mezzotint engraving by Samuel Sartain after a painting by James Archer, London, 1885. Philadelphia [1885?]. F°. EM. 1666

Portrait: Columbus (Christopher). Mezzotint engraving by W. O. Burgess. London, published May 27th, 1839, by M. M. Holloway, Printer, 14 Henrietta Street, Covent Garden. F°. EM. 1667

Portraits: United States.—Congress, Continental, 1775-1789. "The signers of the Declaration of Independence." Line engraving by W. Wellstood. [New York, 1876?] 4°. EM. 1668

Portrait: Sanderson (John). Lithograph by C. G. Childs after the original by Z. Neagle. Philad^a. Published by C. G. Childs, 80 Walnut St., 1830. 4°. EM. 1669

Map: World (The). "Photolithographed Copy of Gerard Mercator's Mapamundi of 1538 from an original Engraving in the library of the American Geographical Society," by Julius Bien and Co. [New York, 1880?] 20 $\frac{1}{2}$ x 14 $\frac{1}{8}$ in. EM. 1670

A copy of the original is also in the New York Public Library.

Map: Virginia, Colony.—"Virginiae Item et Floridae Americae Provinciarum, nova Descriptio." Artotype fac-simile [by Bierstadt?] of the map in Mercator's Atlas Novus. [New York, 1890?] 19 x 13 $\frac{1}{2}$ in. EM. 1671

Mercator's Atlas, Amsterdam, 1638, in the New York Public Library, contains an original of the above map.

View: Roanoke Island, N. C. "Landing in Virginia, 1584." Steel engraving by C. E. Wagstaff and J. Andrews after the original by Capt. S. Eastman, U. S. A. Published by Lippincott, Grambo, and Co., Philadelphia. 4°. EM. 1672

From Schoolcraft's Indian Tribes, part 2 (Phila., 1852) p. 22.

View: Plymouth, Mass. "The first landing of the Pilgrims, 1620." Line engraving by T. Phillibrown after the original by Charles Lucey. [New York? 1850?] 8°. EM. 1673

Document: Great Britain.—King. Whitehall, Aug. 30, 1654. Order on the Commissioners for ordering and managing the affairs of the army and navy, for the victualling of the vessel commanded by General [Sir William] Penn. D. S., Oliver P[rotector]. 1 page. F°. EM. 1674

Letter: Scotland.—King. Holyrood, Nov. 11, 1600. "To or trustie & well beloued Patrik M[aste]r of Gray." Informing him that in consequence of the many notices of his meddling in affairs above his reach, it is the king's pleasure that he withdraw to Orleans or to any other part of France distant from the sea-shore, and there remain until his behavior shall convince the king of his more willing affection to the king's service. L. S., James [VI.] R. Endorsed. 1 page. F°. EM. 1675

Portrait: Pym (John). "John Pym Esqr. [J. Houbraken sculps. Amst. Impensis J & P. Knapton, Londini 1738. In the possession of Thomas Hales Esqr.]" Line engraving. F°. EM. 1676

Part of the inscription has been cut away. From Birch's Heads of illustrious persons. See H. Bromley's Catalogue of engraved English portraits, London, 1793, p. 79.

Map: New England. "A Map of New-England, Being the first that ever was here cut, and done by the best Pattern that could be had, which being in some cases defective, it made the other less exact: yet doth it sufficiently shew the scituation of the Countrey, and conveniently well the distance of Places. The figures that are ioyned with the Names of Places are to distinguish such as have been assaulted by the Indians from others." Fac-simile of the "Wine Hills," or London issue of the map in W. Hubbard's Narrative of the Troubles in New England, 1677. [London, 1872?] 15½ x 11½ in. EM. 1677

For reproductions see John Davis's edition of Morton's New England's Memorial, Boston, 1826; Palfrey's History of New England, vol. 3 (Boston, 1864) p. 155 (reduced); S. G. REPORT FOR JANUARY, 1898.

During the month of January there were received at the Library by purchase 1,283 books and 162 pamphlets, and by gift 1,241 volumes and 2,836 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 5,953 books and 5,322 pamphlets, for which purpose 23,301 cards and 1,194 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	2,361	8,894
Number of volumes.....	5,666	27,701
Daily average of readers.....	94	356

Among the important gifts received this month were 85 volumes and 98 pamphlets and also a package containing over 500 caricatures and affiches issued during the French Commune; also a package of letters from different libraries and institutions to Alexander Vattemare, received from Mr. Bigelow, which complete the collection given by him last year. Other notable gifts were 11 volumes and 63 pamphlets relating to sports, from Mr. F. M. Crossett; 121 volumes and 83 pamphlets from Mr. H. V. Poor, and 21 volumes and 44 pamphlets from Mr. Philip Schuyler. Large collections of public documents were received from 21 States during the month, and 15 English cities forwarded copies of their public documents.

HENRY LAURENS'S LETTER FROM THE TOWER, 1781.

(From the original manuscript in the Emmet Collection, New York Public Library.)

To

The Right Honorable
THE EARL OF HILLSBOROUGH
The Right Honorable
VISCOUNT STORMONT
The Right Honorable
LORD GEORGE GERMAINE

His Majesty's principal Secretaries of State.

The underwritten Representation & Prayer of Henry Laurens close Prisoner in the Tower of London is with all possible Respect & deference submitted.

1st That the Representer was bred up in principles of Loyalty Love & attachment to the Royal House of Brunswick, & through all the Changes which have happened of late Years he hath never lost his affection to Great Britain.

2^d That in the Year 1756 or 1757. he was elected one of the Representatives in the General Assembly of South Carolina for Charles Town & regularly reappointed to the same Duty from time to time till the unpropitious Epoch 1775.

3^d That in his Public Character he never did nor consented to any Act derogatory to the Honor of the Crown or repugnant to the Constitution of Great Britain—that always to the utmost of his, very limited, abilities, he supported the prerogatives of the King & the true Interests of the people not deter'd by the stigma of "King's Man & Governors Man" sarcastically affixed to his character by some of his fellow Citizens—for general proof of these facts, he dares appeal to several Noble Lords & Honorable Gentlemen who have been Governors of So. Carolina & three neighboring provinces.

4th That his conduct & actions in private life were strictly conformable to his professions in public.

5th That he was a Merchant upward of Twenty Years in very extensive Commerce, that he never did in any one Instance wilfully violate or infringe upon the Act of Navigation, which he ever held as a sacred Pact between Great Britain & the Colonies; on the contrary, he ever discountenanced & as much as in him lay discouraged, every attempt to illicit Trade to the prejudice of the Revenue & the Legal Rights of Great Britain, although temptations to enter into such Trade have been held out to him with prospects of great gain by persons in this Kingdom, & once by a Collector of His Majesty's Customs with the highest probability of safety from detection. of all which, he can give proof.

6th That in the Year 1764. when it was intended to Tax America by Stamp Duties, altho' the Act appeared to him to be unjust & he was convinced it was at least impolitic, he recommended in the House of Assembly of So. Carolina, the Constitutional mode of Petitioning & Treating for redress, in preference to the novelty of a general Congress & that he refused to Vote for Delegates to the Congress which met at N. York 1765.

7th That in 1765. he was summon^d as a Member of Assembly to attend a public meeting of the People, where he found the deliberations to be, upon means for seizing the Stamped Paper just arrived in Charles Town & for awing the Officers appointed to distribute it. That he express^d peremptory dissents to every proposition leading to Violence & again strongly urg^d Petitions & expostulation, pledging his whole Fortune that Petitions would be received & favorably discuss^d; That in resentment of his declarations on that occasion, he was publicly charg^d as an Abettor of the Stamp Act, his House beset at Midnight by a large Body of Arm^d Men, who under pretence of searching for Stamp^d Paper violently seiz^d his person, threatned his Life, & greatly affrighted & annoyed his family; but being un-intimidated himself he would concede to none of their very many propositions & demands, but he reiterated his recommendation to Petition &c^t again pledging his Life his reputation & Estate upon the Wisdom & Iustice of the King & the Parliament of Great Britain.

8th That in the Year 1767 or 1768. when the Colonists entered into general Resolutions for counteracting the internal Tax or Duty on Paper Paint Glass & Tea, although the Representer had invariably deported himself as, in his judgement, became a good Subject & Citizen, although he enjoy^d the universal esteem of the people as an honest Man & was classed among the most wealthy, he was not held to be a fit person in any Committee for enforcing those Resolutions. "He was a King's Man & had a predilection to Great Britain."

9th That in the Year 1774 being in London, the Representer join^d with other American Subjects in Petitions which were presented to the King & both Houses of Parliament on American greivances.

And that being invited thereto when he deliver^d one of those Petitions, he had the honor of intimating his sentiments to the Right Honorable the Earl of Dartmouth, to this effect,

"that if the Bills respecting America then pending in Parliament should pass into Acts the people of the several Colonies from Georgia to New Hampshire would be animated to form such an Union & Phalanx of resistance as he had theretofore believ^d nothing less than a divine Miracle could establish."

10th That in October 1774 he left London embarked for So. Carolina & arrived at Charles Town early in December.

11th That upon his arrival, he was asked if he had not Petitioned The King Lords & Commons & what Answers he had recieved? and a Memento was sounded in his Ears of the Guarantee which he had so often taken upon him, & of his Pledges.

12th That he nevertheless anxiously wished & most ardently strove to confine the growing dispute between this Kingdom & the Colonies within bounds admissible of an happy reconciliation—that for himself as an Individual, notwithstanding the seeming injustice of Taxing America he would have submitted to the imposition in preference to a breach with the Mother Country from an assurance in his own mind, that the certain impolicy & unprofitableness of the project, would after a few Years experience, induce His Majesty's Ministers to abandon it.

13th That before the commencement of hostilities he persisted in discountenancing all acts of compulsion & violence towards Men who acted honestly & consistently, however much they might differ from the American Resolutionists in political tenets. & that to every such person coming within his sphere, he extended consideration, humanity, kindness.

In one instance of his impartiality towards persons deem'd, "suspected & disaffected" he incur'd such displeasure & resentment as oblig'd him to take the Field & stand up to be shot at by a Youth who was Born, after he had been a Father of Children. very many Men there are, some now in London, who will bear testimony to these facts.

14th That when a motion was urg'd in an Assembly of the People of So. Carolina for prohibiting the Payment of debts due in Great Britain, the Representer oppos'd the measure to the utmost of his power, & finally declared, he would not hold himself bound by a Resolution which his Conscience inform'd him was unjust & iniquitous. this fact is well known by a Gentleman who was present at the time alluded to & now in London.

15th That after his arrival at Charles Town as abovementioned, he writ & continued writing to his friends in England, lamenting the prospect which the times presented & pressing for their exertions in order to avert the Evils which he predicted as consecutive to the subsisting animosity. and so late as 27th February 1776, in a Letter to Will: Manning Esquire. he expressed his feelings in the following terms.—

"J weep for Great Britain, J love & reverence her, but alas! J perceive J am to be seperated from her & that my Children are to be called by some new name." "The cry here is, "let us resist against violence, we cannot be worse off than we are, one Year more will enable us to be Independent. Ah! that word cuts me deep, J assure you J feign not, when I say the bare expression has caus'd tears to trickle down my Cheeks; We wish not for Independence, but Britain will force a seperation & Independence will soon follow." "My Son will shew you a Pamphlet lately published in Philadelphia & republished here, (Common Sense on American Idpendence) the Doctrines contain'd in it are not relish'd with us yet. and never will be, if Great Britain will act Wisely hereafter."

He also writ to the same effect in a Letter to Richard Oswald Esq: which Letter M: Oswald laid before Lord Dartmouth.

The Representer was unappriz'd of the line of seperation, which was at the time of his writing drawn or drawing by an Act of Parliament.

16th That in June 1775. When an Association was forming by the people of South Carolina for defence, & Articles for that purpose reduced into writing to which the Representer was order'd to sign first, he absolutely in the face of the People, refused to set his Name without certain previo's reservations, which he then explained.

1st Saving his Allegiance to the King.*

2^d Charity towards his freinds & others who might refuse to sign the paper.†

* From a cursory reading of the Articles he apprehended they look'd a little beyond mere defence.

† One Article declar'd, that every Man who should refuse to sign should be deem'd an Enemy to his Country & treated accordingly against which he strenuously excepted & never would conform to.

And here he cannot forbear remarking that the then Lieut^t Governor, who as he is informed is present Lieut^t Governor of So. Carolina, to whom the Articles had been tend^d for his signature, intimated his approbation of the measure & regretted that he could not resign his Commission into proper hands & thereby qualify himself for signing the Association.

The Representer does not introduce this as an invidi^os charge against Mr. Bull, his meaning is to display to Your Lordships the very high encouragement given to the People (some of whom were doubting) to beleive themselves right & to enter heartily into a defensive Band.

17th That after the actual commencement of hostilities & open War declared by Actions on both sides, the Representer persever^d in his attentions to honest & consistent Non-conformists, not only to Individuals but to whole bodies of Quietists. He also embraced every opportunity of alleviating the distresses of British Prisoners of War, for many of whom he obtain^d Parole enlargement to work their Exchanges, to others he lent or gave Money or other necessaries according to their respective needs, & here he might produce a Cloud of Witnesses & among others appeal to Civil Officers & Officers of the British Army & Navy, but he forbears troubling Your Lordships with any more than the voluntary Declarations of Capt. Lach: McIntosh & Capt. Peter Bachop, Copies of which will accompany this.

18th That since the Representer's confinement in the Tower he has learn^d that many false & injuri^os Reports respecting his conduct in America have been circulated & particularly that Your Lordships have been induced to believe, he was a Promoter of a certain Vote of Assembly in So. Carolina for remitting £1500. St^g in the Year 1769. to the Society for supporting the Bill of Rights in London.

When that Vote passed, he was 160. Miles distant from Charles Town & had received no premonition of the intended Act, his first information of it was gathered from a News Paper which he read in the Country and immediately in presence of divers persons passed his Censure in very plain language. "these Chaps will get a rap o' the knuckles for this."

It is true he regretted the mode of resentment afterward adopted by His Majesty's Ministers which manifestly threw an advantage into the hands of those persons who originally were transgressors & who might have been easily & effectually checked upon the spot by constitutional applications without giving any trouble to Ministry; the L^t Governor might even have the Vote or payment of the money out of the Treasury.

In vindication of himself under this Charge he may appeal to The Right Hon^{ble} General Conway & to Charles Garth Esquire sometime Agent for So. Carolina.

In a word, the Representer never acted the Demagogue or Incendiary of the People, never suggested or promoted any measure which could possibly be affrontive to His Majesty or tend to disturb the order of good Government & he cannot forbear contrasting the present circumstances of persons who did act in such Characters & persecuted him as described above. who are now treated as Prisoners of War & also in possession of their Estates—with his own.

* * An Answer in such terms was delivered as from the Lieut^t Governor to the people, by his Nephew Stephen Bull Esq^r repeated by his Nephew W. H. Drayton Esq^r & again by both, possibly the Lieut^t Governor might have designed only to amuse the People, be that as it may, the intimation had its effect, it was grateful & highly encouraging to them. all this he can also prove.

19th That he was taken Captive on the American Coast & first landed upon American Ground where he saw before his Eyes, Exchanges of American Prisoners in Negotiation, & enlargements, one at least, granted upon Parol.

20th That he has been upwards of Eight Months & an half a Prisoner in the Tower, great part of that time in very close & painful confinement, almost totally deprived of the company of his nearest friends & relations & particularly of his Son, a Boy in his Eighteenth Year.

21st That he hath, during his Imprisonment lived entirely at his own expence & now begins to need a supply of Money for the further support of himself & his Son.

Grounded upon the Premises the Representer humbly presumes to Pray.

That Your Lordships will be pleas'd inso far to mitigate the Rigor of his Imprisonment as,

First, to grant him the use of Pen & Ink (which he is inform'd cannot be allow'd with special permission from Your Lordships) for writing a draught or draughts on a Merchant in London, (John Nutt Esquire) who is indebted to him. And secondly, to permit his Son to visit him once twice or thrice as the Interesting occasion may require for the sole purpose of consulting upon a Plan for the Young Man's future conduct in Life.

together with such further indulgence to the Representer & Petitioner as to Your Lordships Wisdom & Goodness shall seem fitting.

In conclusion; as the Representer & Petitioner enjoys not the benefit of the advice of Counsel, the assistance of an Attorney or even of the opinion of a judicious friend & as he is unpracticed in the Executive of forms of this kind, he implores Your Lordships indulgent construction & interpretation upon any & every part of the preceeding lines which to Your Lordships may appear censurable or exceptionable & that Your Lordships will condescend to listen to him while he assures Your Lordships that he regrets exceedingly the necessity which he finds himself under to take up one Moment of Your Lordships attention.

HENRY LAURENS.
TOWER OF LONDON
23^d June 1781.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON TO JOHN LAURENS, SEPTEMBER 12, 1780.

(From the original manuscript in the Emmet Collection, New York Public Library.)

We ought both my Dear Laurens to beg pardon of our friendship for mutual neglect in our correspondence, though I believe you are a good deal in arrears to me, and I am sure one of my letters must have miscarried—I informed you that the application, in favour of Portail, and yourself, had been referred to a general exchange as I expected—

When this general exchange will take place is precarious; but it may happen in two or three months—The enemy have offered to exchange all the officers and men on Long Island and in New York for an equivalent in our hands—They have about four hundred private men. The offer has been hitherto evaded in hope of offensive operations—four hundred men you know in garrison would have been equal to twice their number out of it—and might have made a critical difference in the event—But unhappily for us our prospects of offensive operations vanish, and that of a general exchange becomes probable in proportion—Two months will explain the business; and I counsel you to defer your plan; you will then have time enough to execute it against Next Campaign or to ruin yourself in a rash attempt. If we are able to act offensively, we shall do it on good grounds, and you may look with certainty for relief—if we are not able to do this, I believe the enemy's offer will be accepted; and I think there will be no difficulty in including you.

I am angry with you for having "taken the liberty" to introduce Vanderhorst and Mr. Call—If you had simply introduced them (without taking such a liberty with me) I should have been obliged to you—They will tell you however, that we have done all we could to make their stay in Camp agreeable.

I have conveyed your reproof to the lads—They have considered me as the secretary of the family and fancied a partnership which did not exist—Writing or not writing to you, you know they love you, and sympathise in all that concerns you. Indeed my Laurens, I often realize your situation.

But play the Philosopher if you can—and improve your captivity in improving your mind—Tell me not of the difficulty—I expect you will surmount difficulties which would bear down other men with your sensibility and without your fortitude—I was told you were going to explore the caverns of the blue mountains in quest of knowledge—enterprises of this kind are worthy of you, not fruitless repinings at your fate—

I gave you in a former letter my ideas of the situation of your country and the proper remedies to her disorders—You told me, my remedies were good—but you were afraid would not go down at this time. I tell you necessity must force them down; and that if they are not speedily taken the patient will die—She is in a galloping consumption—and her case will soon become desperate—Indeed, my

Dear friend, to drop allegory, you can hardly conceive in how dreadful a situation we are—The army, in the course of the present month, has received only four or five days rations of meat—and we really know not of any adequate relief in future. This distress at such a stage of the campaign sours the soldiery—'Tis in vain you make apologies to them—The officers are out of humour, and the worst of evils seems to be coming upon us—a loss of our virtue—'Tis in vain you attempt to appease; you are almost detested as an accomplice with the administration—I am losing character my friend, because I am not over complaisant to the spirit of clamour—so that I am in a fair way to be out with every body—With one set, I am considered as a friend to military pretensions however exorbitant, with another as a man, who secured by my situation from sharing the distress of the army, am inclined to treat it lightly—The truth is I am an unlucky honest man, that speak my sentiments to all and with emphasis. I say this to you because you know it and will not charge me with vanity—I hate Congress—I hate the army—I hate the world—I hate myself. The whole is a mass of fools and knaves: I could almost except you and Meade. Adieu

A HAMILTON

My ravings are for your own bosom——
The General and family send you their love

A view of the exterior of the proposed new Library building is given herewith. In the study of the exterior of the Library the main object has been to express in façade the interior arrangement of the building. The three main arches, or entrances, running through two stories, show in façade the main entrance hall, or staircase hall. The large pediments, showing above the roofs, are designed to distinctly express the fact that in this portion of the building are the main reading rooms. The attic story over the main cornice, without windows, but lighted by sky-lights on the roof, contains the Stuart collection, picture galleries and other exhibits. The series of arches (very large in scale) either side of the entrances on the first story express two large rooms in this portion of the building; one for the children's reading room, and the other for the periodical room.

The façade of the building is set back about ninety feet from the street building line, and all of the terraces in front are to be studied with two monumental groups of figures, or fountains at either end.

It has been the desire of all those connected with the Library to have a simple and dignified design, not depending on an over amount of ornamentation, Renaissance in style, based upon classic principles, and modern in character.

The leaves at front and end are partly restored in a modern hand. Below is a translation, by Rev. W. Scott Watson, the former owner of the volume, of a cryptogram which begins with Deuteronomy and runs through a dozen pages:

"I, Abraham, the son of Israel, the son of Ephraim, the son of Joseph, the Prince, King of Israel, wrote the copy of this holy Torah for myself in the name of my children in the year six hundred and twenty-nine of the Kingdom of Ishmael, which is the year three thousand and two hundred of the dwelling of the children of Israel in the land of Canaan, and the year five thousand and nine hundred and ninety-three of the formation of the world. And it is the completion of seventy-four Torahs [which] I wrote, and the days of the years of my life in the tread of it are sixty years. I praise Yhvh. And I ask him to prolong their lives until children and children's children study in it. Amen. Amen. Amen."

Lincoln (Abraham). Legal "Plea and Notice," in the handwriting of Mr. Lincoln, filed April 9, 1852. With letters of Mr. Jesse W. Weik and Mr. Horace White, concerning the document.

Gift of Mr. Horace White. Mr. Weik's letter is as follows:

"GREENCASTLE, IND.,
Sep. 21, 1895.

MY DEAR MR. WHITE:

"The enclosed 'Plea and Notice' in the handwriting of Mr. Lincoln you can retain as a souvenir of that great man's days as a circuit-court lawyer in Illinois. It was filed by him in Tazewell county but for some reason was afterwards withdrawn. I found it in a bundle of his old court papers. The 'twenty gallons of Peach liquor' mentioned in the 'Notice' indicates the character and value of the property contended for by him and his adversary. How the suit terminated I have never learned. The paper, according to the endorsement written by Mr. Lincoln on the back, was filed April 9, 1852.

JESSE W. WEIK."

Lincoln (Benjamin). Warrant book of Major General Benjamin Lincoln, Dec. 18, 1778 to June 5, 1779. 80 pp. 4°.

Washington (George). Letter-press copies of General Washington's letters, written between 1792 and 1799, and relating largely to his private affairs. 237 letters, mounted on guards. 4°.

These copies were taken on thin paper, folded, and filed like other letters. The majority are endorsed in Washington's hand, except those of the latter part of 1799, which were filed by his secretary. Some of the impressions are very faint, and others are illegible, while a few have been touched up in pencil by Washington himself.

The copying machine for letters was invented by James Watt in 1778, and patented in May, 1780. The above copies are among the earliest instances of its use in America.

Wilkinson (James). Mexico, Apr. 17, 1823. Letter to Col. [Thomas?] Aspinwall, London, telling of the Mexican revolution of 1822. A. L. S. Endorsed. 8 pp. F°.

Winslow (Edward). Journal of an intended voyage on board the ship Earl of Halifax, John Phillips, Commander, from Boston to London, Dec. 16, 1754-Sept. 30, 1755. 97 pp. 4°.

The manuscript is unsigned, but it is probably the account of the voyage of Edward Winslow, who sailed from Boston in 1754, and was ordained by the Bishop of London, missionary to Stratford, Conn. It is accompanied by a modern transcript.

CARLISLE (PENNSYLVANIA)

June 2^d, 1797.

DEAR SIR,

I wrote you lately in answer to yours of 22^d July and 31st October, 1796, which I received at the same time, but having lately received yours of 23^d Nov! I sit down to answer it likewise, lest my former Letter should miscarry, as French Privateers abound on our Coasts. I sincerely sympathize with you in your Misfortune & wonder at the Neglect of your former friends, if one needs to wonder at any thing in human Nature. I am obliged to you for your kind Enquiries after my family, tho' I can not say that they are all well at present, as my Eldest Son is ill of a fever, & my youngest is afflicted with the Chin-cough, not having had it when he was a Child. The Season has been far from healthful, & the Weather alternately cold & rainy these three Months past. Mr. Lake might have done very well in the Line of his Profession here, but by taking to drinking, & spending his Money on a farm, I believe his Affairs are in a bad Situation, tho' he has received three several Legacies from his Wife's Relations since he came into this Country. Ralph Bowie is diligent & successful in his Business, but his principal Cross is his Wife, who either thro' Peevishness or Indisposition has kept her Room almost ever since she came to this Country, & will be pleased with nothing. I have not seen Mr. Joshua Wallace this twelvemonth, & I never saw his Brother William. The Plan that you mention for the Support of Ministers would be acceptable to a People who wished to have Ministers, but most of our People are not of that Class. Many Presbyterian Congregations have dismissed their Ministers within these two Years past, & more are threatening to imitate their Example. I am informed that there is a Congregation in the Island of Edistow, South Carolina, which has a fund that yields two hundred Pounds Sterling a Year for the Support of a Minister, yet they have had no Minister for these forty two Years past, & there is another Congregation in this State, that has been still longer vacant. The thinness of the Population in most Parts of this Country, & the variety of Sects into which the few remaining Professors of Christianity are divided, render it impossible for many of them to have a Minister, & you know that our Government disdains to notice or provide for the Support of any form of Religion whatever. You know nothing of the Pride of Republicans, if you think that they would submit to a Jus devolutum in any case. I am glad to hear of the Zeal that has been shown by the Missionary Societies, & I hope that they will proceed the better, on Account of the Reprobation of them by the General Assembly last Year. Dr. Erskine sent me the Speeches on that Occasion, & I confess I have never seen anything weaker than the Reasonings of the Majority. But altho' they meant Ill to the Missionary Societies, I hope that their Condemnation will be of far greater Service to them, than their Approbation could have been. The Spirit of Contradiction is a very strong Principle of human Nature, & the Pleasure of thinking that our Superiors are in the wrong, a Pleasure which they afford us very often, will stimulate them to many things that they would have neglected, had they been patronised by the Public. Those who belong to a despised & persecuted Sect always stick the closer to one another, and the contempt of their Enemies serves as a Cement to their Union & a Spur to their Activity. If Great Britain is preserved from the fury of the French, & the Treachery of their own People who are worse than the French, great things may be expected from these Missions, but as a high Degree of Zeal & Self-denial is requisite, especially in those who dedicate themselves to the Service, the Danger of becoming cool is very great. It is certain that Great Britain has suffered much by the present War, but it ought cheerfully to suffer twice as much more, rather than to submit to the Tyranny of the French Atheists. Yet I hear that there are many among you who are eager to see their Country become a Province of the French Republic. If all this faction could be got together & exported to Botany Bay, it would be an immense Benefit to Great Britain, & ought to be highly agreeable to themselves, as they would have an Opportunity of planning Revolutions on a large Scale, in that large Country. You are mistaken in supposing that the French are Enemies of Popery, they are only Enemies to Christianity, & greedy of Property. Popery has its foundation, not in the Magnificence & Riches of Churches & Convents, but in the Opinions & Persuasions of Roman Catholics. To plunder the Property of Papists has no more Tendency to pull down Antichrist than to plunder Protestants, so that the French have certainly done as much to pull down Antichrist by plundering the Protestants in Holland, as by robbing the Papists in Italy & their own Country. The Indignation that their Proceedings have excited in the Minds of all Mankind, except those who are Robbers & Murderers like themselves, has rendered every honest Man in the World their Enemy, & they are so impartial in their Robberies, that they do not even spare their Friends. The present State of Holland & America, in which they have been favoured, flattered, and encouraged to the utmost, ought to be a Warning to Great Britain, & an Example of what they may expect to suffer if they should ever be mad enough to make Peace with the French on the Condition of absolute Subjection, & none have yet made Peace with them on any other Conditions. Many People in this Country, who have often got drunk with celebrating the Successes of the French, & who fitted out Privateers in their Service, in defiance of the Laws of their own Country, are now reduced to Bankruptcy & Beggary, being deprived of their whole Property by those very French, whose Cause they supported, & whose Victories they celebrated, & sometimes by these very Privateers that were fitted out at their own Expence & manned by their own Countrymen at their Instigation. And I confess that if it was only this Set of People that were ruined, I should not be sorry for it in the least, as nothing can be more equitable, than that those who rejoice at the Victories of the French, should pay for them, & that those who wish to bring all the World under the Tyranny of France, should become Subject to it themselves in the first Instance. But what I regret is that many honest Merchants who loved their Country, & conducted their Trade according to the Treaties established betwixt it & other Powers, have lost their all by a Nest of infernal Pirates & Robbers of all Nations. What renders our Condition the more lamentable, is that while the French, assisted by many of our own Citizens, are capturing our Ships by Scores in Europe & the West Indies, we have no Means of defending ourselves, or escaping the Violence of our great & good Allies, except by the Protection & Friendship of Great Britain, which we do not deserve, & have no Reason to expect, as our Citizens for the most Part have been as distinguished for their Enmity to Great Britain, as for their blind Attachment to the French Anarchy. If Great Britain gives us any Assistance, it will not be in great Haste, as they will let us first feel the entire Weight & Benefit of an Alliance with the French, that we may be convinced of the Advantages arising from their Friendship & Fraternity. The Smallness of the Resources of this Country, with the Division that takes Place among our People, added to our entire Want of Manufactures, & the Intrigues of the numerous Emissaries of the French among us, must render our Case extremely distressing, as altho' we have not gone into the War, the War is come upon us, & we are exposed to suffering by it, without the Power of Defence or hopes of Gain. For if our Vessels are bound to a French Port, they are taken by the English, & if to an English Port, they are taken by the French, & also by the Spaniards, who are now the Slaves of the French Anarchy. Nay it often happens that the French & Spaniards take our Vessels when bound to their own Ports, for they will pretend to be friends to us, & that they only plunder our Property in order to weaken England, & to oblige us to break our Treaty with that Nation. Such is our melancholy State at present, but when, & whether it will have an End, God only knows. If the Misfortunes of our People were rendering them humble & penitent, or recalling their Attention to Religion, which they have so much neglected, it would be some Consolation. But alas! Religion is seldom or never thought of among us, & while some blame the French, & many more the English, as the Causes of our Distresses, none of them thinks of their own Sins as having the least Hand in producing them. I am afraid that our Friend Dr. Davidson has become proud by the great Accession to his Fortune, as he never writes me. It is perhaps unreasonable for me to complain of being forgotten by my former Friends in Scotland, as it was naturally to have been expected, now that I have been so long out of it. I ought not to have imagined that all of them would be like Dr. Erskine, who has never forgotten me, but we are apt to form too great Expectations when we ourselves are concerned. I had heard long ago of the proposed Annexation of the Parishes in Tweeddale, which you mention, but I am an Enemy to all Designs of that kind, as they have a direct Tendency to the Neglect of Religion, & to the Increase of Separation from the Established Church. I hope that the good People of Edinburgh will endeavour to profit as much as possible by their Seats in the Churches, now that they pay a higher Rent for them, that they may get something in Return for their Money. I suppose however that a Seat in a Church is not yet so high rented as a Seat in the Playhouse, & you do not say that the Hearers in the Play-house are complaining of the Extravagancy of their Seat Rents. At the same I confess that it appears to me to be an Absurdity, & a Satyre on Establishments, that People should pay for their Seats in an established Church, in the same Manner as if they were Dissenters, & that the Magistrates should not only have the Power of chusing your Ministers for you, but also the Right of imposing a Tax on you for the Liberty of hearing them. At the same time I am not a friend to popular Elections & no Man who has seen America can be a friend to them. I rejoice to hear that you are getting more good Ministers, any how, as I am convinced that you have need of them, & that if you attend to their Instructions, you will reap more Benefit from them than from twice as many bad ones. You are mistaken if you suppose that you would weary me with your Letters. On the contrary they were the more acceptable, as so many of my former Correspondents seem to have given me up altogether, & I cannot boast of many friends here, not being a Man of that Sort that the People delight to honour. I have never indeed flattered the great nor the small Vulgar, & consequently have had little of the good Will of either, but on the whole I was much better off among you than I can be here, because altho' I was not popular myself, my Friends were popular, & I was of the popular Party, which led me to imagine that I shared in the Popularity of my friends, & was certainly better treated on their Account. Whereas here I have no Man like-minded, & consequently am neither in the Majority nor in the Minority. An Individual in a Republic is no more than a Drop in the Ocean, tho' many of your People at present seem to think quite otherwise, & to imagine that a Republican Government gives Weight & Consequence to every individual Citizen. I can only say that if they were here, they would have an Opportunity of knowing better, & of being convinced that in a Republic the Demagogues & Rabble-drivers are the only Citizens that are represented, or who have any Share in the Government.—How happy are real Christians, who are under a Government that is infallible, benign & omnipotent, as well as absolute & unchangeable! & who while they are counted the Off-scourings of all things by the Great of this World, are by the Merits of their Saviour made Kings and Priests to God & his father. May you & I, & all in whom we have Interest be Subjects of this glorious & eternal Kingdom. I remain, with sincere Esteem,

Dear Sir,

Yours affectionately,

CHA^s NISBET.

[No. 19. TO TOBIAS LEAR.]

PHILADELPHIA, Dec^r 12th 1794

MY DEAR SIR,

Your letter of the 5th inst^t, and the Receipt for the second payment of the lots I purchased on the Eastern March in the Federal City came duly to hand.—

You are perfectly at liberty to examine my Presses and Trunks at Mount Vernon for any papers I may have respecting the transactions of the Directors of the Potomack Comp^a, or any matters & things which may concern the navigation of that River.

M^{rs}. Fanny Washington has the master key of all the others, from whom you can get it;—but whether the papers you are in pursuit of are to be found in the press, or in any trunk I am unable to inform you.—The keys of the locked trunks are, if I remember rightly, in my writing table; the key of which remains in it.

For many very important reasons (unnecessary to enumerate to you) the navigation of that River ought to be pushed forward with all the celerity which the nature of the work will admit.—viewing the matter as I do, I shall not neglect any fair opportunity of facilitating a visit from M^r Weston to that quarter—but (under the rose, I must say it) however fair the assurances of his going thither may be, you may take it for granted, that from motives of jealousy there is a counter side to that measure;—and I wish you may not find something similar to it in an other quarter, if the operations on the Shenandoah are postponed much longer.—Do not forget how the trade of Fredericksburg, Falmouth, Hanover too with York River, and indeed Richmond itself will be affected by the opening of this Navigation—I should not be at all surprized therefore, if future applications to the Assembly of Virg^a (if there be occasion to make any) respecting it sh^d meet with much coldness & difficulty.—

I should not, any more than you be disposed to confide in the opinion of M^r Claiborne's Engineer; nor (in confidence to you) to M^r. Claiborne him self;—but as he speaks in exalted terms of this man (for you must know Claiborne is now in this City, and has mentioned the matter also to me) a little money might not be misapplied in obtaining the opinion of this Engineer; to see how far it would accord with M^r Weston's—if he can be got there; without, if he sh^d follow after—letting him know what his opinion is—'Tis possible, this person may unite (as Claiborne says he does) both science and practice.—If so, & he should possess other requisites, he might be useful—Tryal of, without a reliance upon him, cannot be injurious.

M^r. Jonathan Trumbull has once or twice asked me what reply the Com^{rs}. of the Federal City have made to the letter of his brother John which I sent to them, be so good as to remind them, or either of them w^{ch}. you may first see, of this matter

I am Yours affect^{ly}

M^r LEAR.

[Endorsed:] To M^r. Tobias Lear 12th. Dec^r. 1794

[No. 20. To TOBIAS LEAR.]

PHILADELPHIA Dec^r 14th 1794

MY DEAR SIR,

The day following the one on which I wrote to you last, your letter of the 10th. inst^t. was received.—

It is to be regretted exceedingly, that delegated powers are, oftentimes, so little regarded;—and trusts of an important nature, the neglect of w^{ch}. may be attended with serious consequences, should be suffered to sleep in the hands of those who ought to carry them into activity.—such, from your representation, appears to be the case of the petition which ought in behalf of the Potomac Company, to have been laid before the Assembly in Virginia in due Season.—

The notice of the presentment of such petitions (which is required by law) can not, I presume, be dispensed with, and if there be any dereliction to the measures prayed for, the limitation, & expiration of the time for the reception of them, will be urged as a plea for postponement.—

The propriety of my writing to individual members, or even to the Assembly itself on this subject, is, in my mind, a matter that may be questioned;—but supposing the case to be otherwise, I do not know who the members are, and such indeed has been the change of things since I mixed in the politics, or much with the people of that State, (out of the neighbourhood of Alexandria) that an entire new set, unknown to me personally, are in the exercise of the powers of government.—Tomorrow, however, I will communicate this matter to M^r Randolph, & know if he has any acquaintances in the Assembly to whom he could introduce the subject and there by aid your personal exertions. It is to be lamented however, that in plain matters—a little ticklishly circumstanced—such hazards (at least of delay) should be unnecessarily encountered.—We are all well, & join in best wishes for you—and I am

Affectionately Yours

G^o WASHINGTON

M^r LEAR.—

[Endorsed:] To Tob^s. Lear 14 Dec. '94

[No. 21. To TOBIAS LEAR.]

PHILADELPHIA Dec^r 21st 1794.

MY DEAR SIR,

Your letter of the 17th inst^t was received yesterday, and I am glad to find that an act of the Virginia Assembly has been obtained for prolonging the term for the completion of the inland navigation of the Potomac.—The like I hope has been, or will be obtained this Session, in the Assembly of Maryland

A good opportunity presenting itself on Thursday last, I embraced it, to enquire of Mr. Morris, if the Directors of that company might entertain any hope of deriving aid from Mr. Weston's opinion respecting the Lock seats at the Great fall of that river;—his answer was "Mr. Weston, from some peculiar circumstances attending their own concerns, had been prevented from visiting that spot as was intended, but that he was now expected to be in this City in a few days (as I understood) when he wd propose & urge his going thither."

The plan of Mr. Claiborn's Engineer, as far as I understand it, is to avoid locks altogether.—The vessels are received into a basket or cradle, and let down by means of a laver & pullies; and raised again by weights at the hinder extremity of the laver, which works on an axis at the top of a substantial post fixed about the centre of the laver.—On this principle, but differently constructed, Mr. Greenleaf a few months ago showed me a model, the efficacy of which he seemed to entertain the most exalted opinion.—My doubts of the utility of both arise, first from the insufficiency of any machinery of this sort to bear the weight of the cradle when charged with water & a loaded boat there in; and its aptness to get out of order by means thereof—secondly I do not find that they are in general use—and thirdly because, if I recollect rightly Mr. Weston has told me (but of this I am not certain) that no method of raising & lowering boats, had been found equal to that of Locks—Still, as I observed in my last I should be for hearing the opinions, & explanations of any, and every Scientific, & practical character that could be easily got at, on this subject;—& therefore, would hear Claiborn's Engineer, as well as Mr. Weston;—especially as he professes to be particularly skilled in the application of them in propelling boats (in an easy & cheap manner) against the stream—& in conducting of water to cities, or for any other purpose whatsoever.—

The Bill you allude to has not passed, nor do I know what shape it will take if it does—& therefore can say nothing more on the subject, at this time, than that there will be no precipitancy in engaging either the agent or the means of carrying the law into effect, if the measure which I have recommended should be adopted; with the importance of it I am strongly impressed, consequently, if any thing should be required of the President towards carrying it into execution, I shall feel it in a particular manner my duty to set it a going under the most favorable auspices.

I now have & for some considerable time have had, twenty five Hogsheads Tob^o in the warehouses in Alexandria, [which] at some times I have [forgot?], and at other times have been indisposed to take the prices which were given for Potomac Tobacco on the Virginia side.—Originally this Tobacco was of the best sort—put up dry—& the quality of it reported to be exceedingly good—if the latter is the case still, it will in some respects, & for some purposes, have the advantage of new Tobacco;—but what to do with it I know not.—In Alexandria it might bring me 18/ per [100]—when in George Town (I mean the ware houses at these places) it might bring a guinea.—I have thought, but whether it be practicable to accomplish it with out difficulty, I am unable to decide, that if the Tobacco could be removed from the Warehouses in which it now is, to those in George Town, & be reinspected at the latter, that I might be a considerable gainer by it.—But admitting that this can be done without encountering impediments which might involve inconveniences, or that would excite notice or remarks, neither of which I should incline to subject myself to, it would be previously necessary to know whether the Tobacco would pass at the latter place, for if it should be brought there, & be condemned, I should lose the whole, & sustain an expence besides;—whereas in its present situation it will, I presume, command the price currant in Alexandria.—If the suggestion here mentioned, can be accomplished (without involving the consequences expressed above) the best expedient that occurs to me to effect it, is, under the idea of its being purchased by, or rather offered for sale to a Maryland Merchant, to have it reexamined where it is, in presence of the George Town Inspectors, who should be paid for their attendances & who should declare to the supposed purchaser whether they would pass it, were it brought to the Warehouses in George Town—If in the affirmative—& there is no other impediment to the measure, the whole business might be easily accomplished by the removal—reinspection—and issuing of new notes, either in my name, or in that of the supposed purchaser—the last of which, for several reasons, I think would have the best appearance.—Whether this project can be carried into execution or not, is, to me, uncertain, but to avoid delay, and in order to enable you to do it if it should be thought eligible I send you the notes for this purpose—or to know what the Tobacco would sell for where it is, if it be not eligible to remove it—They may be kept, or returned, according to circumstances.—In the Warehouses at George Town I have—or ought to have by this time, 9000 lbs of Crop Tob^o as you will perceive by the enclosed letter to me, from Col^o Deakins; the same by this also.—

I return Doct^r Currie's letter—with thanks for the perusal of it.—The picture drawn in it of the state of Kings in his own Country, and the details which he gives of those of the belligerent powers, are gloomy for them indeed.—All here are well & all join in best regards for you with

Dear Sir Your Affectionate
G W

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

MASSACHUSETTS—PART I.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume IV., Massachusetts. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°. EM. 2038

The text of the above volume consists of the life of John Hancock, by John Adams, from volume 1, pages 1 to 43 of the original edition of Sanderson; of Robert Treat Paine, by Alden Bradford, from volume 2, pages 203 to 250; of Elbridge Gerry, by H. D. Gilpin, from volume 8, pages 7 to 77; and of Samuel Adams, by H. D. Gilpin, from volume 9, pages 287 to 327. The life of John Adams forms volume 5 of this series.

The material indexed herewith consists of: autograph 1, broadsides 10, clipping 1, documents 18, engravings 3, letters 19, newspapers 2, paper money 1, portraits 67, views 16.

in a decorative frame engraved by Worthington in 1803. Line. F°. EM. 2038
From Irving's Washington, 4^o ed., vol. 1 (N. Y., 1857) p. 468.

View: Bunker Hill, Boston. Inscription: An original sketch of the burning of Charlestown & battle of Bunker Hill. Taken by an English Officer from Beacon Hill Boston. Water-color drawing. [Boston, 1775.] F°. EM. 2039

The inscription is in the handwriting of Dr. Emmet. A reproduction is given in Winsor's Narrative and critical history of America, vol. 6 (Boston, 1888) p. 197, and in Harper's Monthly, vol. 47 (June, 1873) p. 19. The view is one of a series of water color drawings made for Lord Rawdon (later, Marquis of Hastings) during his service in America. Dr. Emmet secured certain of the sketches at the auction sale of the books of the Marquis in November, 1868; he obtained others at later sales. A short account of the sketches is given by Benson J. Lossing in the article in Harper's Monthly above referred to.

Letter: Oliver (Andrew). Boston, Jan. 4, 1768. To Jedediah Elderkin, Windham [Mass.]. Making inquiries with regard to a bond for £53 5s 8d., Elderkin had taken in 1766 from Governor [Jonathan] Trumbull, dated Sept. 18, 1766, in discharge of one from Lasell and Silsbe; this bond Oliver had delivered to his son in Hardwick who forwarded it to Jedediah Huntington, son-in-law of the Governor, and had learned in answer that Jonathan, son of the latter, would come to Boston and treat with him on that matter; he has heard some things that "are not so agreeable," and therefore asks for a speedy answer, and information with regard to a power of attorney, if such a step should be necessary. TWO LETTERS OF JEFFERSON TO JOHN PAGE, 1766-1803.

ANNAPOLIS, May. 25. 1766.

DEAR PAGE

I received your last by T. Nelson whom I luckily met on my road hither. surely never did small hero experience greater misadventures than I did on the first two or three days of my travelling. twice did my horse run away with me and greatly endanger the breaking my neck on the first day. on the second I drove two hours through as copious a rain as ever I have seen, without meeting with a single house to which I could repair for shelter. on the third in going through Pamunkey, being unacquainted with the ford, I passed through water so deep as to run over the cushion as I sat on it, and to add to the danger, at that instant one wheel mounted a rock which I am confident was as high as the axle, and rendered it necessary for me to exercise all my skill in the doctrine of gravity, in order to prevent the center of gravity from being left unsupported the consequence of which would according to Bob. Carter's opinion have been the corruition of myself, chair and all into the water. whether that would have been the case or not, let the learned determine: it was not convenient for me to try the experiment at that time, and I therefore threw my whole weight on the mounted wheel and escaped the danger. I confess that on this occasion I was seised with a violent hydrophobia. I had the pleasure of passing two or three days on my way hither at the two Will. Fitzhugh's and Col^o. Harrison's where were S. Potter, P. Stith, and Ben Harrison, since which time I have seen no face known to me before, except Cap^t. Mitchell's who is here.— but I will now give you some account of what I have seen in this metropolis. the assembly happens to be sitting at this time. their upper and lower house, as they call them, sit in different houses. I went into the lower, sitting in an old court-house, which, judging from it's form and appearance, was built in the year one. I was surprised on approaching it to hear as great a noise and hubbub as you will usually observe at a publick meeting of the planters in Virginia. the first object which struck me after my entrance was the figure of a little old man dressed but indifferently, with a yellow queue wig on, and mounted in the judge's chair. this the gentleman who walked with me informed me was the speaker, a man of a very fair character, but who by the bye, has very little the air of a speaker. at one end of the justices' bench stood a man whom in another place I should from his dress and phis have taken for Goodall the lawyer in Williamsburgh, reading a bill then before the house with a schoolboy tone and an abrupt pause at every half dozen words. this I found to be the clerk of the assembly. the mob (for such was their appearance) sat covered on the justices' and lawyers' benches, and were divided into little clubs amusing themselves in the common chit chat way. I was surprised to see them address the speaker without rising from their seats, and three, four, and five at a time without being checked. when a motion was made, the speaker instead of putting the question in the usual form, only asked the gentlemen whether they chose that such or such a thing should be done, and was answered by a yes sir, or no sir: and tho' the voices appeared frequently to be divided, they never would go to the trouble of dividing the house, but the clerk entered the resolutions, I supposed, as he thought proper. in short everything seems to be carried without the house in general's knowing what was proposed. the situation of this place is extremely beautiful, and very commodious for trade having a most secure port capable of receiving the largest vessels, those of 400 hh'ds being able to brush against the sides of the dock. the houses are in general better than those in Williamsburgh, but the gardens more indifferent. the two towns seem much of a size. they have no publick buildings worth mentioning except a governor's house, the hull of which after being nearly finished, they have suffered to go to ruin. I would give you an account of the rejoicings here on the repeal of the stamp act, but this you will probably see in print before my letter can reach you. I shall proceed tomorrow to Philadelphia where I shall make the stay necessary for inoculation, thence going on to New-York I shall return by water to Williamsburgh, about the middle of July, till which time you have the prayers of

Your affectionate friend

P. S. I should be glad if you could in some indirect manner, without discovering that it was my desire, let J. Randolph know when I propose to be in the city of Williamsburgh.

MY DEAR SIR

In a former letter from Washington I expressed a wish that the salubrity of our climate here, and the wishes of our antient friends might make it agreeable to mrs Page and yourself to come and pass some time during my stay here which will be to about the 20th. of September. from your answer I conceived hopes it would be so. I nourish them still with fondness, and anticipate the pleasure of sweetening the relaxation from business by antient recollections. I have to take a journey to some possessions about 90. miles from hence, which will occupy about ten days. the time of going is absolutely indifferent. I shall not go therefore till I hear from you, lest I might be absent when you should do us the favor asked; but will time my journey entirely to your convenience. Accept my affectionate salutations and assurances of constant and unalterable friendship & respect, & make my compliments acceptable to mrs Page.

DESCRIPTION OF A SYRIAC MANUSCRIPT.

 Presented to the New York Public Library by John S. Kennedy.

Size: $4\frac{1}{2} \times 3\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Material: paper.

The Manuscript is only a fragment containing 26 leaves. It must originally have contained 40 leaves (4 quinions). The marks of three of the quires are still to be seen. The whole of the first one is gone; the second is complete. In the third, one leaf is missing. In the fourth there remain only seven leaves; one of which has been wrongly placed upside down at the beginning of the little volume when it was rebound. Half of folios 24 and 26 are also missing. It is still in its Oriental binding, which is partly made up of leaves from another manuscript.

The Manuscript contains charms and spells against evil spirits, swords and other weapons of war, against the evil eye when it affects either man or beast, against pest, rabid dogs, fire, headache and migraine, evil dreams, wolves and wild beasts, scorpions, evil tongues, winds and storms, nose-bleeding, etc., etc. There seems to be no order in the arrangement of the spells. There are also a few prayers for household peace, for general peace, for people who go on a journey; the mystical names of the ring of Solomon, and a system of reckoning by means of which the exact sickness in a person can be diagnosed, the day upon which it commenced, and the spell to be used in charming it away. This is done by giving a numerical value to the letters comprising the names of the person and the person's father. It is a sort of vademecum, such as is not uncommonly found among the Nestorians around Lake Urmia and the Kurdish mountains to-day.

The illustrations are: a. Mār Thomas Killing an Evil Spirit called "the daughter of the moon." Fol. 2*b.*—b. Various implements of war (battle-axe, hack, scimitar, sword, etc.). Fol. 3*b.*—c. Various animals which are hunted (goat, dove, fox, bull, hare, etc.). Fol. 5*b.*—d. A number of pistols and matchlocks. Fol. 7*b.*—e. The Angel Gabriel Killing the Evil Eye. Fol. 10*a.*—f. Rabban Hoomizd Killing a Lion. Fol. 12*a.*—g. Mar Daniel Killing a Wolf. Fol. 16*a.*—h. Two snakes. Fol. 16*b.*—i. Two scorpions. Fol. 17*a.*—k. The Ring of King Solomon, with the mysterious names running inside the circumference. Fol. 17*b.*—l. Mar Shalita of Reshaina killing a demon called "the Red Wind" or "Spirit." Fol. 19*b.*—m. Enoch and Elijah on either side of the Paradise tree.—n. At the end of the MS. an ornamental cross, such as is often found in Syriac MSS.; with the four words in the four corners, "Pray—for—the sinner—Elia," i. e., the writer of the MS.

There was originally a long colophon on what is now folio 26 and the following pages. It commences, "This writing was finished by the hands of the weak sinner, the weak and shameless . . .", the MS. breaking off just before the name. That, however, is given further on as "Elia." The same is the case in regard to the date. It commences, "This writing was finished in the blessed month of Adar, on a Thursday, the middle of Lent, in the year. . . ." From the writing it would appear that the MS. was 150 to 200 years old.

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

MASSACHUSETTS. IN TWO PARTS—PART II.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume V., Massachusetts. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°.

The text of the above volume consists of the life of John Adams, by E. Ingersoll, from volume 8, pages 203 to 348 of the original edition of Sanderson.

The authorship is ascribed to Ingersoll in a list published in the New York Times after the appearance of the concluding volume of the series; this list was copied into the Daily Cincinnati Gazette of Aug. 11, 1827, and thence into the Mass. Hist. Soc. Proceedings, vol. 15 (Dec., 1877) p. 303, which latter list was incorporated into the editorial note in the Narrative and critical history of America, vol. 6 (Boston, 1888) p. 263. There seems to be no authority for the statement in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. iv, that it was written by Sam'l Adams.

The material indexed herewith consists of: broadside 1, caricature 1, charts 2, clipping 1, documents 8, engravings 4, letters 20, newspaper 1, paper money 1, portraits 84, views 18.

Letter: D'Arcy (Robert), 4th Earl of Holderness. London, May 9, 1777. [To Francis Osborne, Marquis of Carmarthen, afterwards 5th Duke of Leeds.] He has forfeited all reputation in Holland as a letter writer, but in this case affection overcomes his aversion to the pen; Carmarthen's children are both well, as are Lady Holderness and the Duke of Leeds; the young people of this metropolis remain in their wonted state of intoxication; Almack's and other places go on as usual, but the death of the Duchess of Devonshire causes mourning in the "beau monde"; the Duke of Dorset and Mr. Burrell were injured in a cricket match; [Percivall] Pott was summoned to attend them; idleness at Westminster; "adieu... J'em-brasse Emelie." A. L. S., "H." 2 pp. 4°. EM. 2275

"Emelie" is presumably Amelia, daughter of Holderness and wife of Carmarthen. In 1779 she became the wife of John Byron, father of the poet. She was Baroness Conyers in her own right.

Letter: Adams (John). Quincy, [Mass.,] May 11, 1818. To William P. Gardner, Washington. Answering his letter of the 29th, he says that he has never heard of Benjamin Owens Tyler's edition of the Declaration of Independence; as for the allusion to "some Person who is determined to omit my Name," if Delaplaine is meant, the latter is not to blame, having vainly tried to secure a portrait of Adams; he has seen revolutions in Holland and France as well as in his own country, and pities those who have to act a part in them. A. L. S. On the back is a note, dated Washington, Dec. 18, 1845: "From my knowledge of the handwriting of my father I have no doubt that the within Letter was written by him. No. 6.

REPORT FOR MAY, 1898.

During the month of May there were received at the Library by purchase 3,554 books and 578 pamphlets, and by gift 1,446 books and 5,261 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 4,827 books and 5,397 pamphlets, for which purpose 24,349 cards and 1,425 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	1,791	6,327
Number of volumes.....	4,463	23,129
Daily average of readers.....	72	253

Among the important gifts received this month were 21 volumes and 18 pamphlets from S. P. Avery; J. Abrahams, 1 old volume; Kansas State Library, 63 volumes; United States Superintendent of Documents, 1,000 pamphlets; Robert P. Porter, 294 volumes and 124 pamphlets; Secretary of State of Nevada, 27 volumes; Massachusetts State Library, 45 volumes; Library of Congress, 51 volumes and 1 pamphlet; National Library at Rio de Janeiro, 18 volumes and 23 pamphlets, together with a large number of documents from British Colonies, the chief of which are, from different departments of the Queensland Government, 15 volumes and 30 pamphlets; the Cape of Good Hope, 18 volumes and 61 pamphlets; the South Australia Observatory at Adelaide, 11 volumes; and from St. Lucia, 2 volumes and 87 pamphlets.

The works relating to music have been transferred from the Astor building to the Lenox building, and together with the Drexel Musical Library have been arranged in the north reading room.

RECORDS OF THE CONFEDERATE ATTORNEYS-GENERAL.

(From the original manuscript volume in the New York Public Library.*)

MONTGOMERY 1st April 1861.

SIR,

I understand your letter of 30th ulto to propound for opinion the question whether under the act of congress to exempt from duty certain commodities, lemons, oranges, and walnuts are free.

The clause of the act which must control the decision of this question, exempts from duty certain enumerated articles, including "wheat and flour of wheat and flour of all other grains: Indian corn and meal, barley and barley flour: rye, and rye flour: oats, and oatmeal: living animals of all kinds: also all agricultural products in their natural state."

I confess to some embarrassment in arriving at a conclusion in all respects satisfactory. The language of the statute is so broad as to suggest doubts whether congress could have meant it to be as extensive in its application as its terms import; but it contains no words of limitation or distinction. It was doubtless passed in great haste in the urgent pressure of public business. This is shewn by the fact that it exempts from duty "living animals of all kinds" as though they had been previously chargeable, whereas they are expressly included in the free list of the tariff of 1857, already adopted by the congress.

What is the meaning of the clause "also all agricultural products in their natural state"?

Certain agricultural products had been previously specified, to wit, barley, corn, oats, rye and wheat, all of which were subject to duty prior to the passage of the act. The Legislator was plainly impressed with the conviction, that certain agricultural products had been omitted in the list or specifications. He desired to include them. The necessity for so doing is apparent, as many articles are to be found included in the tariff of 1857 which clearly belong to the same class of products as those specified. For instance, both rice and flax seed are omitted in the list, and it is presumed that no one can doubt these to be "agricultural products in their natural state."

An "agricultural product" is something produced by cultivating the earth. Etymology and the common meaning of the words as used both in the popular and commercial sense justify this definition, and I cannot perceive by what principle of construction this plain interpretation is to be escaped, simply because the result will injuriously affect the revenue to an extent greater than Congress is supposed to have intended.

The earth is cultivated for the production not only of grains, but of vegetables and fruits. Those articles that are produced spontaneously, without the labor of man, independently of his cultivation, are not agricultural products, but are usually denominated in the language of Commerce "products of the forest." They are products of the earth, but not products of the cultivation of the earth. And amongst the articles to which your question refers, I should conclude without hesitation that walnuts are not agricultural products. It is true that a walnut tree may be planted and cultivated, and in such case its fruit would be an agricultural product, but this is the rare exception. The tree is of spontaneous forest growth, and the walnuts of commerce are obtained not by cultivation but by gathering the natural product of the forest.

The question in relation to the "lemons and the oranges" seems to me to stand on a different footing. These fruits are obtained almost solely by cultivation. The farmer divides his industry into different branches in all countries. In ours, he has generally, not only his grain fields, but his vegetable gardens and his orchard, all sown or planted by his hands and cultivated by his labor: some annual, some perennial. Where is the distinction to be drawn, if any, in relation to the products of these different portions of the farm?

I presume that no man would hesitate to say, that cabbages, turnips, potatoes, and pumpkins are "agricultural products," yet the tariff act of 1857 taxes pumpkins by name, and taxes all vegetables not otherwise provided for. I should not hesitate a moment in saying that such articles are exempt under the clause now under consideration.

But the farmer who raises grain and vegetables, also draws from the soil, by cultivation, strawberries, raspberries, apples, pears, &c. How can we say that these are not agricultural products, that is things produced out of the earth by cultivation? I confess an inability to draw a distinction—nor can I draw one between the product of the labor of the western farmer and that of the Sicilian peasant. The lemons and oranges of the one, as well as the apples and pears of the other are the fruits of his labor in the cultivation of the soil, and are in their natural state. Both in my opinion are exempt under the law.

Your question however seems to imply that the doubt which has arisen in your mind results from the fact that the tariff of 1857 specifies fruit as subject to duty, whereas the act of our congress does not specify it in the list of free articles. I think this doubt will disappear if it be considered, that under all known rules of construction, effect must be given to all the clauses of a law when it is possible to do so. Now the law in question exempts "all agricultural products in their natural state" after specifying a certain number of products by name. It is plain that these words would be wholly inoperative if it should be held that the exemption only took effect in favor of articles specially enumerated.

I know that the construction I give to the law reaches much farther than is at first apparent. It would seem for instance to include unmanufactured tobacco. Its effect on the revenue, however, will be very short-lived, in view of the near approach of the session of the congress, and I have no power to make law by raising subtle distinctions based on my conjectures of their intention, when they have failed to express such intention in language.

My plain duty is to construe what they have said, not what I may suppose they would have said, if their attention had been called to this special question.

I conclude that in my opinion the lemons and oranges are not subject to duty under the law, but that the walnuts are.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,

RICHMOND, March 15th, 1865.

TO THE SECRETARY OF WAR,

SIR:

In the case of the money captured from the Exchange Bank, at Weston, Va., I find that the facts are imperfectly given. In the letter of Lieut. Branham, who made the capture, it is stated that the money was "public funds." I am at loss to understand whether he meant, by this expression, that the funds were those of the Bank, as a corporation, distinguishing them from the funds of the depositors; or whether they were the funds of the pseudo Government of West Virginia, or some other hostile public authority. I rather infer from the letter, that they were the funds of the corporation; and as this is stated to be the fact in the letter of the Auditor of Virginia, I shall assume it to be true.

The Exchange Bank is a corporation duly created by the laws of the State of Virginia, and the Bank at Weston is one of the branches, or agencies, of the corporation.

I am of the opinion that the money taken, if it was the property of the Bank, was not liable to capture, as enemy's property.

It is a well settled principle of public law that if a citizen, or a neutral, be domiciled in the enemy's country, or maintain a commercial establishment there, he will be considered a hostile character, and his property will be liable to capture, as enemy's property. 1 Kent. Com. 84. 85, and authorities there cited. And the principle is equally applicable to a corporation.

But the town of Weston is not in the enemy's country. It is a part of the Territory of the State of Virginia. It is true that a portion of her citizens have attempted to separate themselves from her jurisdiction, and have set up a pretended Government over a part of her territory which includes that town. But this act has been repudiated both by Virginia, and by the Confederate States; and the faith of the Confederate States has twice been solemnly pledged to Virginia, "to vindicate the integrity of her ancient boundaries," and "to maintain her jurisdiction and sovereignty to the utmost limits" of those boundaries. See Resolutions of Congress of 27th February, 1862, and 4th June, 1864.

It is also true that this portion of the territory has for a long time been in the occupation of the enemy. But this will not justify the application of the principle above stated. If there are any facts which make a difference between these funds and the property of every loyal citizen, within the enemy's lines, they are not stated in the papers.

GEO. DAVIS,

Atty Genl.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,

RICHMOND, March 24th, '65.

To the SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

SIR: The Act of 17th March, 1865, authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to borrow any sum, or sums, in coin, not to exceed three millions of dollars in the aggregate. Section second. "In the event the Secretary of the Treasury shall not be able at once to obtain coin to the amount of three millions of dollars, under the provisions of the first section of this Act, then, and in that event, a tax shall be levied and collected of twenty-five per cent. upon the amount of all gold and silver coin, gold dust and bullion, and foreign exchange in the Confederate States, payable in kind; which shall be due and collected on the first day of April next, or as soon thereafter as possible."

And in the last section, it is provided, that "the tax imposed by this Act shall be assessed as of the date of the passage of this Act."

The point submitted is, "what constitutes 'foreign exchange' in the Confederate States," as the subject of taxation, under this Act?

It cannot mean foreign bills of exchange actually drawn and negotiated, and held by persons in the Confederate States; because the Act is explicit that the tax shall be paid in kind, and under such an interpretation, that would be impossible. Such a bill is purchased on the sole credit of the drawer and endorsers. It has not been, and may never be accepted; and if accepted, it cannot be divided, so as to pay the twenty five per cent. to the Government. Nor can the holder draw on the drawee for the tax, before or after acceptance; for he has no credit with him. He has simply purchased a part of the drawer's credit, which can only be realized by the presentation of the bill.

From the best consideration I can give to this very obscure Act, I interpret "foreign exchange" to mean funds abroad on which the owner was entitled to draw at sight, or on time, on the 17th day of March, 1865; that being the day on which the tax, by the provisions of the Act, is to be assessed.

PHILAD^a June 25th 1776

It has not been through want of regard to you, I can with great Temerity assure you that you have not heard much oftener from me; but the distance joined with a number of other becauses have prevented—this however serves to inform & assure you I have not forgot you, whilst it also acknowledges the Receipt of your Letter in May together with one to your Friend M^r McClintoc which I sent from Synod by a safe hand—the Storm of War that raged for some time confined to the East has now extended its baleful Influence & the threatening Tempest hangs heavy in threatening Clouds all along our Coasts. Our preparation here consists in thirteen Row Gallies each containing fifty men with Small Arms & swivels, & a large Cannon mounted on each Galley: (the largest a thirty two pounder:) a floating Battery carrying ten eighteen pounders; a Ship of War for River Service of sixteen Guns, nine pounders I think they are. beside these we have Chiveaux de frize sunk across the Channel save a small passage for our Vessels, which is to be stopped in like manner as soon as necessity may require, & opposite the Channel we have also some fire Ships & fire Rafts in readiness if they come up near the Town, all which together with the length of our River & difficulty of the Channel will we hope under God's blessing prevent these sons of murder from coming up to this City. Our militia are very spirited & the body of the Country, a number of the Quakers & Menonists, (or dutch Quakers,) with the proprietary Connections excepted, all earnestly waiting & wishing for Independency which we now hope will be declared before long—a Convention of 108 members regularly chosen from every County is to meet here the fifteenth day of next month to form a new plan of government—In short everything wears the appearance of a total & lasting separation from Britain near at hand & the Idea of Reconciliation on what has been called constitutional principles, so universally once desired by all Ranks, & long eagerly sought after & prayed for is now banished from the breasts of our people; nor anything more disagreeable than the thought of returning into our former Connection; that it is my sincere opinion War with all its horrors, were it even permitted to ravage & desolate our Country wou'd sooner be chosen. as our love to Britain was most sincere & ardent almost to a Crime, so our Resentment slowly kindled by a long continued scene of cruel Treatment, has at length risen & burns proportionably intense. happy had it been for England, & had prevented much Confusion & bloodshed, had they consented to part as friends when we cou'd no longer agree together—a friendship had still subsisted, which is now alas! no more. our very Children execrate the name of English. America will be built, but her foundation must be laid in troublous times—Every Empire yet has risen out of the sea. the affair of our Church rests, & will I expect remain in perpetuum undecided, but occupied by the people whose right it is. BOSTON AND THE PORT BILL OF 1774.

BOSTON May 13th 1774

GENTLEMEN

I am desired by the Freeholders and other Inhabitants of this Town to inclose you an Attested Copy of their Vote passed in Town Meeting legally assembled this day. The occasion of this Meeting is most alarming: We have receivd a Copy of an Act of the British Parliament (which is also inclos'd) wherein it appears that the Inhabitants of this Town have been tryed and condemned and are to be punished by the shutting up of the Harbour, and other Ways, without their having been called to answer for, nay, for ought that appears without their having been even accused of any crime committed by them; for no such crime is alledged in the Act.

The Town of Boston is now suffering the Stroke of Vengeance in the common cause of America. I hope they will sustain the Blow with a becoming fortitude, and that the Effects of this cruel Act, intended to intimidate and Subdue the Spirits of all America will by the joint Efforts of all be frustrated.

The People receive this Edict with Indignation. It is expected by their Enemies, and feard by some of their Friends, that this Town singly will not be able to support the cause under so severe a Tryal, as the very being of every Colony, considered as a free People depends upon the Event, a Thought so dishonorable to our Brethren cannot be entertaind, as that this Town will now be left to struggle alone.

General Gage is just arrivd here, with a Commission to Supercede Gov^r. Hutchinson. It is said that the Town of Salem about twenty miles East of this metropolis is to be the Seat of Government—that the Commissioners of the Customs and their numerous Retinue are to remove to the Town of Marblehead a Town contiguous to Salem and that this if the General shall think proper is to be a Garrison'd Town. Reports are various and contradictory.

I am with very great Regard

Gentlemen

Your most humble serv^t

CALENDAR OF WASHINGTON'S COPY-PRESS LETTERS IN THE NEW YORK PUBLIC LIBRARY.

. With brief mention of those in the Department of State at Washington.

Washington (George). Letter-press copies of letters written between June 30, 1792, and December 10, 1799. 236 letters, mounted on guards. 4°.

The collection, of which a calendar is given herewith, was purchased by the Lenox Library in 1895. The copies are on thin sheets of paper, and were taken by means of a roller-press; they were then folded and filed as other letters. Nos. 1-226 of this collection were endorsed by Washington himself; the endorsement of the remaining letters is in another hand, perhaps that of Tobias Lear, his secretary. Some of the impressions are very faint, others are illegible, and some have been touched up in pencil, perhaps by Washington.

Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, Nov. 23, 1794. To Alexander Spotswood. In his opinion, the interior lands are the best with which to lay the foundations of wealth; lands west of the Ohio can be got only by purchase of army rights, or from a company; they are not safe except near the forts; this is true also of the frontiers of Kentucky; he does not like even to think or talk of negroes as property; if he were not principled against selling them, he would not continue to own one as a slave; they will be found a troublesome kind of property before many years; advises him not to carry many of them there, but to put their value into land. Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, Dec. 12, 1794. To Tobias Lear. Gives permission to search at Mount Vernon for papers relating to the Potomac Company; the navigation of the river ought to be pushed forward, for the project will be frowned upon by future legislatures because of its effect upon the trade of Fredericksburg and other cities; Claiborne's engineer might be tried, to see how far his views would accord with Weston's; asks him to inform either Jonathan or John Trumbull of the reply the Commissioners of the Federal City have made to the letter of the latter. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°.

Printed in Ford's Writings of Washington, vol. 12 (N. Y., 1891) p. 501.

Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, Dec. 21, 1794. To Tobias Lear. Expresses his pleasure at the prolongation by the Virginia Assembly of the term for completion of the inland navigation of the Potomac; hopes the like may be obtained from Maryland; report of his conversation with [Robert] Morris concerning Weston's scheme for locks at the great falls of the river; he prefers locks to the machinery proposed by Claiborne's engineer and to that shown him by [James] Greenleaf; states his reasons; Claiborne's engineer, as well as Weston, should be consulted, especially as the former professes to be skilled in propelling boats by steam; the bill alluded to has not passed, nor does he know what shape it will finally take; suggests a plan for disposing of twenty-five hogsheads of tobacco that he has in warehouse in Alexandria. 1795.

Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, Jan. 12, 1795. To Tobias Lear. Affairs of the Canal Company; Weston will visit the falls of the Potomac; more funds must be raised; Claiborne's two engineers, who probably are not men of eminence, should be heard before Weston's opinion is given; leaves to his judgment the sale of the tobacco in the warehouses at Alexandria and Georgetown. WASH. 24

Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, Mar. 31, 1795. To William Augustine Washington. Encloses a letter from [George] Cabot covering one from Judge [Samuel] Phillips; Cabot's sons were educated at Andover; it rests with William Washington to decide whether he will send his sons there; he himself is going to Mount Vernon for a few days about the end of April. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°.

WASH. 25

Letter : Washington (George). George Town, Apr. 28, 1795. To James Maury. Sends him twenty-five hogsheads of tobacco, per the Alexandria, Captain Bayne, to be sold when prices are most favorable. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°.

WASH. 26

Letter : Washington (George). Philadelphia, May, 1795. To James Maury. When the tobacco

mentioned in his letter of Apr. 28th is disposed of, he desires to have certain articles sent by the first ship for the Potomac. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 27

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 4, 1795. To John Gill. Explains that the reason he demanded other security for the proposed lease of land on Difficult Run, than the land itself and Lewis's own bond was due to a remark of Lewis's that he did not want the land with a view to improve it; removal of the timber would reduce the value of the land, and of the security as well; states the terms upon which he may have the land. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 28

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 17, 1795. To John Gill. Conditions on which he will sell his land on Difficult Run; no timber to be removed until the land is paid for in full. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 29

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 17, 1795. To Charles Lee. States the conditions on which he will sell his land on Difficult Run to John Gill; if the latter approves them, Lee is to draw up the papers. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 30

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 17, 1795. To Gustavus Scott. Thanks him for performing certain transactions in land; he has already made an offer of his land on Difficult Run. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 31

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 17, 1795. To Alexander White. Expresses pleasure at his acceptance of the office of commissioner of the federal city; White should reside there, if a house is to be had; the new commissioners, so far, have not done a satisfactory amount of work; there is a need of their being on the ground and superintending affairs in person. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Marked "Private." Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 32

Printed in Ford's Writings of Washington, vol. 13 (N. Y., 1892) p. 56.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, May 25, 1795. To Farlie Christie. Thanks him for sending plants; when he has leisure for the purpose, he will request a supply of such exotics as will grow in Virginia; will inquire for the plants needed for Christie's garden in Liguanea agreeably to the list of Mr. Wiles. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 33

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, June 27, 1795. To John Cannon. Directs him to deliver to [James] Ross the surveys of all of Washington's lands, to settle all accounts between them, and to deposit with [Charles] Morgan a statement of all that is due from the tenants. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 34

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, June 27, 1795. To Israel Shreve. The terms on which the land in Fayette county was offered to Shreve have not been complied with; nevertheless if he will pay on Aug. 1st, £1000, Pennsylvania currency, with interest thereon from June 1, and interest on the remaining sum from June 1, agreeably to the former proposals, and pay up the rent in arrears, the agreement will stand; otherwise Washington will consider it null and void. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 35

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, June 28, 1795. To Charles Morgan. He has spoken strongly to [John] Cannon as to his delay in furnishing Morgan with the statement of the arrears in rent of the tenants in Fayette and Washington counties; the former has reduced rents under pretence of allowing for improvements; asks Morgan to note what is due from [Israel] Shreve, as the land will not be made over to him until arrearages are paid; intends to sell all his lands in Fayette and Washington counties, owing to the trouble in collecting rents; asks for a statement of what is due from his tenants. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 36

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, July 9, 1795. To James Rennell. Thanks him for his Memoir of a Map of Hindoostan. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 37

For notes upon Washington's copy of Rennell, see the Boston Athenæum's Catalogue of the Washington Collection, (1897) p. 507.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, July 10, 1795. To Clement Crutwell. Acknowledges receipt of a copy of the works of the Bishop of Sodor and Man, sent in accordance with the will of Dr. [Thomas] Wilson, son of the bishop. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 38

Washington's copy of Bishop Wilson's Bible with notes (3 vols. 4°, Bath, 1785) is now in the Congressional Library, Washington, D. C., according to the Boston Athenæum's Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 498. Part of the above letter of acceptance is printed ibid. p. 63.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, July 10, 1795. To [Norman] McLeod. Acknowledges the receipt of books and a letter of Mar. 9th, but he has not seen Mr. Wilson; McLeod overrates any civilities that Washington may have been able to show him during the war. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page 4°. WASH. 39

The books referred to are now in the Boston Athenæum; their titles are State of the representation of England and Wales, London, 1793, 4°, Report of the Representation of Scotland, London, 1793, 4°, and Authentic copy of a Petition praying for a Reform in Parliament, London, 1793, 4°. See the Boston Athenæum's Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) pp. 130 and 131, for notes on the works, and for the correspondence relating thereto.

1796.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 7, 1796. To David Stuart. Incloses an advertisement pursuant to the plan already spoken of in confidence, concerning his negroes; difficulty arising from intermarriage of the dower negroes with his own; if he is enabled to give them up, he will do so; the other part depends in some measure on the succedaneum and an eligible mode for carrying it into effect; he wishes to bring the renting of his lands to the notice of British associations; he has no idea of frittering up the farms for the country farmers, who simply destroy the land; engagement of Betsey Custis and [Thomas] Law; inquires as to the negroes allotted to [Thomas] Peter and Washington Custis. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Marked "Private." Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 40

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, June 5, 1796. To Bartholomew Dandridge. His sudden departure, without notice, has caused unfavorable comment and has been vexatious to Washington himself; Washington Craik is now private secretary; Dandridge may still have the business of disposing of Washington's Ohio lands, if he desires it. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 41

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, June 11, 1796. To James Ross. Concerning the rectification of a mistake in the matter of a payment due him from [Israel] Shreve; Shreve is to be informed of it; inquires as to Charles Morgan's rent, and the rents of the land on Miller's Run. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 42

Partly illegible.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Nov. 14, 1796. To Alexander Smith. It is very inconvenient to extend the time for payment of the money due, and he has ordered Pearce to settle all accounts; his own rule is never to suffer a man to look for a just debt without receiving payment; nevertheless, as he is unwilling to distress any one, he will extend the time if Smith will give surety of payment. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington: "From Mr. Alex^r Smith," etc. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 43

Letter: Washington (George). [Philadelphia,] Dec. 27, 1796. To Charles Lee. He has sketched an answer to the Virginia address [in answer to his Farewell Address], but would like to have Lee's advice in the matter; asks him to make a draught of an answer. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Marked "Private." Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 44

Washington's reply to the Virginia Assembly, dated Dec. 27, 1796, is printed in Sparks's Writings of Washington, vol. 12 (Boston, 1837) p. 236. The press-copy of it is in the Department of State at Washington.

1797.

Letter: Washington (George). [Philadelphia,] Jan. 13, 1797. To John Henry. He wishes to be supplied with a quantity of lumber for Mount Vernon. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 45

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 5, 1797. To James Anderson. Directions to him with regard to work to be carried on at Mount Vernon. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 46

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 6, 1797. To [Matthias] Slough. He intends to return to Mount Vernon immediately on the expiration of his political career, Mar. 3d, be the roads in what condition they may at that time; desires Slough to procure him a pair of steady horses, preferably mares, for his baggage. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 47

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 11, 1797. To Matthias Slough. Sends a copy of a letter, being uncertain of its arrival; desires him to purchase a third horse or mare. Letterpress copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 48

The lower edge of the letter has been trimmed, leaving but little of the signature or address.

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 13, 1797. To Matthias Slough. Sends $600 to cover the purchase of a pair of horses; wishes that a third be purchased. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 49

Letter: Washington (George). Philadelphia, Feb. 27, 1797. To Matthias Slough. Acknowledges the receipt of three horses at the hands of Mr. Root; will return one as not suitable; requests that the purchase money and expenses be taken out of the $600 already sent; thanks the inhabitants of Lancaster for their polite attentions, but he means to return to Mount Vernon by the shortest route. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 50

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 12, 1797. To [John] Fitzgerald. Asks his advice as to the disposal of a lot in Alexandria; Anderson has urged the establishment of a distillery; asks his opinion as to the probable profit. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 51

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 14, 1797. To [Jacob] Van Vleck. Explains why his two nieces cannot attend the school at Bethlehem as previously arranged; Maria Washington is in a consumption; the other, a daughter of Col. [Burgess] Ball, was to have gone only in order to be with her. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 52

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 25, 1797. To John Quincy Adams. Acknowledges letter of Feb. 11th; thanks him for tracing the history of a sword; expresses good wishes towards the President, and hopes that John Quincy Adams will continue in the diplomatic line; returns thanks for his kind expressions on the farewell address; the approbation of good men is the most pleasing reward for any services to his country. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 53

For a previous letter to J. Q. Adams, and the history of the sword mentioned above, see Sparks's Writings of Washington, vol. 11 (Boston, 1836) pp. 169-171; and Ford's Writings of Washington, vol. 13 (N. Y., 1892) p. 269.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 26, 1797. To [William] Booker. Desires him to erect two of his improved threshing machines at Mount Vernon; supposes that the scantling he had already ordered for two of the Scotch machines upon the plan of Mr. Jefferson and others, can be used for the purpose. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 54

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 26, 1797. To Charles Carter. Asks him to engage [William] Booker to come to Mount Vernon and superintend the erection of threshing machines; Hessian flies have been discovered in his wheat. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 55

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 26, 1797. To Richard Peters. Asks if rye or barley is liable to injury from the Hessian fly; the wheat in some places has been all destroyed; fears his crops will suffer next year. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 56

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 2, 1797. To James Ross. Asks him to put [Israel] Shreve's bond in suit, as the amount of the second instalment has not been paid. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 57

Memoranda have also been written by Washington on the sheet, of $2160 received from James Ross, 15 April 1796, and of $1000 received from his son on 12 November 1796.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 3, 1797. To Oliver Wolcott, jr. Incloses [Israel] Shreve's bond; if no deposit has been made yet at the Bank of Pennsylvania for Washington's use, the bond and accompanying letter are to be delivered to [James] Ross, to be put in suit; has learned of the preliminaries of peace between France and Austria; only peace between France and England can restore tranquility to this country; asks him to deliver the letter for Col. Biddle. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 58

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 7, 1797. To E[dward] Carrington. Thanks him for forwarding a letter to [William] Booker; incloses another to the same person. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 59

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 7, 1797. To William Booker. He will be pleased to see him at Mount Vernon between the 20th and 27th; the scantling for the threshing machines will be got ready; he has half a dozen carpenters and blacksmiths of his own. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 60

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 7, 1797. To [Timothy] Pickering. He has Journals of the 1st, 2d, 3d Sessions only of the first Congress; these are in folio, one of the Senate and another of the House; does not care to duplicate his copies if no complete set can be had either in folio or octavo, but if the Journals are to be continued in the latter size and a complete set of that size can be obtained he would prefer that on account of uniformity. WASH. 61

See the Boston Athenæum's Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 533.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 10, 1797. To Robert Goodlee Harper. Acknowledges receipt of the Observations on the dispute between the United States and France; being on the point of celebrating harvest home, he must be allowed, as a farmer, to make all other matters yield to that. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 62

Washington's copy of Harper's Observations, Philadelphia, 1797. 8° is now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 98.

Document : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 10, 1797. Advertisement announcing that his half-acre lot in Alexandria will be leased in building squares; description of same; applications may be made to James Anderson. Letter-press copy of A. D. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 63

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 11, 1797. To John Bronaugh. Incloses a copy of the courses and distances of his tract on the Great Kanhawa, adjoining Poketallico Creek; he does not wish to purchase more land, but would be thankful for any information as to that which he already owns. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4to. WASH. 64

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 15, 1797. To Sir John Sinclair. Acknowledges receipt of letter of Mar. 28, 1796, written jointly with Lord Hawkes, recommending Dr. Scandella; has received copies of Sinclair's Account of the Origin of the Board of Agriculture; agricultural matters. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 65

The letter as sent is reproduced in Franklin Knight's Facsimiles of letters from Washington to Sinclair on agriculture, Washington, 1844, p. 5. Washington's copies of Sinclair's Account, London, 1796, 4°, are now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 90 for the correspondence relating to this volume.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 17, 1797. To William Pearce. Asks him to recommend a man for overseer of Union Farm; describes the duties and emoluments of the place. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 66

Printed in M. D. Conway's Washington and Mount Vernon (vol. 4 of the Memoirs of the Long Island Hist. Soc., Brooklyn, 1889) p. 278.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 21, 1797. To [Timothy] Pickering. Requests him to forward the inclosed foreign letters with despatches for [Rufus] King; regrets the trouble to them both; the only correspondence of this kind that he cares to continue is that with Sir John Sinclair; incloses Sinclair's latest work, asking that it be laid before Congress if the subject of establishing a Board of Agriculture should be reopened. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 67

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 23, 1797. To Samuel Hanson. Incloses a certificate of 100 shares in the Bank of Columbia, transferred to Washington by Tobias Lear. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 68

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 23, 1797. To Richard Peters. Agricultural matters; thanks him for his offer to procure for him seed of the yellow bearded wheat; he intends to plant less wheat for next year, owing to the danger of the Hessian fly; has three kinds of wheat; rust has attacked his crop; drought has rendered the crop of oats extremely short, and given little hope for Indian corn. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 69

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 31, 1797. To Rufus King. Concerning the estate of Col. Thomas Colvill; at the instance of the gentleman that instituted the suit on his behalf in the chancery court of Virginia he requests that there be forwarded to him in time for the March term next, an affidavit by the editor of the English paper, to the effect that the decrees were published therein for two months successively. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 70

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 31, 1797. To [Timothy] Pickering. Monroe's application [for a statement of the reasons for his recall from France] is nothing more than a continuation of the old game in a new form; requests to know the whole of what will come before the public; he is pleased to learn that the sentiment in France towards the United States is not in unison with the Directory. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 71

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 7, 1797. To Archibald McLean. Knows nothing of the bond in question; states James Kirk's account. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington: 'To Mr. Archd McLean 7th July, but should be the 7th, of August, 1797.' 1 page. 4°. WASH. 72

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 11, 1797. To Nathaniel Ramsay. He will send a cart on Monday to Baltimore for Mr. Lloyd's present of a calf; inquires if Gough has any broad-tailed sheep; if he has he would take a ram and two ewe lambs of the best at Gough's own price. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 73

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 13, 1797. To Henry D. Gough. Having occasion to send a cart to Baltimore, he wishes to procure from Gough three broad-tailed sheep for breeding; he wishes them on account of the mutton and would desire that the ram be of a size and age to serve a score or more ewes this season. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 74

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 13, 1797. To Nathaniel Ramsay. The bearer, John Anderson, is sent for the calf from the Eastern Shore and for the sheep which he hopes to get from Gough; asks him to insert an inclosed advertisement three times with the interval of a week between each insertion; Mrs. Washington is greatly distressed and fatigued for the want of such a character as he is inviting; asks if the Baltimore Telegraph is a Democratic paper. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 75

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 14, 1797. To Clement Biddle. Asks him to dispose of a number of table articles, left by [Tobias] Lear and [Bartholomew] Dandridge with [James] McHenry when Washington removed from Philadelphia; wishes him to ask [Thomas] Dobson if there are no more volumes of the American edition of the Encyclopædia out; the 16th is the last he has received; he has given away his set in boards and wishes the second set to be neatly bound. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 76

With reference to Washington's copies of the Encyclopædia see the Boston Athenæum's Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 496.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 14, 1797. To Rev. Zachariah Lewis. Thanks him for the sermons he sent; the doctrine in them is sound and does credit to the author; he is pleased to learn the sentiments expressed by [G. W. Parke] Custis; requests Lewis, in his letters to the young man, to impress on him the advantages of a good education; indolence is the difficulty at present. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 77

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 14, 1797. To James McHenry. Asks him to thank Mr. Bordley for his book [Sketches on Rotations of Crops, Phila., 1797, 8°]; the affair of [William] Blount should be probed to the bottom; he thinks Monroe's artillery will recoil against himself; of the table articles left in Philadelphia, he gives the three bottle-coolers to McHenry, Pickering, and Wolcott; the other things are to be sent to [Clement] Biddle; inquires as to the character of Porcupine's Gazette; he had thoughts when he left Philadelphia, of ordering it; though he would like to see it and Bache's paper [The Aurora] he does not mean to subscribe for either. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 78

Printed in Ford's Writings of Washington, vol. 13 (N. Y., 1892) p. 413, with slight additions to the postscript. Bordley's Sketches referred to is now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 28.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 20, 1797. To Rev. Newburgh Burroughs. Acknowledges receipt of letter of May 22 from Belfast; makes a statement as to the affairs in America of the late Mrs. Savage, of whose estate he and [Bryan] Fairfax are trustees; Dr. Savage, her husband, was of all ingrates the most ungrateful, and while alive and the courts were open, had recourse to all the chicanery of law and all the subtleties of lawyers to avoid paying her annuity; the suit is still going on, but he thinks it is too much like throwing away good money after bad, to proceed; public affairs for over twenty years have prevented his taking an active part in the business, but he is now of opinion that it would be best to offer a percentage or a good fee to the lawyers prosecuting the suit for the claimants under Mrs. Savage's will for all they can recover on this account; and by way of stimulus to their exertions to pay them nothing unless they succeed in the suit. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 79

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 20, 1797. To John Searson. Regrets to learn that he cannot find employment suited to his talents; advises him to remain in Philadelphia; offers to receive one of his poems, which [Clement] Biddle will pay for and forward. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 80

Washington's copy of Searson's Poems on various subjects and different occasions, Phila., 1797, is now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 179 for Searson's letter in reply.

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 23, 1797. To Henry D. Gough. Thanks him for a present of a bull calf; speaks of his own live stock and his endeavors to improve it. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 81

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 1, 1797. To Israel Shreve. His bond has been forwarded to [James] Ross with instructions to bring suit; this step is disagreeable to Washington, but as the want of money was his only motive in selling the land in Fayette county, he insists on punctual payment of the whole of each instalment as it becomes due; regular payments, as made by Col. Richie, are the only means by which he can derive the advantages expected from the sale. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 82

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 2, 1797. To James Harrison. States that the ground rent of his lot in Alexandria is $3 a foot for what it measures on each street. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 83

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 4, 1797. To Gen. O'Donald. A German named Anthony Heusler has offered himself as gardener, referring for testimonials to Gen. O'Donald; inquires as to his ability and states the qualifications necessary for him as gardener and for his wife as housekeeper. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 84

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 8, 1797. To [Henry] Lee. Concerning the price of wheat, a payment due to Washington, shares in the Bank of Columbia, and other business matters between them. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 85

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 11, 1797. To Tobias Lear. Acknowledges receipt of his letter of the 8th inst at the hands of John Bassett; with respect to the proposed lease of the River Farm he will consult [James] Anderson, for he gave up expectation of leasing it when the English farmer failed to take it, and in consequence engaged Stuart and sowed the principal part of his winter grain; in the meanwhile he sends an outline of terms; his object is to reduce his income to a certainty and relieve his latter years of trouble and perplexity. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington: 'Mr. Tobias Lear 10th, Sept. 1797.' 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 86

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon in Virginia, Sept. 15, 1797. To George Pearson. Acknowledges the recent receipt of his letter of May 12; as surviving executor of the estate of Thomas Colvil, with the aid of [James] Keith, he has closed up the affairs; the bequests to the nearest relations of his mother by the names of Stott, Wills, Richardson, and Catharine Smith of Durham, as notified in the London Gazette of December last, amount to £932 17s. 7d. 3f., estimating dollars at six shillings; that sum (now in bank at Alexandria) was submitted to the Chancellor because so many of the claims submitted were vague and unjust; those having claims now know where to present their proofs; he has nothing further to do with the matter. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 87

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 18, 1797. To Anthony Heusler. Having already written to a gentleman in Scotland to engage a gardener there under indentures, he cannot engage Heusler until he learns whether the gardener is coming from Scotland. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 20, 1797. To [Z.] Yundt and Brown, Baltimore, and [Augustine] Davis, Richmond. Inclosing an advertisement of a sale of horses and asses, at Alexandria on Nov. 20th, by James Anderson, to be inserted in their newspapers [The Federal Gazette and Baltimore Daily Advertiser, and The Virginia Patriot] four times with proper intervals between; he wishes his subscription to begin with the first of next month. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 24, 1797. To William Triplett. Concerning litigation about to be begun by Thomas Pearson for land bought by Washington from Simon Pearson, his brother; he can form no idea of what evidence Grafton, Kirk, and others, can bring forth, but is certain that the proceedings in, and docking of, the entail were conformable to law and of more validity than the testimony of Grafton, a ready witness upon all occasions; the only allegation upon which suit can be brought is perhaps that some of the jurors were not freeholders.—a difficult thing to verify 35 years after the verdict; if Simon Pearson left no legitimate children, and Thomas was his lawful heir, to whom did Simon bequeath his estate? The land surely cannot be in the possession of Thomas, for in that case he would be suing himself, and would have to pay the costs himself for all he obtained; asks to be informed as to the result of the evidence. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 3, 1797. To Thomas [C.] Martin. Asks information about his newly invented threshing machine; if superior to Booker's machines, of which he has one already, Washington would like to have some of them erected. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 91

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 9, 1797. To Rev. [Samuel Stanhope] Smith. An expression of his regret at the conduct of [G. W. Parke] Custis would be of no avail; the young man will have only himself to upbraid for any consequences; sends $100 by [George Washington] Lafayette who is on his way to New York to embark for France, in payment of the balance of the account transmitted ($65), the $20 advanced Custis when he left Princeton, and any other unpaid bills that may hereafter appear. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 92

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 10, 1797. To Francis Walker. In answer to his letter of 28th ult. he makes a statement concerning a tract of land near Suffolk owned jointly by the late Col. Fielding, the late Dr. [Thomas] Walker, and Washington; when John Lewis told him some years ago that the condition of his father's estate necessitated the selling of the lands, he answered that any arrangement made by Lewis and Dr. Walker would be acceptable to himself; he does not think the lands have been sold, as he still has the title papers; gives an abstract of them showing that the lands amount to 1210 acres; he does not care to buy Walker's share, as he is now selling land rather than buying, having recently disposed of his share of the company property in the Dismal Swamp, and a tract adjoining thereto held by the late Col. Lewis and himself; he is ready at any time to sell the land in question. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 93

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 15, 1797. To Clement Biddle. He hopes the late frosts will eradicate the malady [yellow fever] in Philadelphia and other seaports; countermands the order for stoves, having procured one in Alexandria. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 94

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 15, 1797. To Benjamin Goodhue. Thanks him for sending some fish; the money was paid to Captain Silver, and the fish shall be stored and dressed as he directed; does not expect that the European wars will end soon; unanimity is the one thing needed for the United States to steer clear of the vortex of misery; and even if steady adherence to the principles that have directed our councils should be unable to effect this, it will nevertheless avert the evils which might be expected to flow from the persevering opposition levelled at the government. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 95

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 15, 1797. To [William] Gordon. The care of his estate has prevented acknowledgment of Gordon's letter of Feb. 20th; the spurious letters, first printed during the war, have lately been republished; while in office, he suffered every attack on his executive conduct to pass unnoticed; in justice to himself and to posterity, he disavowed these letters the day before retiring, in a letter to the Secretary of State; his letters to congress have been published by [John] Carey; these must be the ones to which Gordon refers, but he does not suppose that Gordon means to profit by Carey's labors. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 96

The signature has been trimmed away. The letter is printed in Sparks's Writings of Washington, vol. 11 (Boston, 1836) p. 216, with the date Oct. 13, and the omission of the second and third paragraphs. It is printed in full and with the correct date in Ford's Writings of Washington, vol. 13 (N. Y., 1892) p. 425.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 15, 1796. To [Tadeusz] Kosciuszko. Acknowledges his letter from Elizabeth Town and regrets that his wounds will not allow him to visit Mount Vernon; in his claims for pay, Washington can help him only as a private citizen; such matters rest with the legislature; is sure that his claim on the justice and feelings of the country will meet with no delay. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 16, 1797. To James McHenry. Acknowledges a letter of the 2d inst.; hopes his son has recovered from his accident; has no news to put in a letter except the perplexities caused by workmen. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 24, 1797. To Tobias Lear. It is out of his power to lend $3,000, as he should then be unable to meet his own engagements without converting bank stock into cash; offers to lend $1,000.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 26, 1797. To Mr. Barry. Since Barry left yesterday, he has learned from his manager that he can have 50 barrels of superfine flour at Alexandria on Tuesday next [Oct. 31], provided he have immediate notice; it would however be more convenient to deliver it to a vessel at his mill as his boats are employed in getting materials together for his distillery; at any rate the price expected will be $8.50 per barrel. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 27, 1797. To Robert Brooke. Concerning the engagement of a housekeeper, Mrs. Forbes, housekeeper for Brooke while governor of Virginia; if well recommended, she will be retained on the terms mentioned in his advertisement inserted in a Richmond paper. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 30, 1797. To [Timothy] Pickering. Acknowledges receipt of letters of Aug. 30 and Sept. 8; encloses a letter that he had opened before he saw that it was of a public nature, and also a Spanish letter—both to be disposed of as Pickering shall see fit; thanks him for a copy of his answer to Yrujo's very improper letter; the copy-press came, but does not work well; he uses a small one which used to get out of order frequently, but now does tolerably well; he hopes for an abatement of the yellow fever in Philadelphia and return of the inhabitants. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 30, 1797. To Jacob Valentine. Acknowledges receipt of letter of the 21st inst.; never having speculated in soldiers' certificates or rights of any kind, he is not competent to give an opinion thereon. Letter-press copy of A. L. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 3, 1797. To Daniel McCarty. Declares that he would take no advantage of McCarty, even if he could, in the proposed exchange of lands; the lower tract on the Kanhawa is peculiarly valuable and not to be estimated by the price of neighboring lands; he writes more to exculpate himself from any suspicion of not offering an equivalent, than in expectation of their coming to a bargain; he is willing to ride out with McCarty and examine his land in Loudoun county. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 104

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 4, 1797. To Dr. James Anderson. Thanks him for engaging and sending a gardener, William Spence, who arrived by way of New York; he himself, freed from public cares, and reflecting that he has given his best endeavors to his country, is now engaged in agriculture, and means to live quietly, with good will to all men, until his end; in doing this he expects to find more real enjoyment than in the bustling of the past forty years; asks for information as to the prospect of disposing of his lands advertised for sale and to be let. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 105

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 6, 1797. To [Timothy] Pickering. Desires him, if writing to Mr. Parish of Hamburg, to thank him for an offer to send anything that might be wanted from that place; asks him to present Bucknall's Orchardist, in his name, to the Philosophical Society of Philadelphia. Washington's copy of the Orchardist is now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) p. 37, for extracts from the correspondence relating to this work.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 6, 1797. To James Ross. Thanks him for placing affairs with Col. [Israel] Shreve on so favorable a footing; the money paid by Shreve may be deposited in the Bank of Pennsylvania; as for the disposal of the Ohio lands, his object is to convert the land aggregately into money or stock so that he may derive benefit from the interest during the short remainder of his life; wishes Ross an agreeable session and perfect unanimity on all questions touching the national honor or interest. The date of the endorsement is Nov. 3d; that at the head of the letter has been corrected as above, apparently by Washington.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 13, 1797. To George Lewis. The running away of his cook has been inconvenient, and especially disagreeable because he had resolved never to become the master of another slave by purchase; he fears he must break this resolution, as he has vainly tried to hire a cook; from Bushrod Washington he learns that [Robert] Brooke's former cook is to be disposed of; asks Lewis to find out on what terms he can be had, either by purchase or hire. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 13, 1797. To Daniel McCarty. States in detail the terms on which they might come to an agreement for the exchange of lands; he desires a final answer, as [James] Ross has had offers for parts of the Kanhawa lands and recommends that they be sold in lots; he would prefer, if possible, to dispose of them by wholesale. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington: 'Danl. McCarty Esq^r 13th Novr. 1797. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 22, 1797. To Messrs. Fitzgerald, Herbert, and Gilpin, of Alexandria. Col. Marsteller has offered to rent a house and lot belonging to Washington; not knowing the usual rates in Alexandria, he submits to them the question as to what rent would be proper. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Feb. 26, 1798. To David Stuart. He is inclined to send [George] Washington [Parke Custis] to the college at Annapolis; regrets that Mr. [John] McDowell [President of St. John's College] cannot take him into his house; [George] Calvert gives a good account of the place; a sense of his former misconduct, and pride when classed with others, will be a stimulus to study; reasons for not sending him to Mr. Moffat at Alexandria; no advantage in his remaining at home without a good tutor; he will stop at Alexandria on his way to Mount Hope, to provide clothing; it would be well for Stuart or [Tobias] Lear to accompany him to Annapolis; Mrs. Washington has a cold. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Mar. 17, 1798. To Dr. Story. Sends him five dollars for treating his servant, Christopher, who was bitten by a mad dog. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 114

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 17, 1798. To Thomas C. Martin. He will provide scantling for a wheat machine, when its utility has been proved after harvest. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 115

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, June 22, 1798. To James McHenry. Incloses a copy of a former letter, asking if it arrived; inquires as to a letter written in March, to be forwarded or suppressed at McHenry's discretion, to John Parker, who had made proposals for compiling the Journals of Congress. In Porcupine's Gazette, for Monday, Jan. 29, 1798, Parker issued his 'Proposals for printing by subscription, The Journals of Congress, From their first meeting in 1775, to the present time'. The work was to be printed with a new type, made for the purpose, and good paper. It was to be delivered at one dollar per volume, of 400 pages, octavo, in boards, cash on delivery of each volume. On Thursday, March 15, following appeared the following advertisement in Claypoole's American Daily Advertiser: 'The Journals of Congress, from their first meeting in 1775, to the present time, which some time since I published my intention of printing, will be put to press in a few days. That the work may be prosecuted with ardour and promptitude, I have formed a connexion with Mr. Richard Folwell; and I flatter myself that our joint endeavours in this object, will give general satisfaction to the patrons of the undertaking,' etc.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 15, 1798. To William Hickman. In case of war with France, Mr. Trignet would probably not wish to serve against his own country, nor would it be the policy of this country to employ him. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 117

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 15, 1798. To Henry Hill. Acknowledges a friendly letter of the 4th inst., with thanks for its flattering sentiments; he had hoped to spend the remnant of his life in calm retirement, having been engaged since the age of nineteen in serving his country; but he has consented to enter on new responsibility and troubles should the occasion arise; if he prove an unprofitable laborer, they must remember that he cannot strike off forty years of life; the spirit shown by the people and the measures of Congress will convince the French that they have proceeded on false estimates; if not, he will hold himself ready to meet them. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 118

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 16, 1798. To James Marshall. In accepting the post of Commander-in-Chief, he made the reservation that he should not leave private life until the army was in a condition to require his presence, or urgency arose; until then he will not appoint any aides-de-camp, and holds himself free to choose, though thanking Marshall for his offer; that the French have been misled in looking for support from our people, is shown by the declarations of the people to uphold independence and their own government at all hazards; the French, though he thinks them capable of anything unjust and dishonorable, will hardly attempt an incursion; but the country should be prepared. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 5, 1798. To William Fitzhugh. He is in need of a riding horse, especially as he may be called to the field; Fitzhugh being a good judge, he asks him to procure one; the horse must be up to Washington's weight, 210 pounds without the saddle; he would not wish to pay more than $400; other specifications; Mr. David Randolph who is now unfortunately on a journey had a horse that might have suited. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 3, 1798. To Daniel McCarty. He has learned from McClanahan that McCarty regrets not having accepted the proposed exchange of Washington's Kanhawa lands for the Sugarland tract; they have since been disposed of to infinitely greater advantage; details of the transaction; he has lands on the Ohio which he will dispose of to McCarty; states his terms. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Jan. 25, 1799. To Bartholomew Dandridge. The letters that he sends across the ocean are mostly unfortunate in arriving; he was in Philadelphia from Nov. 10th to Dec. 14th on military business; Dandridge's letter arriving at that time, he had him appointed to a captaincy in Thomas Parker's (First Virginia) regiment; if he would prefer to continue as secretary to [Rufus] King, he should notify the War Office; the army is provisional only, a few standing regiments being a bugbear in the eyes of those who continually raise spectres to frighten the people; Nelly Custis is to be married to Lawrence Lewis on February 22d; the latter, with Washington Craik and Washington [Parke] Custis, have received commissions; Custis could no longer be kept at college, owing to indolence; extravagant resolutions of the Virginia Assembly, in opposition to the government; death of John Dandridge, his brother. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 4 pp. 4°. WASH. 122

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Feb. 6, 1799. To Jonathan Trumbull. He has received from Trumbull's brother [John] in London, four copies of the prints of the deaths of Montgomery and Warren; as he does not remember the terms of the subscription, he asks if he may settle the account through Jonathan; mentions the coming marriage of Nelly Custis and [Lawrence] Lewis. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 123

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Feb. 26, 1799. To James Ewing. Acknowledges receipt of The Columbian Alphabet; it might be useful for the purpose proposed, but to bring it into general use would be a work of time. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 124

Washington's copy of Ewing's Columbian Alphabet above referred to is now in the Boston Athenæum. See the Catalogue of the Washington Collection (1897) pp. 77, 78.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Feb. 28, 1799. To [Jedidiah] Morse. Acknowledges the receipt of a thanksgiving sermon; he wishes the important information in the appendix might be more widely disseminated. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 125

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 2, 1799. To William Thornton. Charging nothing for the services of his jacks was meant as a feeble effort to repay Thornton's many kindnesses; the wrong box of glass has been sent to Baltimore by Col. Gilpin, and the proper one is expected soon; incloses check for $1,000 agreeably to the demand of Mr. Blagden, for expenses incurred on his buildings in the Federal City. Letter-press copy of A. L. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 15, 1799. To [Alexander] Spotswood. He has communicated Spotswood's wishes respecting his son George to the Secretary of the Navy, although the act was contrary to his determination not to be a medium of applications for appointments; he does not suppose that any persons will be regarded as midshipmen until they begin to perform their duties on shipboard; asks for the names of any persons deserving of regimental appointments; if the president should decide to raise the eventual army, officers would be needed for four regiments; the appointments should be disseminated according to population; desires him to ask the executor of James Mercer for a conveyance, from George and James Mercer and Messrs. Linde Covenove, of lands purchased at Four Mile Run; in overhauling his land papers lately, he did not find the conveyance, but only a memorandum relating to it. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 21, 1799. To Charles Carroll of Carrollton. He has received a circular calling a meeting of the stockholders of the Potomac Company; he regrets that an undertaking promising such advantages should progress so limpingly; if navigation were completed and the Shenandoah opened, the company would be the most profitable in the United States; if he had the means, and were anxious to provide for those who might step into his shoes, he would complete it at his own expense; if the means can be had, he will declare for having the work done by contract; he hopes Carroll will attend the meeting at George Town, Aug. 5th. Illegible, except the endorsement, the postscript, "I advise your Son George to take a copy of this . . . that he may never forget what he is bound . . ." and a few words in the body of the letter. The letter refers, presumably, to the appointment of George Spotswood as midshipman, applied for through Washington. See WASH. 138.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 21, 1799. To Jonathan Trumbull. Acknowledges his letter of June 22d, with thanks to him and to John Trumbull for their interesting communications; the project of the latter is vast, but impracticable in view of the disorganizing party in the United States; although the projects of the French government are unmistakable, a powerful party defends the outrages of the Directory, and decries our own measures of defence; as for Jonathan's proposal that he should again stand for president, he does not think well of it, as the contest is now one of principles, not men, and he should not be able to draw a single vote from the anti-federal side; he would sorely regret leaving his retirement, unless called to defend his country; as a candidate for the presidency he would only expose himself to malice and calumny, and would render no essential service; he desires that some intimate friend of the president would advise him that his long absence from the seat of government is displeasing to his friends and a help to the other party. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 27, 1799. To [John] Fitzgerald. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, July 29, 1799. To — Barclay [William Berkeley], Treasurer of Virginia. At the last annual meeting of the Potomac Company, [John] Fitzgerald had some doubt as to his power to represent the interests of Virginia; it would be matter of regret if the state were not represented at the coming important meeting; he laments that a work of such immense advantage should go so limpingly. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 7, 1799. To George Walker. Acknowledges his letter of the 5th inst.; having no concern in public matters, he does not wish or intend to interfere with them, if they do not relate to himself personally; he does not mean to express any sentiments on Dr. [William] Thornton's letter or his own answer to it; he sends Walker's letter to the Commissioners, and transmits herein a list. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 10, 1799. To [Charles Cotesworth] Pinckney. Daily expectation of [William] Washington's arrival, which did not take place until the 6th, was the cause of his delay in writing; thanks Pinckney for the plumes sent to himself and to Col. Lear and Capt. Thornton; thanks him also for a transcript of Major Montflorenc's letter; speaks of the appointment of envoys to treat with France, and the Directory's knowledge thereof; he will notify [William] Thornton of his appointment as aide to Pinckney; recruiting is at a stand; he severely blames the Aurora and similar publications for endeavoring to prostrate discipline and introduce anarchy in the army, as they have tried to do in the civil government; a charge of bribery brought against the government; if it be true, the printer is worthy of high reward; but if false, he ought to be imprisoned for poisoning the minds of the people and fostering disunion. Partly illegible. In the Aurora for Wed. July 24, 1799, appeared an article alleging that Great Britain had expended $800,000 secret service money in America during 1798. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 11, 1799. To William Berkeley, Treasurer of Virginia. Thanks him for the power of attorney conferred on [John] Fitzgerald to represent the state of Virginia at the recent meeting of the Potomac Company; wishes Virginia might aid in the mode then adopted for raising money; simply from a pecuniary point of view, its means could not be employed more advantageously; the Potomac is the most direct line of communication with the west, in spite of the efforts of Pennsylvania and New York in behalf of other channels; but if commerce should settle into either of the latter, it would require time to bring it back. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 18, 1799. To Robert Lewis. He will present Ariss's draught on James Russell; if Kercheval's crop has been lost through the Hessian fly, he is willing to remit part of the rent; he has more negroes than can be employed in farming; he is principled against selling them, or breaking up the families by hiring them out, yet he will be ruined unless something is done; the $50,000 received from the sale of lands during the last four years has scarcely been able to keep him afloat; he means therefore to settle plantations on some of his other lands; asks which would be available; he is glad that Lewis's brother Lawrence is better; if Dr. Baynham could not effect a radical cure, however, he should not place much confidence in Voss's spring. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 25, 1799. To John Francis. In the renting of his houses in the Federal City, he will not depart an iota from the terms set forth in his letter of the 14th inst., they being as low as was thought proper by anyone with whom he has conversed; gives a detailed account of his expenditures for the houses and lots, as far as known, from which the rent is to be calculated; requests a positive answer. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 27, 1799. To [William] Baynham. In regard to the servant sent to be treated, he is persuaded that the man has received all the benefit possible in the nature of his case; he must be satisfied that nothing has been neglected to restore the sight; it was an imposition in the man's asking for money, for he had supplied him with sufficient for all expences, and it was impudent to say that Washington had directed it; incloses payment. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 30, 1799. To William Herbert. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Aug. 30, 1799. To Jonathan Trumbull. Acknowledges a letter of the 10th inst.; he is pleased that Trumbull's views coincide with his own as to [John] Trumbull's project; such a measure would need unanimity for success, and there is a strong party hanging on the wheels of government, opposing all measures for defence; yet if the French should possess themselves of Louisiana and the Floridas, he predicts that there will be "no peace in Israel"; as for the other subject he wishes that no eye or thought may be turned towards himself; not a single vote would be drawn from the anti-federal candidate; and if, as alleged, he would be the means of uniting the federal vote, that would only show that men, not principles, were the pursuit of the federal party; if they follow principles, they will not divide at the next election of a president; if they do divide on that point, it would be dangerous to trust them on any other; his mind has been almost constantly on the stretch since 1753, and he requires rest; nothing short of an invasion will draw him from retirement. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 8, 1799. To [Timothy] Pickering. He has forwarded Pickering's letter of the 22d inst. to the Commissioners of the Federal City, the subject being of particular importance at the beginning of the water improvements there; they have been contemplating legislation against the evils lately felt in all the large seaport towns from narrow alleys and filthy docks; asks if the medicine that was sent him by a German doctor has been tried yet in a case of yellow fever. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 10, 1799. To James Anderson. Commends his zeal and industry, which he has feared might result, as has happened, in ill health; he has long desired to simplify his concerns and make his income more stable, if smaller, reducing the management of those concerns which would be under his immediate care to a mere matter of amusement; he therefore proposes to rent the mill and distillery to Anderson on whatever terms he thinks just; if Washington should again be drawn into public life, Anderson would be on the spot to resume his old duties; he may be able to advance him a little money until the flour and whiskey can be disposed of, but this will depend upon the payments of others, which are always uncertain. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 11, 1799. To William Thornton. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Sept. 28, 1799. To Lawrence Lewis. Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 1, 1799. To William Thornton. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 13, 1799. To John Avery. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 13, 1799. To John Gill. Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 21, 1799. To William Herbert. He incloses two notes, to be placed to his credit at the Bank of Alexandria; also five dollars to pay for stamps; he will be obliged to renew his note; John Gill, in discharge of some pecuniary matters between them, offers a tract of land on Difficult Run that once belonged to Herbert and Swift; asks for information about the land. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 200

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 22, 1799. To John Gill. The sample of clothing sent will not suit his purpose, but he agrees to take the tract of land offered in discharge of the two years rent owed by Gill, provided that it shall not be less than 200 acres and that upon examination it be found to answer any useful purpose. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 201

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 26, 1799. To [Daniel] Morgan. He has not answered Morgan's letter sooner, because he has been daily expecting Lawrence Lewis; the latter says that his brother John, executor of his father's will, will not pay Morgan's claim on the estate, and desires a suit. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 202

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 27, 1799. To [Alexander] Spotswood. He has delayed acknowledging his letter, because he expected a second one with the deed that is in the hands of John Brooke, administrator of James Mercer; but Brooke appears to have forgotten his promise; a postscript treats further of the deed. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 203

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Oct. 29, 1799. To William A[ugustine] Washington. He has rented his mill and distillery to Lawrence Lewis, who is going to William A. Washington's neighborhood to secure grain; he is a cautious man, and will scrupulously carry out his contracts; two hundred gallons of whiskey are now ready; wishes to know how much rye he may expect from him; Mrs. Washington is better. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 204

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 1, 1799. To Allyn Prior. As he means to have his Ohio lands examined and reported on next spring, he is indifferent to the sale of them at this time; he will sell the tract on Mill creek, however, if taken before that examination of the lands is made, at $12 per acre, one-third down, the other two-thirds in annual instalments, with interest and mortgage on the premises for security of payment. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 205

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 2, 1799. To Levin Powell. He hears that Powell has an improved form of cutting-box; would like to have one procured for himself. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 206

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 13, 1799. To Joseph Anthony. Asks if he has received a check for $56, sent Sept. 30th in payment of his subscription to John Trumbull's prints. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 207

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 13, 1799. To Clement Biddle. Desires him to forward two pipes of old Madeira, which, as he supposes, have now arrived at Philadelphia; he also wishes 150 lbs. of coffee, a chest of tea, and candles; asks the price of clover seed, and whether good lucern seed can be had, also the prices of wheat and flour; incloses a letter to be forwarded to Joseph Anthony. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 208

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 16, 1799. To Thomas Parker. Learning from Col. Lear that he is about to make a journey to the Western Country, Washington asks him to find out, if he should go by way of Pittsburg, the value of his lands, that is, what they would sell for, one-third of the purchase money down, the other two-thirds in annual payments, with interest; the lands in question consist of three tracts of 2314, 2448, and 4395 acres respectively, on the east side of the Ohio, between the mouths of the two Kanhawas, three tracts of 839, 977, and 1235 acres on the Little Miami near the Ohio; asks if the lands in the North West territory are taxed, if so, in what predicament his are, and what the class of settlers is on any of the tracts in question; repeats his injunction with regard to his lands on the Great Kanhawa. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 209

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 18, 1799. To the Commissioners of the Federal City. Incloses a check on the Bank of Columbia for his dividend on stock in that bank; if the amount falls short of the second instalment due on lot no. 16 in the City, he will make good the deficiency. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 210

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 18, 1799. To William Thornton. He is making arrangements with the Bank of Alexandria for obtaining money, and will send a check for the $1,000 required by Blagden; he fears that the work which is not enumerated in the contract is pretty smartly whipped up in its price. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 211

of the Land Office. Acknowledges the treasury warrant and a letter of the 15th sent in answer to his own of the 7th and 8th; perceiving that William Shepherd has made and returned to the Land Office a survey similar to his own proposed entry, he asks for a copy of the same, and wishes that in the meantime this letter be considered a caveat against the granting thereof to Shepherd; other matters connected with this business. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 212

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 20, 1799. To Samuel Sommers. He has sent to Richmond and obtained the inclosed warrant; in the absence of Col. [Devall] Payne, he asks him to do what is necessary to give it effect; William Shepherd has made and returned a survey which bears some similitude to his own entry; asks him to examine the surveyor's books; Shepherd's conduct, while Washington was surveying his own land on Difficult Run, was so full of concealment and deception that he has no confidence in him. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 213

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 20, 1799. To William Thornton. Owing to his unfamiliarity with the rules of the bank, the check for $1,000 for Blagden's use must remain over until next week, the discount days being past; but Blagden may send to [Lawrence] Lewis, who will lend the money. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 214

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 22, 1799. To Benjamin Goodhue. Acknowledges a letter of Oct. 3d, recently received; he will send to Alexandria for the fish; without expressing an opinion as to the embassy to France, he hopes for the best, believing that Providence, after its numberless favors towards us, will continue to protect us. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 215

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 23, 1799. To Hepburn and Dundas. He would come to Mr. Heiskells at Alexandria on the 26th inst. if he could render any real service, but he has no other than hearsay knowledge of the division of the land in question, on the Kanhawa; speaks of the unsatisfactory system pursued by the state in regard to these lands; he knows nothing of the issue of John West. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 216

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 24, 1799. To Alexander Addison. He has heard nothing from Mrs. Ritchie as to the instalment due; if it is not paid, his own need will compel him to put the bond in suit; he has been obliged to borrow from the banks, a measure that he has never practised until the last two years. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 217

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 24, 1799. To Clement Biddle. According to the Secretary of War, cavalry officers are to draw on the Paymaster-General for their pay; [G. W. Parke] Custis, cornet in the Light Dragoons, therefore drew an order payable to Biddle; he wishes to know the reason of the difficulty in obtaining the money; asks the price of Timothy seed and of good German Oznabrigs, taking eight hundred, or one thousand ells. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 218

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 24, 1799. To Timothy Pickering. He approves of the proposed disposal of his letter to Murray; incloses a letter from William W. Woodward and asks who he is; has no objection to subscribing to the works of Dr. [John] Witherspoon if they are published by a proper hand and on proper principles; leaves it with Pickering to forward or return his inclosed answer to Woodward. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 219

Compare the letter to William W. Woodward of the same date, WASH. 220.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 24, 1799. To William W. Woodward. Having been well acquainted with Dr. [John] Witherspoon, he will subscribe with pleasure to the forthcoming edition of his works. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 220

Compare the letter to Timothy Pickering of the same date. William W. Woodward published Dr. Witherspoon's Works, with a memoir of his life by Dr. J. Rodgers, at Philadelphia, 1800-1, in 4 vols. 8°.

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 26, 1799. To John Gill. He sends the invoice of such goods as he needs and is willing to take payment of the money due; he has drawn up a memorandum of the agreement made between them; if Gill approves of the same, he is to sign and return the counterpart; a conveyance of the part of lot no. 10 on Difficult Run will be drawn up for Gill to sign; speaks further of the land. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 221

Document: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 26, 1799. Invoice of goods to be sent for by John Gill of Baltimore, for and on account of George Washington of Mount Vernon in Virginia, according to agreement; blankets and cloth for the negroes are the principal articles. Letter-press copy of A. D. S. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 222

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 26, 1799. To William Thornton. Incloses $1,000 requested by Blagden; a written postscript asks for a statement of the number and sizes of the rooms in his houses in the City. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 223

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 28, 1799. To Charles Little. Thanks him for the plat sent by Johnston; he has no doubt that the tract between his own line and the Tankerville line is vacant, and not a part of Thomas Lord Fairfax's land; [William] Shepherd's attempt to arrest his entry has put him more upon his mettle than he should otherwise have been; he means to have the lines investigated without delay; requests him to ask Thomas or Ferdinand Fairfax for the courses of lands adjoining his own; should a survey be necessary, he will avail himself of Little's offer. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 224

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 28, 1799. To William Payne. Inquires as to the state of his entry of a supposed vacancy of land on Difficult Run, which had been thought to lie within his own boundaries; also as to the steps taken by William Shepherd to interrupt his entry and warrant; S. Sommers, Payne's deputy, or Rawlins, the bearer of this, can relate the particulars of the matter. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 225

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Nov. 28, 1799. To Samuel Sommers. Requests that his entry be made in the county surveyor's records; he is unacquainted with the mode of proceeding; if the matter be contested, it must rest on a full representation of facts; the land has always been considered as his own; he should have proceeded to the ascertainment of the vacancy before this, were it not that the proprietors of adjoining lands should first be notified. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 226

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 1, 1799. To James Piercy. If Piercy has no vessel passing below this, the sugar may be deposited at Col. Gilpin's in Alexandria; that hitherto received has sometimes fallen short in weight. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 227

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 1, 1799. To William Thornton. His motive for subscribing to the Frenchman's fruit trees was to encourage a nursery of that sort; if John G. Ladd will import good plaster of Paris, he will take from ten to twenty tons; [Edward] Carrington has informed him that some has been imported from Nova Scotia to Richmond, but the farmers will not buy it; thanks him for the Boston glass for his houses; he wants a true Chinese hog; hopes Virginia will follow Maryland in acting favorably on the application of the Potomac Company. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 3 pp. 4°. WASH. 228

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 2, 1799. To [Edward] Carrington. Inquires as to the plaster of Paris for sale in Richmond; if it is the true sort, and can be had on reasonable terms, he will purchase. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 2 pp. 4°. WASH. 229

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 2, 1799. To William Price. Thanks him for a copy of the survey made for William Shepherd; as he cannot tell just where the land lies, he will make no further opposition to the grant of it; if it is where he suspects, it is within the bounds of a patent of his own of sixty years standing, which it cannot affect; he is sorry for the trouble he has given him. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 1 page. 4°. WASH. 230

Letter: Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 7, 1799. To Robert Lewis. He asks what prospect there is, now that Aïress is dead, of attaining the farm that was leased to him for life; if Mrs. Washington and himself should both survive for another year, he must find some place to which the supernumerary hands on his estate could be removed; asks Lewis to keep an eye on all his tenements in Berkley and Frederick with a view to repossessing land suitable for this purpose; depredations are being made on his timber land in Hampshire. Nelly Lewis has a girl born. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 3 pp. 4°.

WASH. 231

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 8, 1799. To [Clement] Biddle. Acknowledges his statement as to the pay of [G. W. Parke] Custis; Capt. Ellwood's vessel appears to be delayed; imported seed cannot be depended on, owing to heat in the holds of vessels; he wants clover seed of this year's growth, also lucern seed, and one pound of herd grass seed for an experiment. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 2 pp. 4°.

WASH. 232

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 8, 1799. To John Mason. Acknowledges the receipt of a resolution of the Maryland legislature, to take 130 shares in the capital of the Potomac Company; although this mode of raising money differs from that adopted at the last general meeting, he rejoices that the means are likely to be obtained to complete the desired navigation. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 1 page. 4°.

WASH. 233

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 8, 1799. To William Thornton. He is always glad, as a citizen of the United States, to hear that works of public utility are resolved on; he trusts that the proposed canal will be followed by another between the Delaware and the Sound, thus opening inland navigation from one end of the Union to the other; speaks of the powers of the president in the establishing of the Federal City; the latter is passing through an ordeal of jealousies and prejudices. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 2 pp. 4°.

WASH. 234

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 8, 1799. To Alexander White. Expresses satisfaction at the action of the Maryland legislature with regard to the Potomac Company; speaks of conflicting interests in the Federal City; he hopes that accomodation will be equal to the demand. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed. 2 pp. 4°.

WASH. 235

Letter : Washington (George). Mount Vernon, Dec. 10, 1799. To Robert Boggess. He is not in a position to lend money; on the contrary, his receipts for some years have fallen so far short of his expenditures that he has been obliged to sell land and borrow money. Letter-press copy of A. L. S. Endorsed by Washington. 1 page. 4°.

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

RHODE ISLAND.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume VI., Rhode Island. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°. EM. 2317

The text of the volume consists of the life of Stephen Hopkins, by Robert Waln, jr., from volume 6, pages 223 to 260 of the original edition of Sanderson; and of the life of William Ellery, by H. D. Gilpin, from volume 9, pages 237 to 283.

The material indexed consists of: broadsides 4, chart 1, documents 9, engravings 2, letters 20, map 1, newspaper 1, plans 3, portraits 49, views 23.

Engraving: America. Circular aquatint. [Paris, 1781?] Inserted in a decorative frame engraved by G. Noble and C. Jagger in 1800. F°. EM. 2317

A figure in Indian dress sets his foot upon the neck of a hyena, a broken trident beneath it; with his right hand he lays a caduceus on an altar which bears the inscription:

L'Amérique et les mers, O Louis! vous reconnaissent. pour leur libérateur. On the altar is a column bearing portraits of Louis Seize, Franklin, and Washington, surmounted by a cock and a globe with the fleur-de-lys. To the right is a palm tree with the motto En m'élevant je m'embellis; to the left an anchor and bales, with shipping in the background.

Also in J. F. W. Des Barres' Atlantic Neptune, vol. 3.

STEPHEN HOPKINS.

Letter: Hopkins (Stephen). Providence, Sept. 24, 1755. To Sir William Johnson. Congratulates him on his victory over Dieskau; it makes up for Braddock's defeat; regrets the death of Ephraim Williams, Moses Titcomb, and Hendrick; Rhode Island has raised 350 men, part of whom have started; others are ready and willing if needed. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in the possession of F. J. Dreer, Esq., Phila. 2 pp. F°. With a wood engraving, on India paper, of the Monument of Stephen Hopkins, Providence R. I. EM. 2320

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. 69.

Document: Rhode Island, Colony.—Governor. Newport, Sept. 1, 1755. Warrant to the sheriff of Kings County to summon the members of the General Assembly to meet at Newport on Sept. 8 to deliberate and perform what further is necessary to be done by the colony in view of the call for reinforcements from General Johnson, on August 24, and the vote by the General Assembly of Connecticut of 1,500 men in addition to the 500 they had already raised. A. D. S., Stephen Hopkins, Govr. Endorsed. On the back is also written an affidavit that the members have been notified; signed by Ber^h. Brown, Sher. 1 page. F°. EM. 2321

Letter: Arnold (Benedict). Newport, R. I., May 22, 1716. To Samuel Leonard, Taunton [Mass.]. He wishes sent to him by the bearer, James Burt, jr., the iron due for his two shares in the old iron works. A. L. S. 1 page. 8°. EM. 2322

Document: Hopkins (Esek). [Providence? Mar., 1786?] Receipt from Benjamin Bourn for a judgment of the superior court, March term, 1786, in favor of Esek Hopkins as administrator of Samuel Hopkins against Silas Talbot for £27 debt and £7 12s. 4½d. costs. D. S. Endorsed. Narrow strip. EM. 2323

Letter: Ward (Samuel). Providence, Jan. 2, 1761. "To the Hon'ble the Members of both Houses not in their public Capacity but as some of the principal Gentlemen of the Colony." In answer to the proposition of Stephen Hopkins that they should both withdraw from the contest for the governorship, he answers that the general good of the Colony was his only object in opposing Hopkins; if it is thought that the welfare of the Colony will be promoted by his declining to accept a public office, he will do so; but if he is chosen to serve the people he will not refuse. A. L. S. At the head is a copy of Stephen Hopkins's letter to the Assembly, dated Jan. 1, declaring that for the peace of the Colony, he will give up his pretensions to the governorship if Ward will do the same. 1 page. F°. EM. 2327

Letter: Wolcott (Oliver). Philadelphia, Dec. 21, 1795. To William Ellery, Newport. Sends a copy of Edmund Randolph's Vindication; asks if it is true that Randolph had a private interview with Fauchet lasting the greater part of a night, at Newport; if it is true, he desires an affidavit of the fact; his motive will appear on reading Randolph's publication. A. L. S. 1 page. 4°. EM. 2425

Printed in Gibbs's Administrations of Washington and John Adams, vol. 1 (N. Y., 1846) p. 270. For this letter and Ellery's reply of Jan. 11, 1796, see M. D. Conway's Omitted chapters of history, N. Y., 1888, p. 332.

Letter: Ellery (William). Newport, [R. I.], Jan. 11, 1796. To Oliver Wolcott. Has endeavored to determine the question asked in his letter of the 21st; Mr. Randolph lived in a private house while at Newport, but there was no communication between his rooms and those of the family; Fauchet and his suite lived by themselves in a house hired by the French vice consul; no information could be asked from the latter; there is no doubt that Randolph was in private communication with Fauchet, but it cannot be proved; the certificate must have been drawn up before Randolph went on board the Medusa, as, according to Capt. Gardner, he was on board only an hour and a quarter; Fauchet is reported to have said, at a dinner, that only men of no fortune or influence were on the side of France; that Hamilton and others near the President were honest, but that Randolph was a rascal; thinks Randolph has only injured his character by his Vindication, but has added to the reputation of the President. Draught, with many erasures and corrections. A. L. S. 3 pp. and 1 page additional on the back of a sheet addressed to himself. 4°. EM. 2426–7

Printed in Gibbs's Administrations of Washington and John Adams, vol. 1 (N. Y., 1846) p. 266. For this letter, and that of Wolcott to Ellery, see M. D. Conway's Omitted chapters of history, N. Y., 1888, p. 332.

REPORT FOR JUNE, 1898.

During the month of June there were received at the Library by purchase 2,390 volumes and 535 pamphlets, and by gift 781 volumes and 1,512 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 4,156 books and 3,656 pamphlets, for which purpose 23,757 cards and 1,372 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	1,371	5,705
Number of volumes.....	3,787	21,709
Daily average of readers.....	53	219

Among the important gifts received this month were 25 volumes and 10 pamphlets from Mr. S. P. Avery; 12 volumes of Official Reports from Augusta, Ga.; 1 volume and 18 pamphlets of Official Reports from Cyprus; 17 volumes of law periodicals from Mr. M. L. Erlanger; 44 volumes from Miss French; 2 volumes and 46 pamphlets of Official Reports from Mauritius; 6 volumes and 47 pamphlets from the Nat. Anti-Vivisection Society; 46 volumes from the Legislative Council of Victoria, and 14 volumes and 29 pamphlets from the Dept. of Mines and Water Supply, Victoria.

JAMES SULLIVAN ON THE NORTH-EAST BOUNDARY.

The following letter by James Sullivan is printed from the original manuscript in the Emmet collection in the New York Public Library. Sullivan (1744-1808), who served Massachusetts in various capacities as judge, representative in the continental congress, and governor, was the agent of the United States before the three commissioners, David Howell of Rhode Island, Thomas Barclay of Nova Scotia, and Egbert Benson of New York, appointed in 1796 to determine which river was the St. Croix of the treaty of 1783. Chapter xiv in T. C. Amory's Life of James Sullivan (2 vols., Boston, 1859) is devoted to Sullivan's services in this connection. The Rev. Dr. Smith, his correspondent, may possibly have been William Smith, D.D., first provost of the college of Philadelphia. Detailed references upon the boundary question are given in Winsor's Narrative and critical history of America, vol. 7 (Boston, 1888), p. 171.

BOSTON 20th October 1796

REV^d SIR

When I took the freedom to address you on the subject of the eastern boundary of the United States, I did not expect that you would have either leisure, or inclination to afford so copious, and learned a disquisition on the subject as your goodness has induced you to give. Having not had the honour to be known to you, I was induced at the instance of the honourable Mr Bingham to address you on the important business, merely with a hope, that you would forward through the Secretary of State, any Documents or memorandums, which might be in your possession, and pertinent to the occasion.

Whilst I was at Passimaquody Bay I received your obliging letter; and since my return to Boston I have had a copy of another addressed to Mr Bingham and myself on the same subject. Both these contain arguments to prove that the river Scooduck, is the river intended by the Treaty of 1783 as the river St Croix. To attempt an answer to the arguments, which you have placed, in your letter, in the mouth of the British Government, would in this acknowledgement of your goodness be in my opinion, very improper: because it would give you a great deal of trouble to read it; because, that although those arguments have been relied on by by [sic] that Government, yet many of them are now abandoned; and because it would be an imperfect anticipation of the trial of the question.

The Secretary of State has inclosed to me your Sketch of Mitchels map, with the peice of paper pasted upon it. The men who made the Treaty of 1783, do not, I believe, recollect any such paper as being on Mitchels Map at that time; but if the fact was fully established, as you state it, even that addition to the Map would give the rive[r] Magaguadavic as the boundary under the name of the St. Croix.

There is no perfect map of Passimaquody Bay, and of the rivers in question, now in being. But all the maps as they are drawn, represent two rivers as running into the Bay, and all of them which were made before the year 1787 call the northern, or eastern river the St Croix: and when it is established that the Magaguadavic, or eastern river of the two, is the St Croix, the point is settled in favour of the United States.

You remark, that you never knew, untill you learned it from my history of the District of Maine that a river emptying its waters into the Eastern side of the Bay, was claimed by Massachusetts, as the line of the Province. In your first letter you appear to be confident, that I am, in that Book mistaken, in my assertion, that Governor Bernard ordered a Survey there in the year 1764; and express your idea that it was in 1765 or 1766. That Book was hastily compiled in order to preserve facts which might be otherwise lost to the public. It was not intended as a disquisition on the boundary, and is in some instances a very imperfect, and erroneous description of the facts, and places, which now demand our attention. Its merits, or mistakes, can by no means effect the dispute. Indeed Sir, it can be asserted with truth, and propriety, that the dispute between the two nations cannot be understood by any one without his being on the place, or his seeing a better map than has ever yet been compiled.

Had you ever been at Passimaquody Bay, you would not have understood L Escarbot, and other writers as you now understand them. However good L Escarbot may be as a Pilot, yet the courses you propose to steer under his direction, will never land you on any Island, which either party would now agree to, as the one on which Demonts wintered; nor on any Island to be found in those waters.

The Island is not of much importance as I understand the case, nor do I find any thing in the business which places the Island where Demonts wintered on the western side of the Bay, or in the mouth of a river.

Upon receiving your first letter, the idea I had of your great accuracy and attention induced me to believe that I had mistaken the date of Governor Bernards survey. I therefore had recourse to his orders, the journals, and returns, and affidavits, of the Surveyors, and Chainmen which are all in my possession. His orders were issued the 14th of April 1764, and have attached to them the Governors Map of the river St Croix, which appears beyond doubt to be the Magaguadavic. I have the returns, journals and Depositions of the Surveyors, and Chain Bearers now before me. They arrived at Campobello the 8th of May, finished their Surveys and returned to Boston the 30th of June 1764. I have taken their oaths myself on these facts. They are all now alive.

The same river was again Surveyed as the boundary, by General Brattle, Colonel Royal and others under the orders of Governor Hutchinson in the year 1770. In the year 1784 General Lincoln, and General Knox were appointed by the General Court of Massachusetts, to go down to the place, and investigate the question. Their report signed by them both is now before me; wherein they declare the Magaguadavic to be the St Croix. You will, I believe, consider these as claims on behalf of Massachusetts. Besides this, the Indians were examined under oath, at the several times before mentioned and all declared, that the river Magaguadavic was always called the St Croix; and that no other river connected with that Bay, was ever called by that name. They have now been Sworn before the Commissioners, and say the same unanimously. Indeed I never had an idea, untill October 1783 that the river Magaguadavic was a contested boundary; nor has any other Person in Massachusetts, ever heard untill that time, that the English claimed any other line, than that river, as the western boundary of Nova Scotia; Excepting that Charles Morris Esq^r, of whose character you justly make such honorable mention, surveyed the Cobscook as the St Croix, fixed on an Island in its mouth as Demonts Island, and returned a plan of it as the true river to the Governor of Nova Scotia. But notwithstanding, his great ability as a man of science, and his accurate knowledge, which you say he was possessed of, as to the Geography of that Province &c, he now declares that he was mistaken, and the English Government has abandoned all claim to that river as the boundary. Their views in doing this I shall not now say any thing upon.

The Singular Provision in the Charter of William & Mary to Massachusetts, in regard to the Land in the territory between Kenebec and St Croix, induced several Grants under the authority of the crown. The opinion of the Attorney and Solicitor General in 1734 that the fee remained in the Crown is of no consequence at this time. The Grant made to you and others, is treated as other Grants made within and without Nova Scotia before the revolution. It is vacated by an Act of Government. And should the line be settled on our claim that Land will still be within the Province of New Brunswick. Though your tenants &c may have taken a part in execution, yet the whole is now regranted, if my information is correct, and your Grant deemed a nullity.

I have been used to treat the subjects which have happened to fall under my direction with as much conciseness as their nature would admit of; and in the present case I am of opinion that the interest of neither nation will call up a discussion of what the antient Acadie was, or of what was the line between Acadie and Nova Scotia anterior to the year 1690, consequently all the learning on Pentagoet, and Kenebec will be laid aside; the English have made their claim to Nova Scotia by boundaries in the Grant to Sir William Alexander, and do not pretend with Shirely and Mildway, that it ever extended west of the Scooduck.

The Act of parliment of 1774 can certainly have no weight in the decision of the case.

I inclose you your first Letter according to your request, with many thanks for your attention and am with sentiments of great respect

Your most humble Servant

JA SULLIVAN

ABRAHAM CLARK ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS IN 1777.

(From the original manuscript in the Emmet Collection in the New York Public Library.)

BALTIMORE Feb^y 8. 1777.

D^a SIR,

I lately heard the Assembly of New Jersey had met but cannot learn where am therefore unable to give a proper direction. The four New England Colonies have had a meeting of Committees from their Legislatures to consult measures for their mutual defence & for regulating Trade & Commerce—Their proceedings are before Congress, and I expect will soon Obtain their Approbation, and recommendation will thereupon be sent to N. York, N. Jersey Pens^a. & Maryland to app^t. Com^{ees}. to meet at Phil^a. for the purpose of regulating the Price of all Articles of trade &c—the Southern States will also be desired to meet for that purpose,—those matters if passed you will soon have notice of.

I am much alarmed with Gen^l. Washington's Procl^a. of the 25th Jan^y.—he hath assumed the Legislative & Executive powers of Government in all the states—I moved Congress to pass a Resolution I produced for preventing its fatal Consequences and the Establishing such a precedent. My motion was Com^{td}. and is now before the Com^e. . . I hope our Legislature will take proper Notice of it, whatever issue it may have in Congress, and not tamely Submit their Authority to the Controul of a power unknown in our Constitution; We set out to Oppose Tyranny in all its Strides, and I hope we shall persevere.

A Regulation for providing Carriages for the Army & to prevent as much as possible the Custom of impressing hath long been before Congress Com^{td}. & recom^{td}. and so it remains— I Wish you will not delay passing a Law for Regulating impresses of this kind. . . The Devastations of New Jersey by the Enemy will I think make it Necessary to prevent Cattle &c. running at large, as fences on the main road are mostly destroyed and cannot soon be made, and I think, no person ought to be compelled to fence agst. street Cattle at any Time. . . . M^r. Sergeant talks of resigning and M^r. Stockton by his late procedure cannot Act, I wish their places may be supplied by such as will be reputable to New Jersey, not only by their integrity but Abilities. . .

The Tories in the two lower Counties of Maryland on the Eastern shore & Sussex on Delaware, are very troublesome and C^{} ting forces Aided by several Men of War in Delaware but more Especially in Chesopeek Bay. The Militia & two Contin^l Regiments are marching Against them.

I expect Congress will soon remove from hence to Lancaster, tho' it is not yet determined— if that should happen I shall be greatly perplexed with the Chests. One Chief reason for removing is the Extravagant price of Living here, the poorest of board without any Liquor, a Dollar a day horse keeping 3/6 or 4/ Wine 12/a bottle, Rum 30/ p^r Gall. and everything else in proportion and likely soon to rise.

am D^r Sir, with great Regard to your House,

Your Obed^t. & Hum^{ble}. Serv^t.

JOHN HART Esq^r.

P.S. The Price of living I only gave you as a piece of intelligence & not to Opperate in our favour, as upon Recollection I feared you might look upon it as interested. . .

PUBLICATIONS RELATING TO NEW YORK AFFAIRS UNDER GOVERNOR COSBY.

The New York Public Library has recently acquired a folio volume of seventy-three documents, in print and in manuscript, relating to affairs in New York under the administration of Governor William Cosby, 1732-1736. Fifty-eight of these documents refer to the political struggle carried on between Rip Van Dam and the liberal party, and the Governor and the court party; the last fifteen relate mainly to Rev. Alexander Campbell, to his participation in the political discussions of the time, and to the accusation of various immoralities brought against him before the Bishop of London, by Rev. William Vesey, rector of Trinity church. The collection was brought together by James Alexander, a member of the council, and a participator in many of the events in question. It came to the library indirectly from the Rutherford family, into whose hands it passed, probably, from Catherine, daughter of James Alexander, who married, secondly, in 1758, Walter Rutherford. Their son was John Rutherford, who was born in 1760 and died in 1840; his armorial book plate is in the volume.

With the titles of the publications in this volume (which are marked as COSBY 1-73) are incorporated also titles of a few other works in the library relating to the same affairs. The New York State Library possesses a volume similar to the above, which was brought together by J. P. Zenger, according to the statement in the Narrative and critical history of America (vol. 5, p. 242). Many of the titles are the same in the two volumes; differences are noted in this list under the corresponding headings, and in addition are given here the two following titles that seem to have no corresponding representatives in our volume: Letter from (P. P.) in New-York, to his friend in London, 1733, 4 pp., sm. 4°, and A Word in Season, New-York, Sept. 28, 1736 (printed by Zenger), 2 pp. F°.

Albany, N. Y. The Charter of the City of Albany [granted by Gov. Thomas Dongan, July 22, 1686]. [Colophon:] Printed and sold by William Bradford, in New-York, 1736. 16 pp. F°.

COSBY 40

The advertisement announcing the reprinting of the charter appeared in Bradford's Gazette, no. 544, March 28 to April 5, 1736. The first edition was printed by Bradford at New York in 1707.

Alexander (James). New-York, March 24, 1735, 6. Whereas on the 13th day of this Instant March... [Declaration that he never advised or consented to George Clarke's taking the administration of government, or to his issuing any proclamation, or to his doing any Act of Government whatsoever, as president.] [New York: Printed by William Bradford, 1736.] 1 page. F°. COSBY 37

Alexander (James) and Smith (William). The Vindication of James Alexander, One of His Majesty's Council for the Province of New-York, and of William Smith, Attorney at Law, From the Matters charged and suggested against them in two Pamphlets lately published. The One A Paper addressed to the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, by the Honourable Francis Harrison, Esq., one of His Majesty's Council, for the Province of New-York. The Other A Report of the Committee of His Majesty's Council, to whom it was referred to examine and make Inquiry touching a Letter found in the House of Mr. Alexander, in New-York on Fryday the 1st of February, 1732-3, in order to make the fullest Discovery concerning the Author of the same. To which is added A Supplement Containing A brief Account of the Case of William Trusdell, Plaintiff, against the Honourable Francis Harison, Esq., Defendant, For Arresting and Imprisoning the Plaintiff and keeping him 9 Weeks in Prison; at the Suit of Joseph Weldon, without the Assent, Consent, or Knowledge of the same Joseph Weldon. Which Cause was tried in the Supream Court of New-York, on the 19th of April, 1734, wherein the Jury found for the Plaintiff Trusdell l. 150. Damages, and Costs of Suit. Printed by John Peter Zenger, and to be sold by him at his House in Broad Street, near the upper End of the long Bridge, in New-York, 1733 [i. e. 1734], Price 1s. 1 p. l., 20 pp. F°.

In Zenger's Journal, no. 24, April 15, 1734, appeared the following: "There is now in the Press and will soon be published, the Vindication of James Alexander, Esqr.," etc. In no. 27, May 6, 1734, the Vindication is announced as published this day.

Alexander (James) and Smith (William). The Complaint of James Alexander and William Smith to the Committee of the General Assembly of the Colony of New-York, &c. [New York: Printed by John Peter Zenger, 1735?] 19 pp. F°.

COSBY 29

There are corrections on page 9 apparently in the handwriting of James Alexander; on page 19 has been written a transcript from the records of the supreme court Oct. 18, 1737, reversing the rule by which Alexander and Smith were excluded from practice before the court. There are also a few notes on the blank reverse of page 19.

American (The) Weekly Mercury. From Friday, December 14. to Friday December 21. 1733. No. 729. Philadelphia: Printed and Sold by Andrew Bradford, Post-Master. 6 pp. F°. COSBY 8

It contains an account of the troubles between Governor Cosby and Rip Van Dam.

Zenger's Journal, no. 20, Mar. 18, 1733/4 contained the following announcement: "There are Printed and Sold, by the Printer hereof some Observations on the Charge," etc.

Song (A) made upon the Election of new Magistrates for this City. To the tune of, To you fair Ladies now on land. [Also] A Song made upon the foregoing Occasion. To the Tune of, Now, now, you Tories all shall stoop. [New York: Printed by John Peter Zenger. 1734.] 1 page. 4°. COSBY 18

These are the two "Virulent, Scandalous and Seditious" songs that were brought into question when Zenger was arrested, 17 Nov. 1734, and were ordered to "be burnt by the Hands of the common Hangman, as containing in them many things derogatory of the Dignity of His Majesty's Government, reflecting upon the Legislature, upon the most considerable Persons in the most distinguished Stations in the Province, and tending to raise Sedition and tumults among the People thereof." The burning was ordered for Monday 21 Nov. 1734. See Zenger's Journal, no. 55, Nov. 25, 1734.

Songs. Of a merry sing song burnt by sound of ding dong why made and what after befel it in doggrel rhymes most fit for the times I fully do purpose to tell it As below you will see in a mournful dittee composed upon the occasion. [New York, November, 1734.] 2 pp. F°. MS. COSBY 19

Seventeen stanzas referring to the burning of the songs ordered by the New York court to be burnt Nov. 21, 1734.

hangman which was accordingly Executed &c. To the tune of Great William our Renowned King. [New York, November, 1734] 2¼ pp. F°. MS.

COSBY 21

Satirical verses, apparently in the handwriting of James Alexander, upon the songs ordered by the New York court to be burned, Nov. 21, 1734. At the end is written in the same hand as the body of the document: "it's said the above was wrote by D - - d H - - m - - ys of m - - g maner October 1734".

Songs. Assist O! god my muse with rage divine thro every age to make the patriots shine the glorious theme demands your early care you, who the guardian of free cities are [November, 1734?] 1½ pp. F°. MS. COSBY 23

Preceded by three lines from Horace, Carmina, 3, 3, 1. It refers probably to the stand made for liberty of speech in Zenger's Journal and the troubles resulting therefrom.

Songs. Dear friend

I've read with care the c - - - ls letter ore that not long since was sent to Brittain's shore and cannot find in all that long detail where justice truth or reason does prevail

[New York, 1736?] 1 page. F°. MS. COSBY 24

The "c - - - ls [cabal's?]" letter "may possibly be the letter sent to the Lords of Trade by Cosby in December 1734, preferring charges against Lewis Morris, Rip Van Dam, and James Alexander. See Zenger's Journal, no. 120, Feb. 23, 1735/6; and Documents relating to the colonial history of New York, vol. 6, passim.

Songs. Ridentem dicere verum Quid vetat? In antient Days a Bestial Train . . . [New York? Printed by John Peter Zenger? 1736?] 1 page. F°. COSBY 59

Seven stanzas ridiculing Francis Harrison and the New York assembly under the veil of an assembly of beasts. Immediately preceding it is a folio sheet of paper upon which James Alexander has written: "Parson Campbells publications".

Songs. Poor Toby's Fate, or a farewell to Courtiers. To the Tune of Daphny our Dearest bitch ohone ohone. [New York, February 1735/6.] 1½ pp. F°. MS. COSBY 20

Nine satirical stanzas referring to the changed condition of affairs after the death of Governor Montgomerie. Printed, with an introductory letter to the printer in Zenger's Journal, no. 119, Feb. 16, 1735.

South-Carolina (The) Gazette. From Saturday, May 1, to Saturday, May 8, 1736. Numb. 119. Charles-Town: Lewis Timothy. 4 pp. F°. COSBY 44

It contains an account of the trial of Thomas Mellichamp on the charge of counterfeiting.

And A Reply to those Answers of the Gentlemen of the Council... Boston: Printed in the Year 1734. 28 pp. F°. COSBY 22

Van Dam (Rip). New-York, April 26th, 1736. Sir; Whereas on the 10th day of March last. [Letter to the individual members of the general assembly reciting the facts as to the death of Governor Cosby, Van Dam's claim to the administration, and maintaining that the adjournment of the assembly by Clarke was illegal, warning the members that the authority of Clarke was not good, and maintaining that, since the assembly has no existence unless Clarke's authority is good, any examination of the right of Clarke or Van Dam is of itself determining the point against the latter.] [Signed in MS. by Rip Van Dam.] [New York: Printed by John Peter Zenger. 1736.] 1 page. F°. COSBY 43

On the back James Alexander has written the following note: "April 29th 1736 the members being met & all Served with this Letter a great Majority refused to act & agreed to a Declaration of their reasons which Declaration is printed after a Copy of this Letter & is tied up with the votes of the assembly of New York". See also Zenger's Journal, no. 130 May 3, 1736 where Van Dam's letter and The Declaration of a Majority of the Members of the said General Assembly are advertised as published "last week". "Both the said Papers are printed together, and to be sold by the Printer hereof, price 4d." See also Bradford's Gazette, no. 547, Apr. 26-May 3, 1736. The New York State Library possesses a copy of the above letter of Van Dam that has printed with it the proceedings of the members on April 29; which agrees with the above advertisement of Zenger. It also possesses a copy of the broadside Proclamation against Rip Van Dam, printed by Bradford in 1736.

Wheelwright (Timothy), pseud. [Two satirical letters, dated Sept. 8 and Sept. 12, 1734, on the approaching election for Alderman, expressing the despair of the workmen; and another advising them to assert the rights and liberties of their country.] [New York: Printed by John Peter Zenger, 1734.] 3 pp. F°. Sheets G and F have been transposed in binding. On page 32 James Alexander has written the following note: "in the book intitled proceedings against State Criminals page 41 begins a more perfect Edition of this tryal. the book is printed for John Wilcox 1741".

Zenger (John Peter). [The Tryal of John Peter Zenger, of New-York, Printer, Who was lately Try'd and Acquitted for Printing and Publishing a libel against the Government. With the Pleadings and Arguments on both Sides.] [London, 1738?] 32 pp. 4°.

The title-page is lacking. The fourth line of the heading on page 1 ends Zenger, in this edition and Printer in the four Wilford editions described; the initial A is different from that in the Wilford editions; and the typographical mark at the end consists of two cherubs holding wreaths and supporting a griffin's head and triangular ornament, while that in the Wilford editions consists of a cherub's head and wings hovering over an altar, flanked on the left by a kneeling cherub, on the right by a church. In other respects this and the Wilford editions agree page for page and line for line.

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

CONNECTICUT.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume VII., Connecticut. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°.

The text of the volume consists of the life of Oliver Wolcott, by his son, Oliver, from volume 3, pages 61 to 77, 309, 310, of Sanderson; of William Williams, by Robert Wain, jr., from volume 4, pages 85 to 105; of Samuel Huntington, by Robert Wain, jr., from volume 4, pages 107 to 127; and of Roger Sherman, by Edward Everett from volume 3, pages 197 to 306.

Wolcott's life is wrongly ascribed to the authorship of W. Wolcott, in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. iv.

The material indexed consists of: almanack 1, broadsides 3, clipping 1, documents 9, engraving 1, letters 28, newspaper 1, portraits 78, views 28.

View: New London, Conn. Inscription: New London from Manwaring's Hill. Inserted in a decorative frame engraved by A. Smith and J. Newton in 1795, representing Britannia seated above and hurling a thunderbolt. Line. 8°. EM. 2431

Apparently a later and slightly altered state of the print in the Portfolio vol. 3, ser. 3 (Phila., 1814) p. 113, which was described before as EM. 258.

OLIVER WOLCOTT.

Portrait: Wolcott (Oliver). Nearly full length, seated, with left arm resting on a table. Inscription: Engraved by F. Halpin from a painting by Earle in 1782. (right) Oliver Wolcott (fac-simile autograph) 1782. With coat of arms. Line. F°. EM. 2432

Also in Samuel Wolcott's Memorial of Henry Wolcott, N. Y., 1881, p. 148.

Engraving: Wolcott family. The Wolcott coat of arms. Wood engraving by James H. Richardson from a drawing by H. G. Somerby. On India paper. F°. EM. 2433

Also in Samuel Wolcott's Memorial of Henry Wolcott, N. Y., 1881, p. xiii.

Letter: Wolcott (Oliver). Philadelphia, Mar. 27, 1776. To —. Thanks him for letter of the 9th, giving news of his family; there is no fear that the Commissioners may delude the colonies; folly will continue to mark the British councils; God will take care of the people; expulsion of the troops from Boston is a great event; it is conjectured that they will go to Halifax; sends compliments to his friends, particularly to Mr. Morris. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in possession of F. J. Dreer, Esq. Philada. With a wood engraving on India paper of the Res. of Oliver Wolcott South St. Litchfield, Conn. 2 pp. F°. EM. 2434

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, page 99.

Letter: Wolcott (Oliver). Litchfield, [Conn.], May 13, 1777. To William Ellery [Philadelphia]. He arrived at his country house the day before; losses in the Danbury affair were 30 killed and 50 wounded, the enemy losing more; Connecticut regiments are not yet filled up; Gov. [William Franklin] is closely confined in the town jail; asks him to get from William Duer the names of the two members of the Connecticut legislature suspected of having received protection from Franklin, and to get also the evidence, and the name of the informer; the latter, he suspects, is a certain malicious and lying general officer; he means to clear up the matter, not because he himself is suspected, but because a certain one is suspected whom he will bring to punishment if guilty, or, if not, he will bring to light one who has for a long time been the dark and infamous betrayer of the honor of his family by exciting suspicion against a Gentleman who now is and on many important Occasions has been in the service of these states. A. L. S. 2 pp. F°. EM. 2435

WILLIAM WILLIAMS.

Letter: Williams (William). Hartford, [Conn.], May 25, 1775. To Eliphalet Dyer, Philadelphia, per Capt. Oswald. The Legislature has received the news that Congress approves the capture of Ticonderoga; they have just heard that Col. Arnold has taken the armed craft on Lake Champlain, and that Col. Allen has unsuccessfully attacked Fort St. John; the Legislature would strongly urge Congress to reconsider the matter of giving up Ticonderoga; they think it very important that the post should be held. 2 pp. F°. REPORT FOR JULY, 1898.

During the month of July there were received at the Library by purchase 679 volumes and 489 pamphlets, and by gift 471 volumes and 839 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 2,432 books and 1,808 pamphlets, for which purpose 15,096 cards and 1,006 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	993	4,840
Number of volumes.....	2,754	20,721
Daily average of readers.....	40	194

Among the important gifts received this month were 16 volumes and 1 pamphlet, consisting mainly of French public documents, from Miss E. M. Blake; 15 volumes and 1 bound pamphlet of early homeopathic works from Mrs. George W. Rains; 1 bound volume in manuscript called a "Buccaneer's Atlas or Portolano," dated 1696, and containing a description in French of the west coast of America from the Straits of Magellan to the peninsula of California, with colored charts, from Mr. Alexander Maitland; 97 volumes and 21 pamphlets from the Librarian of Congress; 5 volumes and 5 pamphlets of public documents from the Registrar-General of Western Australia; 52 volumes of public documents from the Registrar-General of Queensland, and 19 volumes from the Société Imperiale Russe de Géographie of St. Petersburg, Russia.

DR. NISBET'S VIEWS OF AMERICAN SOCIETY, No. 5.

CARLISLE, PENNSYLVANIA, 31st October, 1797.

DEAR SIR,

I was favoured with yours of the 14th June on the 18th September last, & had answered yours of October & November 1796, soon after they came to hand. While I felt severely for your Misfortunes, I was pleased to hear that I was not forgotten by one of the Friends of my Youth. I imagined that you had a genteel Annuity settled on you & your Children by your Sister's Will, which her Executors were bound to pay you yearly, & as this Annuity had been anticipated by the Expences of your Wife's Illness, I expected that as soon as the Produce of it had extinguished these Anticipations, you would be restored to the full Possession of it. I likewise imagined that some of your friends in the Town Council might have procured you an Office in the Revenue, & your having been formerly a Magistrate of the City ought to have had great Weight with them. But it seems they do not proceed on the same Views as they did formerly. To maintain the Honour, & to serve the Interest of their own Body, was wont to be a favorite Object with them.* I have frequently entreated him to write me, but have only been able to draw two Letters from him in twelve years. I had heard of the Zeal that has appeared in so many of your People for propagating the Gospel among the heathen, & although we have Abundance of Heathens at home, I hope that those in Asia & Africa will be more ready to receive the Gospel than those who have heard it, & despised it. I am sorry for what you mention of the Difficulties that are attempted to be thrown in the Way of those who wish to erect Chapels of Ease, as it appears to me that such Institutions are necessary not only for preserving the Body of the People in the Communion of the Established Church, but for promoting the Attendance on Divine Ordinances, in Places where it would otherways be neglected. Hence I have reckoned the Breaking out of the Secession, the Division betwixt the Burgher & Antiburgher Seceders, & the Rise of the Society of Relief, to be so many favourable Dispensations of Providence to the Interests of Religion in Scotland, because altho' they have had some bad Consequences, they have produced many more good ones, by increasing the Number of Ministers & Congregations, to a far greater Extent than could ever have been done by the Commissioners for Plantation of Kirks, or even by the Institution of Chapels of Ease, so that the increasing Population of the Country, which could never have been accommodated in the Parish Churches, have been accommodated at their own Expence by means of these Divisions, & the Gospel has been preached to hundreds of Congregations to which it would not have been preached, had there been no Provision made for it, except the Establishment. Nor is it so great a Misfortune to a National Church to have a Number of Dissenters, who hold the same Standards of Doctrine & the Form of Church Government as themselves. It would have been much worse surely, if all these Dissenters had been Roman Catholics or Episcopalians, who hold the

* A line has been crossed out in the original.

Doctrine & Government of our Church in Abomination, or if they had become Deists or Atheists, as is the Case with many here. I agree that it is a Risk, to trust many People with Arms, but it is sometimes a greater Risk to deny them the Use of Arms. This latter Method has proved unfortunate in Ireland, & the first has not yet produced any bad Consequences in Great Britain. With Regard to your Hints as to the Provision for Ministers by Allotting Lands for that Purpose, I have mostly answered them in my former Letters. But you entirely mistake the Character of the People of this Country, if you imagine that they desire to support a Gospel Ministry or to see them independent. There is nothing in the World indeed that is farther from their thoughts. Nay Ministers themselves dare not say that they wish to be independent, as that would draw down upon them the utmost Vengeance of the Sovereign People. The Truth is that Religion is so little regarded in this Country, that the best Schemes for its Support & Encouragement, could not meet with half so many Friends, as a Proposal for its Extinction or entire Suppression. And indeed nothing could serve this Purpose more effectually than that Equality & Indifference of Religious Opinions that is established by our Political Constitutions. It is this that has divided all our Citizens into two great Parties, the Anythingarians who hold all Religions equally good, & the Nothingarians, who abhor all Religions equally. And in such a Division, you may easily believe that the Anythingarians having no fix'd Principles to rest on, must soon be put down by the Nothingarians, who are the great Majority in this Country as well as in France. Mr. Whitfield* was a great Promoter of Anythingarianism in this Country, but he was not aware that he was advancing the Nothingarian Interest by his Preaching. The Consequences of it however are now too palpable to be dissembled or denied. In forming the Constitution of the State of Vermont, something like an Establishment was contemplated, as in every Township of Six Miles square, into which their whole Territory was divided, two contiguous Portions of Land, of an hundred acres each were set apart, one of which was to be given to the first Minister that should be chosen by the People to settle among them, & the Heirs of said Minister, and the other to the Same Minister & his Successors in Office. But in accomodating this Constitution to that of the United States, I am afraid that this Provision has been abolished, although I know one Minister, an Antiburgher Seceder, who was settled on these terms, but there was a previous Vote in the Congregation whether they would have a Minister or not, & it carried only by a few Voices that they should have one. He had likewise a Stipend paid in Wheat, by a Proportion, from all the Estates in his Parish. I have not seen him since his Settlement, but have my fears that in most of the Townships of that State it will be carried by a previous Vote, to have no Minister. The number of those that are trained for the Ministry in this Country, is not small, but the Number of those that abandon it for other Professions, is very great in Proportion. Some turn Lawyers, others Merchants Farmers & Members of Congress. Very little Learning is required for making a Minister in this Country, & there are some Seminaries, which bring Men from the Plough, the Waggon & the Loom, into the Pulpit, in the Space of a Year. The State of things that prevails here is such as could not be conceived or believed by any one that has not seen it. We have no Professors of Divinity in any of our

* The name has been crossed out in the original.

Seminaries, as no God nor Religion is owned by any of our Constitutions, & for the same Reason there is no Mention of any God in the Oath of Allegiance prescribed by the United States; only a Person says, "I swear that I will support the Constitution of the United States." Now whether it means, "I say that I swear," or "I swear that I say", is not very clear, but neither of these can constitute a strong Obligation. For this Reason I think that the Divine Providence has a Controversy with the United States, & that neither their Union nor their Constitution will be lasting, as God is not owned in it. Perhaps it has already seen its best Days.

The French are taking our Vessels by Scores every day, both in Europe & the West Indies, and on our own Coasts, & many of our Merchants are Owners in those Privateers that capture the Vessels of their Countrymen. We have no such thing as Patriotism, & those who call themselves Patriots among us, like those who call themselves friends of the People among you, have only a blind Attachment to the French Republic, & a blind Zeal for subjecting their own Country & all others to the infernal Dominion of that Tyranny. Levies of Men are making just now in South Carolina, for the Service of the French Republic, & as they are at Peace with Spain, these Levies can be for no other Purpose than for subduing this Country. The Governor of South Carolina has been obliged for form's Sake, to publish a Proclamation prohibiting the Levying of Men for the Service of a foreign Power. But as the Governor himself is of the French Party, he durst not name what foreign Power he meant, & the Business goes on, notwithstanding his Prohibition. What will be the Issue, God alone knows. The same Design was attempted at Philadelphia some Months ago, but the Design was disowned as soon as it was discovered, by some Persons refusing to sign their Names. In Philadelphia it was meant that Men should enroll themselves privately, but in South Carolina the Levies are public & acknowledged in Print. Bankruptcy, real & fraudulent, abounds among our Merchants, & on Account of the daily Captures of our Ships, may be expected to abound much more. Most of our Merchants, who were deeply indebted to England, will probably become Bankrupts, to avoid the Payment of their English Debts according to Treaty. The Population of this Country is daily turning thinner, by the Emigration of Multitudes to the Western Frontier, & the French & Spaniards, are instigating these New Settlers to erect a New Republic beyond the Mountains, dependant on France, but independent on the United States, & their Endeavours have had considerable Success, for although some of their Agents have been seized & imprisoned, they were quickly let go again, for fear of displeasing the French Republic. We are a divided People, & hastening to Ruin, & God seems to be bringing it upon us by that Nation to which we have been blindly devoted, in the same Manner as he punished the Jewish People of old, by those idolatrous Nations whose Customs they were so prone to imitate. If a General Peace is established in Europe, the French will have nothing to do but to disorganise & subdue this Country in the same Manner as they have done to so many others, unless they should chuse to begin with Great Britain, where they have many friends, tho' probably not so many in Proportion, as they have here. For which Reason I am afraid to hear of a general Peace with France in its present Condition, as I am persuaded that it would be fatal to Great Britain, as well as to America. Such a Peace would be no sooner Signed, & the British Navy disarmed & laid up, when Millions of Incendiaries, Assassins & Disorganisers would come over from France, who with the Assistance of your own Traitors & Mob, would quickly overturn the British Constitution, & commit as many Violences & Massacres in the Name of Liberty & Equality & the Rights of Man, as have taken Place in France for these eight years past. Your People complain loudly of the War, which indeed must be burdensom, but they have a thousand times more Reason to be afraid of a Peace, of which they would complain in vain, when the Government that might have defended them, is overturned by the French. Where is now the Republic of Holland, Venice, Genoa & Geneva, the Austrian Provinces of the Netherlands, & most of the States of Italy? All are ruined by having made Peace with the French. Yet your Patriots are eager to bring your Country into the very same Condition. Where is the Republic of the United States, which has shown such a gross Partiality to the French Republic? It is, as you see, abused, insulted, plundered & threatened by that very Nation to which our People have sacrificed the Interests of their own Country. What Charms then can your People see in a Peace with the French, who have never yet made Peace with any Nation, except on the Terms of absolute Submission? The Kingdoms of Spain & Portugal are now in the same State of Vassalage to the French as the European Republics, & the Swiss Cantons at last are threatened with the same fate. Great Britain alone is free from their Insults, but it will be no longer free than it continues the War, & supports its Navies, its only Bulwarks against the French. No Reliance can be made on a Treaty concluded with a Nation of Atheists, & we see that the Preliminary Articles of Peace with the Emperor were broken in less than a Week after they were signed, by the French laying heavy Contributions on those Provinces of Germany which they had agreed to abandon. Every thing that has happened, strongly dissuades from a Peace with the French. Yet this is the Object on which your foolish People are blindly set. It appears to me that they are under a judicial Infatuation. You gave me no Direction, either in this or your two former Letters, how to address my Letters to you, for which Reason I addressed one of them to the Care of Dr. Johnston of North Leith, not knowing but your Residence there might be merely temporary. If you direct to me at Carlisle, Pennsylvania, it will come to hand from any Port or Post Office of the United States. I should be glad to hear that your Affairs are in a better Situation, & that you have got friends to support your Interest. My Wife & family, as well as myself, are in ordinary health at present, & the yellow Fever which has raged in Philadelphia since August last, is greatly abated, so that the Citizens who had fled, are returning to their homes. Expecting to hear from you, I remain with sincere Esteem,

Dear Sir,

Your very humble Servant,

CHA^S. NISBET.

“PROVINCE OF THE MASSACHUSETTS BAY

June 3^d 1773

“The House of Representatives of this Province being earnestly attentive to the Controversy between Great Britain and the Colonies, And considering that the Authority claimed and exercised by Parliament on the one side, and by the general Assemblies of this Continent on the other, greatly militates and so is productive of this unhappy Contention; think it of the utmost Importance to the Welfare of both and particularly of the Colonies, that the constitutional Rights and powers of each be enquired into, delineated and fully ascertained.

“That his Majesty's Subjects of America are intitled to the same Rights and Liberties as those of Great Britain; and that these ought in Justice by the Constitution, to be as well guaranteed and secured to the one as to the other; are Truths too apparent to be denied.

“It is by this House humbly conceived to be likewise undeniable, that the Authority Assumed and now forceably exercised by Parliament over the Colonies is utterly subversive of Freedom in the latter; And that while his Majesty's loyal Subjects in America have the Mortification daily to see new Abridgments of their Rights and Liberties, they have not the least Security for those which at present remain. Were the Colonists only affected by a Legislative, subject to their Controul, they would even then have no other Security than belongs to them by the Laws of Nature and the English Constitution; but shou'd the Authority now claimed by Parliament be fully supported by Power or Submitted to by the Colonies, It appears to this House there will be an end to Liberty in America, and that the Colonists will then change the name of Freemen for that of Slaves.

In Order to adjust and settle these important Concerns, the free and magnanimous Burgesses of Virginia have proposed a Method for uniting the Councils of it's Sister Colonies; and it appearing to this House to be a Measure very wise and Salutary is chearfully received and heartily adopted.

With very great Respect to your honourable Assembly, and in Confidence that a Matter which so nearly affects the Safety of each Colony will be assisted by it's wise Councils; permit this House to inclose a Copy of the Resolutions lately entered into here, and to request that you'll Communicate the same at a Convenient Opportunity.

In the Name & by order of the House

I have the Honor to be with great Truth & regard

S^r Your most Obedient hum^{ble} Servant

THOMAS CUSHING Speaker

“To the Speaker of the Hon^{ble} House of Representatives of the Province of Merryland ”

Institut de France was established in 1793 and took the place of the 3 Academies: 1) Académie française; 2) Académie des inscriptions et belles-lettres, and 3) Académie des sciences. It was divided into 3 classes: 1) Sciences physiques et mathématiques; 2) Sciences morales et politiques, and 3) Littérature et beaux-arts.

In 1803 a new constitution was given to the Institute, Classe des sciences morales et politiques was abolished, and the Institute divided into 4 new classes: 1) Sciences physiques et mathématiques, 2) Langue et littérature française, 3) Histoire et littérature ancienne, 4) Beaux-arts.

In 1816 the older designations of Academies were revived, and in 1833 Académie des sciences morales et politiques was established.

The Institut de France consists now of 5 Academies: 1) Académie française; 2) Académie des inscriptions et belles-lettres; 3) Académie des sciences; 4) Académie des sciences morales et politiques, and 5) Académie des beaux-arts.

In this list all the publications of these Academies are entered under the heading "Institut de France" even previous to 1793, in order not to scatter them under many headings.

PHILIP LIVINGSTON.

Letter: Livingston (Philip). New York, Jan. 23, 1766. To Jelles Fonda, 'At Mohawks Country.' Sends him a bill of £30 18s. for blankets, gunpowder, and lead; desires speedy payment, as the debt is over two years old. The account follows, in a different hand. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in the possession of F. J. Dreer Esq. Phila. 1 page. F°. With a wood engraving, on India paper, of the Monument of P. Livingston York, N. Y. EM. 2586

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. 45. Philip Livingston's tomb is at York, Penn., not N. Y.

Letter: Livingston (Philip). New York, Jan. 5, 1772. For his daughter, Catherine [Mrs. Stephen] Van Rensselaer. Wishes her a happy new year and hopes she will live to see her children grow up; little Stephen has been here a fortnight, and has left for home with Aunt Peter and Harry; expects the members of the Assembly daily; if [Abraham] Ten Broeck comes with them he will consult him as to Catherine's affairs. A. L. S. 1 page. 4°. EM. 2587

Catherine, daughter of Philip Livingston, married Stephen Van Rensselaer, the seventh patroon; their son was Gen. Stephen Van Rensselaer.

Letter: Livingston (Robert). Manor Livingston, [N. Y.,] May 28, 1756. [To Charles De

Witt, Esophus, N. Y.] Regrets to learn that he is still invested by the savages; Oswego is to be provisioned and garrisoned with 2,000 men; Gen. Shirley will move probably on Crown Point; Abraham DeLamatre ought to acknowledge, by grinding a certain amount of Livingston's wheat every year, benefit done him by Livingston's bringing his flour into repute; he thinks it might be worth while for De Witt to follow the army as a trader; advises him to see [William] Alexander about it and to offer him a one-third interest; Dr. Vrimont has been called by Kinderhook, Claverack, and the Manor, at £120 per annum. A. L. S. 2 pp. F°. EM. 2588

The address has been added in pencil.

Letter: Livingston (John Henry). New York, June 26, 1772. To —. He earnestly wishes the prosperity of the Dutch church; the timely adoption of the English language would have preserved among them many of their chief families; a brotherly connection between their teachers, and effective measures for educating divines among themselves would have made the church flourish; in the recent assembly of divines and elders, sixty-two congregations united and signed the articles drawn up last fall and approved since by the Classis; they decided not to interfere in the affair of Dr. [Hermanus] Meyer at Kingston; he thinks it inadvisable to bring the dispute into the civil courts, and recommends arbitration; the unhappy affair of the Queen of Denmark and the Count de Struensee is not yet determined. Among the important gifts received this month were 28 volumes and 49 pamphlets from Mr. S. P. Avery; 32 volumes from the Government of New South Wales; 4 volumes of "Chartularium," from the Ministère de l'Instruction de France; 13 volumes of "Tidsskrift für Kunstindustrie" from the publisher; 4 volumes from the Government of Bengal. There were also received in July, 21 volumes and 55 pamphlets, from Dr. S. A. Green, which were wrongly credited to the Massachusetts Historical Society.

THE DISSOLUTION OF THE VIRGINIA ASSEMBLY IN MAY, 1769.

D^r. SIR

Your fav^r. by the Lord Camden came safe to hand, and was much pleased to hear of y^r. health, I Assure you there must be a Considerable Change in me if you are soon forgott, I wish you on your part may Retain a Mutual Remembrance as long, for I shall ever think of you as of a man whom I have Always Esteem'd

You Inform me that the Sentim^{ts}. of the people of Britain are much changed in Respect to America. I wish most fervently that every day may produce fresh Instances in support of that Opinion, but if our publick prints are in the least to be Depended on, every Acc^t. from your side of the water are more Alarming to us, You Judge very properly when you Advise as the best security we have against the measures of a Rapacious Ministry is to Convince them by our frugality and Industry how well we may live Independant of them, as a plan of liveing as much within our selves as Possible, is warmly talked of in this as well as the other Colonies, hope soon to see Associations Enter'd into for that purpose, and when ever this takes place it must produce the Interposition of the trading people of Britain and Consequently work a favourable Change for us—

Lord Bottetourt mett our Assembly the 8th Inst, he made a most splendid Appearance in his way from the Pallace to the Capital in his State Coach drawn by six fine horses in trapings, wth six Attendance in Genteel Livery walking, three on each side his Coach, he Deliver'd his speech to the Assembly in full Confidence of there Compliance in his Instructions but to his Surprise and Mortification in a few days the Assembly Unanimously (the Attorney Excepted) enter'd into some Necessary Resolves w^{ch}. seem'd to provoke his lordship, and as Im inform'd Desolved the Assembly in Passion, he has been seen in his park in all the Appearance of Violent Agitation Runing and Walking Alternately a Sloop of war was Dispatch'd the day after the Desolution to England therefore you will Probably see the Resolves before this Reaches you— as to News of Marriages Deaths &c. I Refer you to M^r. Washington's Letter—

By Miss Sally Lee's desire I am to Inform you that she Indeavour'd to be very Angry at your not writing to her, but if you will write a few Lines by next opp^y. the storm may blow over—please offer my Compliments to Doct^r. Lee and believe me to be wth.

Sincerity Dr. Sir

Y^r. Affectionate Very Hb^e. Serv^t.

THOMAS McKEAN ON AMERICAN AFFAIRS IN 1780.

(From the original manuscript now in the New York Public Library.)

DEAR SIR,

You will herewith receive the Votes & Laws of this State passed during the last Sitting of the General Assembly, which are transmitted thro' me by the President and Supreme Executive Council to you. It is wished that the Votes & Laws of each State could be sent thro' the like Channel to the other States; this would conduce to a uniformity of proceedings and to the ease & improvement of legislation throughout the United States.

The public duty I am obliged to perform is too much for me, and as our State affords me no relief in Congress I shall be obliged to decline the Delegation. The truth is, should my health & strength hold out, my finances will not; while I continue in the station I will support the Rank of a Deputy of the State, and this I find so expensive in these times that without some support from the Government I cannot endure it much longer. I have not received a farthing since the first of January 1779, and I am not a single day out of Congress unless when attending some court of Justice, so that I cannot attend in the least to my private affairs, nor to the wants of my family: however I will endeavor to persevere until the General Assembly meet again, especially as the difficulties & dangers we have had to encounter, owing to our change of system for the support of the war by taxes & loans, are not yet over. For God's sake exert yourself in enforcing the collection & payment of the public taxes, or we may yet be ruined; if we had but money we could finish the war in all probability the present campaign, notwithstanding the loss of South Carolina.

A fleet of eight sail of the Line, besides several frigates & armed transports, with 5,000 troops on board, are safely arrived at Rhode Island from France, sent for our assistance by our great and good Ally, whom God protect. This fleet is superior to that under Admirals Graves & Arbuthnot, notwithstanding what you may have seen or heard to the [con]trary. Be that as it may, believe me we shall be vastly superior to the Enemy on this Continent very soon. Keep this hint to yourself, as you love your Country; verbum sat sapienti.—The Tories will propagate, and, I will suppose, do believe the contrary; I hope they will gain credit for a time.—Notwithstanding the res arduæ domi, and appearances abroad, you see I have some consolation in being a member of Congress; and if I had not now and then these grateful animating cordials, yet I [could] not quit the Helm in the midst of a storm.

I cannot conclude without informing you, that Delaware at present stands high in the Opinion of Congress, and that if they had revised and altered the tender law, and adopted the plan of discharging the national debt of the 18th. of March last (for which omissions they are alone censured) they would have stood higher than any State in the Union.

Please to present my compliments to Chief Justice Killen, & your Brother. I am, dear Sir,

Your most obedient humble servant
THO M:KEAN

PHILADELPHIA.

JOHN WITHERSPOON.

Letter: Witherspoon (John). Tusculum, [N. J.], July 18, 1783. To [François Barbé de] Marbois, Philadelphia. Acknowledges a letter of the 14th by Mr. Delandes, to the education of whose son he will pay the strictest attention; he has now several young French gentlemen; he has never heard anything against Mr. Lavalette; the latter came to Princeton to teach French; he gave him encouragement, having tried himself to introduce a knowledge of the language, before the war; Lavalette left only because he could not gain a sufficient support. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in the possession of F. J. Dreer, Esq. Phila. 2 pp. F°. With a small wood engraving, on India paper, of the Res. of John Witherspoon Mercer Co. N. J. EM. 2757

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. 27.

Letter: Witherspoon (John). Princeton, [N. J.], Mar. 9, 1778. To Elias Boudinot, Commissary of Prisoners, at Headquarters [Valley Forge, Penn.]. He learns from Capt. Spear and Capt. Walker that Boudinot has offered them a pass to go to New York or Philadelphia and negotiate an exchange for themselves, provided they could get someone to be security; [Richard] Stockton would have drawn the bond, but did not know what form or what sum was required; Walter Buchanan has offered to be security for Capt. Spear, and he offers himself for both; asks that a pass be sent, with instructions as to the bond. A. L. S. 1 page. 4°. EM. 2758

Letter: Phelps (Charles). Philadelphia, Sept. 14, 1779. To the Legislature of New York, Kingston. On arriving he delivered to the President of Congress the writings from the Legislature and all papers transmitted relative to Vermont; next day [Sept. 8th] a committee of five was appointed to consider the same; in the mean time he strove to influence members, urging the intolerable usurpation and tyranny of Vermont, and the necessity of resorting to arms unless Congress should interpose; he thought it best that some one other than President Jay should press the matter in Congress, and therefore applied to [John] Dickinson, stating that the committee meant to bring in a report assigning a certain day on which Vermont should show cause why New York should not extend jurisdiction over the district in question, and over those inhabitants who acknowledge themselves to be citizens of New York; he then set forth at length his objections to this report, and submitted to Dickinson a proper form for a report, ordering that the prior claimants, that is the three states claiming jurisdiction, should be heard before Vermont. A. L. S. 4 pp. F°. EM. 2778

For the committee of five and the subsequent proceedings of Congress see the Journals for Sept. 8 and 24, 1779.

Letter: Atlee (Samuel John). [Philadelphia?] Apr. 6, 1778. To Cæsar Rodney. The bearer, Alexander Stewart, commended himself to the writer by his behaviour on Aug. 27th, 1776 [battle of Long Island]; he was then a lieutenant in the Delaware regiment, and though his parents desire that he should enter into the Hospital, he chooses to continue in the military line, provided justice is done to his merit and promotion is secured him according to his former rank in the regiment; Atlee recommends him to the Executive Council in the strongest manner. A. L. S. Endorsed: "Letter from Col. Atlee Augt. 1776." 1 page. 8°. EM. 2779

Alexander Stewart, who was appointed 2d Lieutenant in the Delaware regiment on Jan. 18, 1776, is stated to have been "killed at Long Island 27th August, 1776," in F. B. Heitman's Historical register of Officers of the Continental Army, Phila., 1893, p. 383.

RICHARD STOCKTON.

Letter: Stockton (Richard [and Clymer (George)]). Albany, [N. Y.,] Nov. 10, 1776. To the Congress of the United States [Philadelphia]. They wrote to Congress Oct. 26th from Saratoga; after waiting vainly to hear from Gen. Gates, agreeably to his letter of the 24th, they went on to Ticonderoga, where they expected to share in a repulse of Gen. Carlton, but learned instead that he had evacuated Crown Point; they forward a letter from Gen. Gates; they urged strongly the Massachusetts commissioners to suspend the declaration of their powers until Congress should be advised of this extraordinary step; they purpose to set out on their return next day. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in the possession of Mr. Olmsted. 2 pp. F°. With a small wood engraving, on India paper, of the Res. of R. Stockton, Princeton N. J.

Letter: Gordon (William). Jamaica Plain, [Mass.,] July 30, 1775. To Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, Weathersfield [Wethersfield, Conn.]. He sets out for Philadelphia in a month; he still retains an affection for his native country and wishes to have matters accommodated without a total separation; Great Britain will be reduced to great distress, especially if Spain and France make war on her; hopes it may prove her reformation and not her destruction; by the arrival of Gen. Washington affairs have been brought to better order; it was a kind providence that H's [Thomas Hutchinson's] letter-books were discovered; the publications have ruined him with many, and future ones will complete his overthrow; the affair of Lexington led people to plant more corn than usual, in apprehension of a scarcity; he hopes for an increased spirit of religion; Mr. Williams will show her extracts from the Colonel's letters, which he will not publish needlessly if his further conduct is not hostile to America. from their legislatures to regulate trade; their proceedings are now before Congress, which will recommend the other states to do likewise; he is much alarmed with Gen. Washington's proclamation of Jan. 25th; the General has assumed the legislative and executive powers of government in all the states; Clark has moved therefore that Congress pass a resolution for preventing such fatal consequences and the establishment of such a precedent; whatever the issue in Congress, he hopes that the Legislature will not tamely submit to a power unknown in their constitution; a regulation for providing carriages for the army, to prevent impressment of them, has long been before Congress; the Legislature ought to pass a law regulating such impressment; [Jonathan D.] Sergeant talks of resigning, and [Richard] Stockton cannot act; forces are marching against the Tories in Maryland; Congress will soon remove to Lancaster, partly because of the extravagant price of living here. Vol. II.	OCTOBER, 1898.	No. 10.

REPORT FOR SEPTEMBER, 1898.

During the month of September there were received at the Library by purchase 687 books and 166 pamphlets, and by gift 755 books and 1,709 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 2,307 books and 2,442 pamphlets, for which purpose 18,992 cards and 1,080 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	1,418	5,892
Number of volumes.....	3,143	22,455
Daily average of readers.....	55	227

During the summer an engine and dynamo, having sufficient power for the lighting of the Astor Building, have been put in place and are now in regular service and working very satisfactorily. A considerable number of additional lamps has been introduced on the first story in the catalogue room, and in the annex rooms, where books are stored.

The Stuart room at the Lenox Building has been closed during the month to permit of the cataloguing and re-arrangement of the books in the collection. This work has been completed, and the room was again opened to visitors on October third. The alterations in the former exhibition room of the Lenox Building have been nearly finished. Sixteen tables, which will seat about fifty readers, are arranged in this room, and electric light has been introduced. The west end has been railed off, and thirty special double cases have been placed in the enclosure for shelving the Drexel musical collection and the musical collection of the Astor, which has been transferred. It is hoped that this new reading room may be ready to be opened on November first, by which time the American local histories and American genealogies will have been transferred and properly arranged on the shelves at the east end, and the musical collection will have been put into sufficient order to be available for the use of readers.

Special attention has been paid to the enlargement of the Hebrew collection, by means of the fund for Semitic literature, generously placed at the disposal of the Library by Mr. Jacob H. Schiff. In recent Hebraic literature, including modern Judæo-German literature of this country, and in its sets and current issues of Jewish periodicals, this Library already has one of the best, if not the best, collections of its kind in the United States, and it is desired to make it as complete as possible in reports of all Jewish charities, institutions and societies in this country. It is hoped that the officers of such institutions will aid in making the files of this collection complete in all reports and documents issued by them or relating to their work.

Among the important gifts received this month were 2 volumes from the Ministre de l'Instruction de Belgique; 58 volumes and 4 pamphlets from H. E. Deats; 5 volumes from the Secretary of State for India; 39 pamphlets from the "Ingeniörforening," Denmark; 2 volumes from the Peabody Institute; 11 volumes from the Railway Branch N. Y. C. Y. M. C. A.; 285 pamphlets from the Social Reform Club; 2 volumes from the Victoria Institute; and a large collection of theatrical programmes, criticisms, etc., from H. W. Thompson.

REPORT OF THE DIRECTOR

FOR THE YEAR ENDING JUNE 30, 1898.

NEW YORK, July 1, 1898.

Hon. JOHN BIGELOW,

President of the New York Public Library.

SIR:

I have the honor to submit the following report of the work of this Library for the fiscal year 1897-98, including some data for the first half of the calendar year, 1897.

The most important new feature of this work was the obtaining of plans for a new Library Building to be erected by the City of New York upon the site occupied by the reservoir on Fifth Avenue, between Fortieth and Forty-second Streets, and the making of a contract with the City of New York providing that this building shall be occupied by the New York Public Library so long as it shall maintain a public library and reading-room therein.

The plans were obtained by means of two successive architectural competitions, the first open to all architects doing business within the limits of Greater New York, the second limited to twelve competitors of whom six were chosen from those taking part in the first competition and six chosen from other architects. Eighty-eight architects took part in the first competition, which closed on the fifteenth of July, 1897.

The second competition closed on the first of November, 1897, and the jury of award, composed of three architects selected by the competing architects, three members of the Board of Trustees, and the Director of the Library, selected three of the designs as being the most meritorious. From these three sets of plans the Board of Trustees selected the one which the jury of award had declared to be the best, and of exceptional merit, being the set sent in by Carrère & Hastings, architects, of New York.

These plans, approved by the Board, were submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of the City of New York, which, by resolution dated December 1, 1897, approved them and authorized and requested the Department of Public Parks to remove the reservoir on Bryant Park and to erect, construct, maintain, equip and furnish in said Bryant Park a suitable and appropriate fireproof building in accordance with the plans thus approved. The Department of Public Parks was authorized and requested to employ Messrs. Carrère & Hastings to prepare detailed drawings, forms of contract and specifications for said building.

At the same time the contract with the New York Public Library was approved and ordered to be executed on behalf of the City, and this contract was duly signed and sealed on the 8th day of December, 1897. This contract provided that the City of New York should let to the New York Public Library the library building to be erected upon Bryant Park, to have and to hold so long as it shall continue to maintain a public library and reading room therein and so long as it shall use and occupy such building for the purpose of maintaining therein a public library and reading room and carrying on the objects and purposes of said corporation; that as soon after the completion and equipment of said building as practicable the New York Public Library shall place and arrange in said building its library and collections, and shall have and enjoy the exclusive use of the whole of said building; that the said library shall be accessible at all reasonable hours and times for general use, free of expense to persons resorting thereto, one or more of the reading rooms to be open and accessible to the public upon every day of the week except Sundays, from at least nine o'clock A.M. until at least nine o'clock P.M., and on Sundays from one o'clock P.M. until nine o'clock P.M.; and that there shall be established and maintained in the said library a free circulating branch open to the public during the day time on Sunday and during the evening of each other day of the week, as may be prescribed by the Board of Trustees.

On the 6th day of December, 1897, the Department of Public Parks adopted resolutions to the effect that it would proceed to construct the building in Bryant Park in accordance with the plans approved by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment, the said building to be constructed either of marble or Indiana limestone, or such other stone as may hereafter be suggested by the architects and approved by the Trustees of the New York Public Library and by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment; the said building to be fireproof, walls of solid masonry, and plumbing, machinery, heating, ventilating, electric lighting, boilers and all mechanical appliances to be of the most approved type and make; that Messrs. Carrère & Hastings are employed as architects and are instructed to proceed forthwith to prepare drawings, forms of contract and specifications, and that they are to report as to the best method of removing the reservoir and as to the expediency of using the materials composing the reservoir or some part thereof in and about the erection and construction of the new building. On the 9th of December the Department of Public Parks entered into a formal contract with Messrs. Carrère & Hastings for their services as architects in the construction, equipment, fixtures, fittings and accessories, and in the supervision thereof, in the erection and completion for occupation of the New York Public Library in Bryant Park in the City of New York.

The sketch plans for this building have been published in the Bulletin of the New York Public Library for January and February, 1898. They provide for a building 350 feet in length from north to south, and 250 feet wide from east to west, providing shelving for about 1,300,000 volumes and a seating capacity for about 800 readers in its main reading room.

In accordance with the instructions of the Department of Public Parks, the architects proceeded to prepare forms of contract for removing the reservoir and for disposing of the materials of which it is composed, and made their report, submitting these forms to the Department of Public Parks, on February 16th, 1898. The plans and specifications thus submitted were duly approved by the Park Board on the 3d day of March, 1898, and the resolution of the Park Board approving the said plans for the removal of the reservoir, with a requisition for the amount of $150,000, and requesting the sale of bonds to that amount, was submitted to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on March 13th, 1898.

SHELF DEPARTMENT.

The number of volumes received by the shelf department, entered in the accessions catalogue and placed on the shelves during the fiscal year, was 32,137, of which 20,579 were purchases and 11,558 were gifts. There were also accessioned 19,512 pamphlets, of which 5,059 were purchases and 14,453 gifts.

On the 30th of June, 1898, there were on the shelves and available for the use of the public 425,066 volumes and about 100,000 pamphlets. About 5,000 of the books and 6,000 of the pamphlets accessioned had been received during the year 1896-97.

The number of volumes actually received at the library during the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1898, was 27,869, of which 16,649 were purchases and 11,220 gifts. There were also received during this fiscal year 35,412 pamphlets, of which 4,298 were purchases and 31,114 gifts. A considerable number of the pamphlets received during the year as gifts are duplicates.

The work of classification and re-arrangement of the books on the shelves in accordance with the new plan of relative location has gone on steadily throughout the year. At the Lenox all the books except those in the Stuart Collection are arranged according to the new classification as it stands at present. At the Astor the subjects of Economics, Sociology (except Customs and Public Hygiene), Useful Arts (except Horticulture and Forestry), Botany, General History, History of Europe, of Greece and of Italy, and American literature have been arranged, the books and pamphlets marked with the new relative location marks, and corresponding marks placed in the new catalogues.

This requires that for each book or pamphlet both the author and subject titles must be found in the printed or in the card catalogues, and the old fixed location marks changed. In many cases either no subject title or no author title can be found in the catalogues and it is necessary to prepare one, and a considerable number of pamphlets have been found which were totally uncatalogued; while in a certain number of cases the books corresponding to the old cards have not yet been found or found only after an extended search. The total number of books reclassified and marked with the new location marks, in the Astor, on the 30th of June, includes about 77,000 volumes and 15,000 pamphlets. The department of sociology contains 11,107 volumes; the department of economics, 7,413 volumes, and the department of useful arts, 14,579 volumes.

The collection of public documents has been roughly arranged, but is not yet marked with the new marks.

The Hebrew collection has been arranged in accordance with the new system of classification and includes 3,271 volumes, but a considerable number of these are not yet catalogued.

To provide for the large accessions of the year, and to relieve the crowding and double banking of shelves in certain departments, about 8,000 feet of additional shelving have been set up. Most of this shelving has been placed in four rooms, marked Annex B, C, D and F, on the main floor of the Astor.

3,605 volumes have been bound for the Library during the year, and about 450 volumes have been put up in manila rope paper covers.

A small bindery was established in the Astor Building in July, 1897, and during the year 1,190 volumes have been repaired in this establishment, a number of maps have been mounted, and 818 volumes of tracts and documents taken apart carefully for re-arrangement.

The north hall on the main floor at the Lenox, formerly occupied by the exhibit of rare and early printed books now removed to the upper floor, has been arranged for a supplementary special reading room to contain the department of music and American genealogies and town histories. The entire collection of musical literature at the Astor, with the exception of a few volumes retained in the open reference department, has been transferred to the Lenox and placed in this room, to which has also been transferred the Drexel collection of music. This last is shelved on separate stacks at the western end of the room and contains 5,000 volumes and 1,300 pamphlets. The Astor collection contains 2,800 volumes and 200 pamphlets, making in all 7,800 volumes and 1,500 pamphlets. The collection of American town histories and genealogies, with other related subjects to be placed in this reading room, comprises about 7,500 volumes, of which 1,660 are genealogies.

During the year the greater part of the Library of the American Bible Society, comprising about 4,000 volumes, has been transferred from the Bible House to the Lenox Building, where it has been shelved in the special department with the Lenox Collection of Bibles, making an aggregate collection of 10,000 volumes.

CATALOGUE DEPARTMENT.

During the year there were catalogued 51,415 volumes and 45,087 pamphlets, for which purpose there were written 225,664 cards and 20,660 slips for printing, from each of which slips five cards were obtained.

All the new books received during the year, including about 20,000 volumes and 4,000 pamphlets, have been catalogued. The remainder of the work has been on the old collections.

The new index catalogue in the reading room of the Astor contained, on the 30th of June, 1898, 240,000 cards; that at the Lenox about 51,150 cards.

The transfer of the small card catalogue to the index catalogue, by copying on full-sized cards, has been going on pari passu with the work of reclassification. At the Lenox the more recent books and pamphlets relating to American state and town history, American genealogy, American political history, biography and geography in general, have been catalogued on cards which have been placed in the public catalogue and in the official catalogue, which contains 26,575 cards. The 12,000 volumes of the R. L. Stuart collection have now been catalogued, making 38,850 cards, which are awaiting reclassification before being marked and filed in the public and official catalogues.

The collection of 15th century printed books (incunabula), about 400 volumes, has all been catalogued, and the 4,000 cards prepared for this purpose have been filed. Of the early Americana about 500 volumes, printed in the 16th century, have been catalogued. This work is still in progress.

In the manuscript department 4,600 printed cards and 3,200 manuscript cards have been filed, representing work mainly on the Emmet collection of manuscripts and prints. A catalogue of the maps is in progress and 1,400 cards on this subject have been written and filed.

On the first of January, 1898, this Library began to furnish index slips of certain periodicals in co-operation with the Boston Public Library, the Library of Harvard University, the Library of Columbia University and the John Crerar Library of Chicago, these slips being printed and the cards thus resulting distributed to the several libraries. From this source we have received 1,698 index cards which are filed in the public catalogue at the Astor.

This Library has also commenced the indexing of about 260 journals and periodicals not included in the co-operative list, and from this source 4,904 title cards have been placed in the public catalogue.

This work of indexing is going on for the current numbers as received, and whenever the indexer has time to spare, work is done on the preceding volumes of the series. In time it is hoped to obtain a good working index of the principal subjects treated in all these periodicals. A list of the current periodicals which are indexed is appended (B), those which are indexed in co-operation with other libraries being noted separately in Appendix C.

READERS' DEPARTMENT.

The total number of readers who have visited the two buildings during the year is 103,945, of whom 81,643 were at the Astor and 22,302 at the Lenox. The daily average of readers was 341, the greatest number, 450, coming in the month of January, 1898, and the smallest number, 248, in July, 1897 (see tables D and E appended).

The appended tables D and F give the statistics of volumes called for at the Astor and Lenox during the fiscal year. These are exclusive of the use made of the volumes on the open reference shelves, of which there are at the Astor 4,300, and at the Lenox, 4,724 volumes.

It will be seen that of the 284,464 volumes called for at the Astor, 28,536, or 10 per cent., were in the department of American history; 25,165, or 8½ per cent., were in the department of European history; 54,158, or 19 per cent., in the department of English and American literature; 52,606, or 18½ per cent., in the department of applied science; 28,815, or 10½ per cent., in the department of law, economics, sociology and education; 19,550, or 6½ per cent., in the department of art, archæology, architecture and music; and 15,806 in the department of religion and philosophy, a percentage of 5½.

At the Lenox the total number of volumes called for was 54,329; the number of volumes of American history being 34,268, or 63 per cent.

It has been found necessary to much reduce the number of alcove privileges, in part because of the considerable disturbance of the shelves which is going on in the process of reclassification, and in part because it has become necessary to fill the alcoves themselves with additional shelves to accommodate the volume of accessions which is pouring in. In the course of the coming year it is probable that all the alcoves will be thus filled up with shelves and that alcove privileges will have to be abolished until the new building is obtained. In the meantime, however, the seats in the reading rooms have been numbered and every effort is made to furnish books to enquirers on the system used in the reading room of the British Museum. In the increasingly crowded condition of the shelves and alcoves, however, it is not possible to give as free access to the books in certain special departments as is desirable, and the resources of the Library cannot be made fully available to searchers and special investigators until the new building is completed.

The publication of the Bulletin of the New York Public Library, commenced on the first of January, 1897, has been continued, and the size was increased, beginning with January, 1898. The volume for 1897 contains 367 pages, and the plan adopted of giving in each number a copy of some original manuscript in the Library and a list of some particular class of books appears to have given general satisfaction. The lists of periodicals, classified broadly according to subjects, which have been published in the Bulletin include also those in the Library of Columbia University, and it is intended to continue these lists to cover all the periodicals in the two Libraries.

PERIODICAL DEPARTMENT.

The total number of readers in the periodical department for the current fiscal year was 16,611, there being a daily average of 55. In addition to the periodicals contained on the open reference shelves, 128,009 numbers of periodicals were called for, being a daily average of 473.

The total number of current periodicals received at the Library is 2,998, of which 527 are gifts. These periodicals include 34 daily newspapers, of which 22 are American, 1 British, 2 French, 4 German and 3 Spanish; 420 weeklies, of which 199 are American, 75 British, 56 French, and 72 German and 8 Italian; 139 fortnightlies and semi-monthlies, of which 34 are American, 26 French and 58 German; 828 monthlies, of which 360 are American, 132 British, 146 French and 142 German; 167 bi-monthlies, of which 27 are American, 35 British, 54 French, 37 German; 341 quarterlies, of which 97 are American, 74 British, 62 French, 87 German and 12 Italian; and 395 annuals, of which 37 are American, 88 British, 99 French, 105 German and 45 Italian.

The total number of periodicals obtained by purchase includes 448 American, 518 British, 564 French, 676 German, 126 Italian, 13 Belgian, 16 Dutch, 2 Greek, 4 Japanese, 3 Polish, 13 Russian, 39 Scandinavian, 17 Spanish and 19 Swiss.

To complete the files of old periodicals and transactions of Societies, there were added during the year 6,994 volumes. These purchases were made chiefly to complete the files in the departments of American History, English History and archæology, French history and archæology, history of the Netherlands, general science and Jewish history and literature.

The total collection of periodicals and transactions in the Library now includes about 45,000 volumes distributed in the different departments as follows:

Of the Schiff Fund for the purchase of Semitic literature $1,942.71 was expended during the fiscal year in the purchase and binding of 875 volumes, chiefly in Hebrew and Arabic. The number of periodicals relating to the Jews now taken by the Library is 52, of which 20 are American, 4 British, 7 French, 15 German, 6 Russian and other nationalities.

The books relating to the history and literature of the Jews have been brought together at the west end of the north hall of the Astor Library and placed under the charge of a competent Hebrew scholar, especially familiar with rabbinical literature. The use of this department of the Library is constantly increasing.

A number of applications have been made to the Library by women desirous of obtaining instruction in library work and methods, and especially in cataloguing and classification. Within the last eighteen months thirty persons thus applying have been received as pupils on presenting satisfactory evidence of general education and good character. As fast as vacancies have occurred these have been filled by selection from these pupils,—the appointments being temporary only. In all, fourteen such appointments have been made, and the results have been very satisfactory. It is distinctly understood that when a person is accepted as a pupil no guarantee is given as to any appointment in the library.

The principal books received by gift and by purchase have been duly noted in the monthly Bulletins and only a few of the most important gifts need be mentioned here:

A collection of manuscripts, memorandum books, and various publications relating to international exchanges, made by Alexander Vattermare, given by Mr. John Bigelow. This lot is supplementary to the collection given by Mr. Bigelow in 1896:

Several valuable manuscripts given by Mr. John S. Kennedy, including the Madison Papers, 200 documents; the Barbour Papers, 289 documents; Captain Jabez Fitch's Diary, 1776-1777, etc.

Numerous valuable works given by Mr. Maitland, including the Virginia manuscripts of John Smyth of Nibley, 1613-1634; Howgill's Heart of New England hardened through wickedness, 1659; Fox's Secret works of a cruel people made manifest, 1659; Stobnicza's Introductio Ptholomei Cosmographiam, Cracovico, 1512; several of the earliest publications relating to the discovery of Peru, 1534; Alvares' Ho Preste Joam das Indias, 1540; Pusey's Proteus Ecclesiasticus, Philadelphia, 1703; Williams' Redeemed captive, Boston, 1720; and a number of the early editions of the New England Primer and other elementary books for children, 1750-1850.

A large number of volumes given by Mr. S. P. Avery, including many of special interest.

The bequest of Mrs. Hicks-Lord, comprising Audubon's Quadrupeds of America, three volumes, large folio, 1845-48; and Bradford's Arctic regions, large folio, 1873.

Fac-similes of two Mexican manuscripts, reproduced in colors, given by the Duc de Loubat.

A series of catalogues and bibliographical lists, given by the Earl of Crawford and Balcarres.

Nearly 200 volumes and about 400 pamphlets, given by Rev. E. W. Gilman, D.D.

A collection of business letters from Mr. James Lenox to Mr. Edward C. Allen, of London, in relation to books, 1859-1879, given by Mr. Allen.

The manuscript of Grover Cleveland's letter accepting the nomination for the governorship of New York in 1882, given by Mr. George P. Parker, U. S. Consul at Birmingham.

A collection of books on fishing and hunting, consisting of 714 volumes, given by Mr. J. L. Cadwalader.

A miscellaneous collection of 107 volumes and 206 pamphlets, given by Mr. R. R. Bowker.

From the "Evening Post," 638 volumes and 237 pamphlets and periodicals.

From the Hospital Book and Newspaper Society, 210 volumes and 714 pamphlets.

A collection relating to the Eleventh Census of the United States, consisting of 294 volumes and 124 pamphlets.

From Messrs. H. V. & H. W. Poor, 247 volumes and 364 pamphlets, relating chiefly to railroad matters.

From the United Brotherhood of Cloakmakers, 412 pamphlets.

In conclusion, I take great pleasure in reporting that the members of the staff of the Library have been zealous and efficient in their work. The monthly meetings of the staff, for discussions on the various problems of the Library, have been well attended, and some interesting and suggestive papers have been presented. I am especially indebted to Mr. Eames, in charge of the work in the Lenox Building and Editor of the Bulletin; Mr. Bierstadt, in charge of the Readers' Department at the Astor; Mr. Meissner, the head of the Catalogue Department; Mr. Weitenkampf, the head of the Shelf Department; Mr. Bjerregaarde, who has been engaged in the new Classification; Mr. Lockwood, the Business Superintendent; Mrs. Hess, in charge of the Periodical Department; Miss Hasse, in charge of the Public Documents; and Professor Gottheil and Mr. Freidus, in the Semitic Department, for their cordial coöperation and valuable suggestions, throughout the year.

Very respectfully,

JOHN S. BILLINGS,
Director.

OPINION OF THE CONFEDERATE ATTORNEY-GENERAL ON THE CONSTITUTIONALITY OF A TAX UPON THE SALARIES OF JUDGES.

(From the original manuscript records now in the New York Public Library.)

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,

RICHMOND, May 3^d, 1864.

TO THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY,
SIR:

The letter of Hon: Ed. J. Harden, which you have referred to me for advice, presents the following question:—Does the 7th Section of the “Act to lay taxes for the common defence, and carry on the Government of the Confederate States,” approved 24th April, 1863, subject to taxation the salaries of the Judges of the Confederate States? And, if so, is it constitutional?

The 7th Section is in these words—“That upon the salaries of all salaried persons, serving in any capacity whatever, except upon the salaries of persons in the military or naval service, there shall be levied and collected a tax of one per centum on the gross amount of such salary, when not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars, and two per centum, upon any excess over that amount, to be levied and collected, at the end of each year, &c.”—

The language of the section is very broad. The tax is imposed upon the salaries of “all salaried persons, serving in any capacity whatever,” except those of certain officers specially mentioned. And this very exception shows more clearly, if possible, the universal scope of the Act. Where the language is so explicit and imperative, I am not aware of any principle upon which another exception can be added to those contained in the Act. There is no room for construction, and it must be held that it was the intent of the Act to embrace the Salaries of the Confederate Judges.—

But I am equally clear in the opinion, that this intent is unconstitutional and illegal. The Constitution, Art III, Section 1, provides, that “the Judges, both of the Supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their offices, during good behaviour, and shall, at stated intervals, receive for their services, a compensation which shall not be diminished, during their continuance in office.”—

These provisions secure, as far as human wisdom can do so, the independence of the Judges in the tenure of their office, and in the amount of their compensation. They cannot be too highly estimated, nor too sacredly regarded. “Next to permanence in office,” says the Federalist, “nothing can contribute more to the independence of the Judges, than a fixed provision for their support * * * * * In the general course of human nature, a power over a man's subsistence, amounts to a power over his will. And we can never hope to see realized in practice the complete separation of the judicial from the legislative power, in any system which leaves the former dependent, for pecuniary resource, upon the occasional grants of the latter.”—

To preserve the Country from the curse of a dependent and venal Judiciary, it is of the last importance that the provisions of the Constitution should be rigidly observed. To evade them by indirection, may be more dangerous than to attack them openly; for thus encroachments by small degrees, may grow into binding precedents, before public attention is aroused to their legitimate tendency. The only safety is in resisting the evil at its first approach, in whatever shape it may come.

Congress is forbidden to diminish the salaries of the Judges; and it is as much a violation of the prohibition to do it in one way, as in another—indirectly, as directly. That Congress cannot pass an Act directly reducing the salaries by one fourth their amount, will be readily admitted. But what difference is there between such an Act, and an Act taxing them to one fourth of their amount? The result is precisely the same. The Judges lose one fourth of their compensation by the legislation of Congress. And it is just this result which the Constitution prohibits, whatever may be the form in which it is attempted.

If a tax of twenty-five per cent is unconstitutional, a tax of one per cent must be equally so. The difference is in degree only, not in principle.—

The question suggests its own answer; and I am at a loss how to argue a proposition so plain.

If it be needed, the weight of judicial authority is not wanting to this opinion.

I am not aware of any case decided in the Courts of the U. S. I believe no attempt was ever made under that Government to tax the Salaries of the Judges.

The Constitution of 1790, of Pennsylvania, contained this provision:—"The Judges of the Supreme Court, and the Presidents of the several Courts of Common Pleas, shall, at stated times, receive for their services an adequate compensation to be fixed by law, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office, but they shall receive no fees or perquisites of office, nor hold any other office of profit, under the Commonwealth."—

In 1841, the Legislature of that State passed an Act assessing a tax of two per cent upon the Salaries of the Judges. But the Supreme Court unanimously decided that the Act was unconstitutional and void. 5 Watts & Serg. 403.

Attorney-General.

Letter: Rush (Benjamin). Philadelphia, Oct. 22, 1806. To the Earl of Buchan. He has deferred answering the letter by Dr. [Nathaniel] Chapman, because the box made of the tree which sheltered Wallace was stolen on the road, and he has vainly tried to recover it; he deeply regrets the loss of the gift; congratulates Buchan on the elevation of his brother [Lord Erskine] to the Chancellorship; the latter's son [David Montagu Erskine] will be received with open arms as minister to the United States; the Palmer family, recommended by Buchan, are doing well; Major [David] Lenox's family often talk of Buchan's friendliness to them. Letter: Rush (Benjamin). Philadelphia, Oct. 10, 1773. To William Gordon, near Boston. He was glad to hear from [Thomas] Mifflin of Gordon's happiness and increasing usefulness; he sends two recent productions of his own; the Vindication of his Address [on Slave-Keeping] will rectify Gordon's notions as to the state of slavery amongst the Jews; he has sent a copy to Samuel Elliott, with a view to republication in Boston; they are preparing to oppose the landing of the East India tea; the pieces in the newspapers signed Scævola are written by Mifflin, those signed Hamden are by himself; the competition with which he has long struggled from his brethren of the faculty extends to all his publications, and the negro cause in Philadelphia has on this account suffered through him; any notice that Gordon may take of his publications

Letter: Finley (Samuel). Princeton, [N. J.], Apr. 3, 1764. To Elijah Wheelock, Lebanon, Conn. Wheelock's son, who says he must go home next vacation, will bear this; he has been better able to study this winter, and would have made a fine scholar had he been so all along; David Smith, a former pupil who has been teaching school in Charlestown, S. C., desires an assistant; he has thought of [John] Lathrop and Davies; asks him to find out if Lathrop would go; Kirtland [Samuel Kirkland] has done well; he will try to get him some small assistance, as his means are so strait; he has read Wheelock's Narrative, and commends it; wishes him success in his undertaking; Wheelock's son will make no mean figure in the ordinary time, if he has health, but if he is to be his father's successor he should be better than common. GEORGE CLYMER.

Document: United States.—Commissioners for the Western Department. Pittsburgh, Mar. 27, 1778. Having inquired into the conduct of Col. George Morgan, agent for Indian affairs, they wholly acquit him of the charges of infidelity in his public trust and disaffection to the American cause; they are possessed of facts regarding him which evince uncommon diligence in the discharge of his duties and attention to the interests of the United States. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. D. S. by Geo Clymer, signed also by Samp. Mathews and Saml. McDowell. In possession of F. J. Dreer, Esq., Phila. 2 pp. F°. Letter: Coleman (William). [New York?] Aug. 12, 1803. To —? Concerning a certain law-suit, he calls notice to a point mentioned in Scott Smith's notes; the judge declared that he was "no party man", but Coleman had a "talk" with him in the Commercial Advertiser for 1798 on the same subject, and he means to remind him of something not very palatable; he observes that his correspondent has copied his remarks on Cheetham's notice of his correspondent's trial for the Palladium; he has left his proper path of politics to wrangle with doctors in their own province; the nonsense of theorists must be combatted; his adversaries will be Miller and Mitchell, the ablest men here, but if his friends will only furnish him with books enough he will read and digest and write away. Letter: Washington (Samuel). [Harewood, Va.?] May 26, 1769. To William Lee [London]. He wishes every day that fresh instances might be produced in support of Lee's opinion that British sentiment is changed in respect to America; the accounts from the other side are more and more alarming; he thinks well of Lee's advice that the colonies by frugality and industry should convince the ministry that they can live independent of them; he hopes to see associations entered into for that purpose, which must lead the trading people of Great Britain to interpose; Lord Bottetourt opened the Assembly in great state, but on the passing of some necessary resolutions he dissolved them in a passion; Miss Sally Lee desires to hear from him; congratulates him on his marriage with Miss [Hannah Philippa] Ludwell. A. L. S. 2 pp. 4°. EM. 2960

Letter: Jones (Gabriel). Augusta [County, Va.], Dec. 31, 1777. To James Mercer, by John Lewis. The cruel murder of the Cornstock [Cornstalk], his son, and two other Indians at the Point has already occasioned the death of six people; he fears a general war next spring with the Shawnees and the Delawares; he has been so surrounded with smallpox that he has not been able to stir out this winter. Letter: Pennsylvania, Province.—Governor. Philadelphia, Feb. 17, 1764. [To Sir William Johnson.] The Indians who were refused a passage through New York returned to Philadelphia under escort of a party of Royal Americans, by order of Gen. Gage; this guard, and the opposition apprehended from the inhabitants of the city, prevented an attack by the armed men who came from the frontiers as far as Germantown with that design; it is necessary to remove all Indians out of the Province; asks his advice as to sending them to the towns on the Susquehanna, or obtaining the consent of Gov. Colden for their passage to Albany in a sloop. L. S. 2 pp. 4°. EM. 3021

No. 11.

REPORT FOR OCTOBER, 1898.

During the month of October there were received at the Library by purchase 676 books and 463 pamphlets, and by gift 824 books and 2,514 pamphlets.

There were catalogued 4,868 volumes and 2,383 pamphlets, for which purpose 29,283 cards and 1,120 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	1,812	7,554
Number of volumes.....	4,839	27,203
Daily average of readers.....	70	291

Among the important gifts received this month were, from the Boston Medical Library, 33 volumes and 282 pamphlets; the Royal Norwegian University Library, 5 volumes; Captain Carl Stuart of Sweden, 8 volumes and 2 pamphlets; Eliot Norton, 15 volumes; New York City Supervisor, 8 volumes of the City Record; the Evening Post, 231 volumes and 94 pamphlets; Hon. Robert P. Porter, 106 volumes and 551 pamphlets; Dr. E. B. Foote, 9 volumes of old periodicals; J. H. Hill, 2 volumes of etchings; Alexander Maitland, 16 volumes and 86 pamphlets; John L. Cadwalader, 56 volumes of sporting books.

A new reading room has been opened at the Lenox, one end being devoted to music and the other to American genealogies and state, county and town histories.

The section of French literature at the Astor has been classified and catalogued and about 1,600 volumes have been transferred to it from the Lenox. Considerable additions have been made to the department of Scandinavian literature at the Astor, and Danish and Norwegian authors are now well represented in the collections.

EARLY TRAVELLING LIBRARIES.

In the year 1817, a system of what was called "Itinerating Libraries," was begun in East Lothian, Scotland,—the object being to furnish the towns and villages of the county with libraries of useful books. Each library was to consist of fifty volumes, and was to be moved about from one town or village to another, and a new division sent in its place. The plan was commenced with five of such libraries, each with bookcases, catalogues, labels, advertisements, and records for the issuing of books, the total cost of each of these libraries being from ten to twelve pounds.

At first, all the libraries were entirely gratuitous. Subsequently, a plan was adopted of keeping the new books for the use of persons giving a small annual subscription, which amounted to about a penny a volume.

Nine years later, on the 15th day of August, 1826, a public meeting was held at Edinburgh, for the purpose of establishing a Society for the promotion of itinerating libraries, when it was agreed that an annual contribution of five shillings should be paid by every member of the Society. In the Report of the Organization the utility of such libraries is briefly set forth.

The first Report of this Society was issued November 29, 1827, and gives an account of the establishment of five or six itinerating libraries, the number being soon after increased to ten.

Of the stock of five hundred volumes, it is stated that 250 were religious treatises and religious biographies; 70 related to history and general biography; 50 to elementary science, mechanics, and agriculture; and 130 to travels, voyages, and miscellany.

In this report, a catalogue of the books in the several libraries is given, and the following is the list of books contained in Nos. 1 and 2 of these travelling libraries, which it may be of interest to compare with some of the lists of the travelling libraries of the present day:—

- 49 Fearon's Sketches of America.
- 50 Brown's Memoirs of the Rev. James Hervey.

Subsequently, the Society appears to have extended to two or three other counties of Scotland. From the last report of these libraries, dated November, 1834, it would seem that the Organization became involved in debt, and it is doubtful whether the work was continued much beyond that date.

THE CONFEDERATE STATES ATTORNEY-GENERAL ON TAXING SALARIES.

SUPPLEMENTARY CORRESPONDENCE.

GEORGIA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

SAVANNAH, GA., 29th October, 1898.

DR. JOHN S. BILLINGS,
Director of the N. Y. Public Library,
New York City.

DEAR SIR:—

In the Bulletin of the New York Public Library, for this month, is printed, from the original in that Library, an opinion of the Attorney-General of the Confederate States as to the constitutionality of a tax on the salaries of the Confederate States Judges, which opinion was rendered in response to a letter from Judge Edward J. Harden, of Georgia. Judge Harden was my father. He died April 19, 1873, and his letter-book is now in my possession. In that book I find the letter which was referred to the Confederate States Attorney-General and called forth that opinion, and I now take pleasure in sending herewith a copy of it, thinking you would like to file it with the opinion.

Very truly yours,

WM. HARDEN,

Librarian, Ga. Hist. Society.

(COPY.)

SAVANNAH, 1st April, 1864.

SIR:—

When, on 16th and 30th January last, I made report to the Department of Justice, in respect to points worthy of legislation, I did not suppose that the seventh section of the Tax Act, of 24th April, 1863, imposing a tax "upon the salaries of all salaried persons serving in any capacity whatever, except upon the salaries of persons in the military or naval service," was intended by Congress, or would be construed by any department or person, to embrace the salaries of Judges of the Confederate States, when the Constitution declares that their compensation "shall not be diminished during their continuance in office." I have since learned that the attention of one House of Congress was called to the subject; and I have been informed, by a Tax Collector here, that his instructions do not exclude the collection of taxes upon the salaries of any persons, except those in the military or naval service.

Believing that the provision of the Constitution, to which I have referred, prohibits the taxation of my official salary, and that I cannot, with propriety, return it for taxation, I have declined to make such return.

Very resp'y,

Hon. WADE KEYES,
Ass't Att'y General,
Richmond, Va.

EDWARD J. HARDEN,

C. S. Dist. Judge for Ga.

Society of the Sons of St. George. A Number of Englishmen have heretofore arrived in this province, unacquainted with the country, and having conceived expectations, in which they found themselves disappointed, have been reduced to the greatest difficulties, which have been heightened by their not knowing where to apply for advice and assistance. . . . It is proposed therefore, that a meeting of Englishmen should be had, in order to form a plan for an English Society, similar, as far as may be, to those of the St. Andrew and Hibernian. Letter: Bingham (William). Philadelphia, Mar. 16, 1793. To Henry Jackson [Boston?]. He thinks the lottery prizes [of lands in Maine] ought to be purchased, but he is astonished at the prices offered; purchasers forget that locations cannot be ascertained without a survey, which the State has refused to enter into; the favorable arrangement of Mme. Leval's claims ought to stimulate her to form a settlement on the lands; asks to whom the remaining part of No. 7 belongs, and whether he could procure the remainder of Mount Desert, and how Trenton is to be divided so as to make out a deed to Mme. Leval and M. La Roche; he expects many French settlers next summer; hopes the legislature will pass a law favorable to the admission of foreigners. A. L. S. Endorsed. 3 pp. 8°. EM. 3071

JAMES WILSON.

Letter: Wilson (James). Pittsburgh, [Penn.], Sept. 14, 1775. To John Montgomery, Philadelphia. It is an extraordinary step for the Virginians to take possession of Fort Pitt after the recommendation addressed to the inhabitants west of Laurel Hill by the delegates of both provinces; this act has occasioned the application sent by Col. Morris and himself to Congress, on behalf of the people; something ought to be done for the impoverished people who settled here while the jurisdiction of Pennsylvania was peaceably admitted; the Indians have not yet come into the treaty, and he does not know whether troops may be needed for the frontier. Lithograph fac-simile of A. L. S. in possession of F. J. Dreer, Esq. Philada. 2 pp. F°. With a small wood engraving, (left) Drawn from memory by C. A. Poulson | Res. of Jas. Wilson. "Fort Wilson" S. THE AUTHORSHIP OF "SCÆVOLA" AND "HAMPDEN" IN 1773.

The following letter from Benjamin Rush to William Gordon, minister at Roxbury, is of some interest as proving the identity of two of the many newspaper writers in the Revolutionary period that hid their personality under names drawn from Roman and English history. Letter number 1 of Scævola appeared in Bradford's Pennsylvania Journal for 13 October 1773, and letters 1 and 2 of Hampden in the Journal for 20 October 1773. The "two new productions" that Rush refers to are probably his Address to the Inhabitants of the British Settlements in America and his Vindication of the Address, to the Inhabitants of the British Settlements, on the Slavery of the Negroes in America, in Answer to a Pamphlet entitled "Slavery not Forbidden by Scripture," both of which were published at Philadelphia in 1773; the Address was reprinted in Boston, that same year, by John Boyles for John Langdon. The original letter is now in the Emmet collection in the New York Public Library:

DEAR SIR

It gave me great Pleasure to hear not only by your Letter, but from Mr Mifflin of your Happiness & increasing Usefulness in the situation Providence hath placed you. Please to accept of two new Productions which acknowledge me for their Author since I wrote to you last. The Vindication of the Address I hope will rectify your Notions concerning the state of slavery amongst the Jews. Excuse the Phrase. You know the faculty are a Sett of freethinking Gentlemen. I have sent Mr. Sam^l Elliott's a Copy of it with some Corrections, in Case he should think it worthy of being republished in Boston. We are preparing here to oppose the Landing of the East India tea. The Pieces in our News Papers signed Scævola are written by Mr Mifflin—those signed Hamden in Defence of Patriotism &c (inter nos) are written by your friend. We admire the public Spirit of the Boston Patriots. Continue to give Laws in this Respect to the whole Continent. We are all well. Comp^{sa} : to M^{rs} Gordon. Yours Affectionately

B: RUSH

Philad^a : Octob^r : 10. 1773.

P S: A Prophet you know has no Honor in his own Country. The Competition with which I have long struggled from My Brethren of the faculty extends itself to all my Publications. The Negro Cause upon this Acc^t : has suffered through me in Philad^a :—

Any public or private notice you are pleased to take of any of them in your part of the world will for this Reason be the more useful & acceptable.

[Addressed:] For the Rev^d. M^r. WILLIAM GORDON near Boston

----------	-----------------	---------

REPORT FOR NOVEMBER, 1898.

During the month of November there were received at the Library by purchase 389 books and 159 pamphlets, and by gift 1,022 books, 2,007 pamphlets, and 121 maps.

There were catalogued 5,290 volumes and 3,497 pamphlets, for which purpose 25,888 cards and 1,179 slips for the printer were written.

The following table shows the number of readers and the number of volumes consulted in both the Astor and Lenox branches of the Library during the month:

	LENOX.	ASTOR.
Total number of readers.....	2,545	7,507
Number of volumes.....	6,342	28,449
Daily average of readers.....	98	289

Among the important gifts received this month were, from Andrew H. Green, 52 volumes and 401 pamphlets, including several drafts of preliminary proceedings of the State Constitutional Convention, etc.; from F. A. Sorge, 71 volumes of documents, 106 pamphlets and a large number of newspapers, which included more or less complete files of over 150 publications, all relating to socialism; from Mrs. Henry Draper, 6 volumes of Russian music published in St. Petersburg, 1851 and 1864, containing 241 different compositions, mostly songs and ballads of Russian composers who flourished during the first half of this century; from Alexander Maitland, 12 volumes and 12 pamphlets, being a collection of Scotch music; from Lord Crawford, 3 volumes containing reproductions of ancient maps of the world with descriptions; from the Minister of the Interior, Holland, 1 volume relating to the National Museum of Amsterdam, and from the Director of Posts and Telegraphs of the Argentine Republic, 1 large map of the postal and telegraphic facilities of the Argentine Republic and Uruguay.

JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL ON KEATS.

(From the original manuscript in the New York Public Library.)

BOSTON, Dec^r. 5. 1841.

MY DEAR SIR,

I address you rather than your brother editor, because I judge that the poetical department of Arcturus is more especially under your charge. I have to thank you for your sympathizing notice of my verses last spring. I thought then that you might like to have a contribution occasionally from me, but other engagements which it were tedious to specify hindered me from doing what my sympathy with the aims of your magazine dictated. I subscribed for your Arcturus before I had seen a number of it (though I can ill afford many such indulgences of taste) because I liked the spirit of your prospectus. For the same reason I sent you my volume—of which I sent but a bare halfdozen to “the press”—because I despise our system of literary puffing. Your notice of Keats, in the number for this month, a poet whom I especially love & whom I consider to be one of the true old Titan brood—made me wish to see two of my own sonnets enshrined in the same volume. One of them you will see is addressed to the same ‘marvellous day.’ I cannot help thinking that you will like both of them.—

In your “News Gong” I see that you suggest a reprint of Tennyson. I wish you would say in your next that he is about to reprint a new & correct edition of his poems with many new ones which will appear in a few months. I think it would be a pity to reprint his poems at all—for he is poor & that would deprive him of what little profit he might make by their sale in this country—especially would it be wrong to reprint an incorrect edition. (Moxon will be his publisher)

I do not wish you to state your authority for this—but you may depend on it, for my authority is the poet himself. I have the great satisfaction of thinking that the publication is in some measure owing to myself, for it was by my means that he was written to about it, & he says that “his American friends” are the chief cause of his reprinting.

Wishing you all success in the cause of true & good literature

I remain your friend

J. R. LOWELL.

SONNET.

TO THE SPIRIT OF KEATS.

Great soul, thou sittest with me in my room
Uplifting me with thy vast, quiet eyes,
On whose full orbs with kindly lustre lies
The twilight warmth of ruddy ember-gloom;
Thy clear, strong tones will oft bring sudden bloom
Of hope secure to him who lonely cries
Wrestling with the young poet's agonies—
Neglect & scorn which seem a certain doom:

Yes ! the few words which, like huge thunderdrops,
 Thy large heart down to earth shook doubtfully,
 Thrilled by the inward lightning of its might,— Serene & pure, like gushing joy of light,
 Shall track the eternal chords of Destiny
 After the moonled pulse of ocean stops.

SONNET—SUNSET & MOONSHINE.

The sunset hath a glory for the Soul,
 Uplifting it from all earth's things apart
 And building it a palace of pure Art
 Where it doth sit alone in crown'd controul
 And o'er all space its eyes unscaled roll;
 But the dear moonshine looks in on the heart,
 Giving each kindly blood-drop warmer start,
 And knits me with humanity's great whole;
 It doth not bear me, as the sunset doth,
 Forth of the city, but on dull brick walls,
 Silvery smileth, as 'twere nothing loath
 To sanctify all that whereon it falls,
 And with it my full heart grows forth & broods
 In love o'er all life's sleeping multitudes.

[Postscript:] I said that you would like them.

[Addressed:]

For

THE SIGNERS TO THE DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE.

PENNSYLVANIA. IN THREE PARTS—PART III.

Sanderson (John). Biography of the Signers to the Declaration of Independence. Volume XII., Pennsylvania. Illustrated by Thomas Addis Emmet, M.D. New York [1870?]. F°. The text of the volume consists of the life of Benjamin Franklin, by John Sanderson, from volume 2, pages 1 to 153 of the original edition of Sanderson; and of George Taylor, by H. D. Gilpin, from volume 9, pages 67 to 89.

The material indexed consists of: broadsides 5, caricatures 4, documents 13, drawing 1, engravings 6, letters 14, newspapers 4, portraits 78, views 15.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN.

Portrait: Franklin (Benjamin). Three-quarters length, seated; directed to the right, facing and looking to the left; pen in right hand; through a window to the right a house struck by lightning, electric conductors to the left. Inscription: (left) M. Chamberlin pinxit. (right) E. Fisher fecit. | B: Franklin of Philadelphia L.L.D. F.R.S. Sold by M. Chamberlin in Stewart Street, Old Artillery Ground, Spitalfields. Price 5s. Mezzotint. [1770?] F°. EM. 3172

See J. C. Smith's British Mezzotinto Portraits, part 2, p. 493. 19.

Drawing: Franklin (Benjamin). Franklin playing chess with Mrs. Howe. Water-color drawing, signed: Max. 1863. 4°. EM. 3173

For the incident illustrated see Bigelow's Works of Franklin, vol. 5 (N. Y., 1887) p. 447.

Letter: Franklin (Benjamin). Philadelphia, Apr. 22, 1788. To M. Le Veillard, Passy. Acknowledges letter of Nov. 30, 1787; his service as President expires in October, and he had purposed retiring then to his grandson's villa in order to finish the Memoirs; nevertheless, considering his age and Le Veillard's earnest desire, he has resolved to proceed in that work next day and continue it daily; if his health remains he will finish it during the summer; he does not approve all the features of the new constitution, but hopes to see it adopted. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. L. S. in the possession of F. J. Dreer Esq. Phila. 2 pp. F°. With two wood engravings, on India paper, of The House in which Benj. Franklin was born Milk Street House, Boston and Burial Place of Benj. Franklin S. E. Cor. of 5th. & Arch Sts. Philada. EM. 3174

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. 9. The first half only of the letter is given, ending "a Right to Ambition Repose." It is printed in full in Sparks's Works of Franklin, vol. 10 (Boston, 1856) p. 345, and in Bigelow, vol. 9 (N. Y., 1888) p. 470.

Letter: Franklin (Benjamin). Passy, Aug. 21, 1783. To Henry Laurens, Bath. Presumes that Laurens has written to some of his colleagues since arriving in England, but no letters have come to hand; after making and sending over many propositions of their own and of [David] Hartley's, it is now proposed by the ministers that the preliminary articles be signed as a definitive treaty, with the addition of a paragraph at the beginning and end. A. L. S. Endorsed. 1 page. F°. EM. 3175

View: Boston, Mass. Inscription: The House in which Benj. Franklin was born Milk Street House, Boston. Small wood engraving on India paper. EM. 3176

Also in Brotherhead's Book of the Signers, Phila., 1861, p. 9.

Document: Franklin (Josiah). Boston, Jan. 26, 1731/2. Received of James Bowdoin £20, also a bond of Josiah and James Franklin for £196 11s. 8d., and another of the same parties together with William Lowder for £150, both dated June 7, 1720, in full of all accounts. D. S., Josia Franklin. Endorsed. ½ page. 4°. EM. 3177

Portrait: Defoe (Daniel). Half length; directed, facing, and looking to the right. Inscription: Engraved by J. Thomson. Stipple. F°. EM. 3178

An impression on larger paper of the plate in the Gallery of Portraits, vol. 7 (London, 1837) p. 112, published by the Society for the Diffusion of Useful Knowledge. The greater part of the lettering has been erased from the plate.

Portrait: Mather (Cotton). Half length; directed and looking to the front, facing slightly to the left; oval within a rectangle. Inscription: Cottonus Matherus S. Theologiae Doctor Regiae Societatis Londinensis Socius, et Ecclesiae apud Bostonum Nov-Anglorum nuper Praepositus. Aetatis Suae LXV, MDCCXXVII. (right) P. Pelham ad vivum pinxit ab Origin, Fecit et excud. Mezzotint. [London? 1797?] F°. EM. 3179

See J. C. Smith's British Mezzotinto Portraits, part 3, p. 974-5, II. The plate is there reproduced. As far as known, this was the first mezzotint executed in America. The above example is from a modern state of the plate, retouched. The paper bears the water mark "Russell & Co. 1797."

Portrait: Addison (Joseph). Bust; directed to the left, facing slightly to the right, looking to the front; oval frame, with mask, crown, lyre etc. below. Inscription: (left) G. Kneller pinxit. (right) J. Houbraken sculps. Amst. 1748. | In the collection of Jacob Jonson Esqr. Impensis I. & P. Knapton Londini 1748. Line. F°. EM. 3180

Letter: Hutchinson (Thomas). St. James's Street, [London,] May 25, 1775. To —. Acknowledges letter of Feb. 18th and a pamphlet; the act for restraining trade ought to convince Americans that they have been deceived by assurances that their combination would cause the English people to make a change in administration to comply with American demands; the body of the people are united on the present measures with respect to America; if Franklin, who is doubtless employed by the opposition, should prevail on the Americans to stand out, he will only increase their distress; if this senseless confederacy should hold until another session of parliament, the members would be so incensed that their first act would be an exclusion of Americans from the fishing banks; the letters of the New England men will confirm his statements of the general sense of the kingdom, for they have expressed home their surprise at finding it so different from what they conceived. GEORGE TAYLOR.

Document: Taylor (George). [Philadelphia?] June 24, 1775. He has known Mr. Webb for several years and believes him qualified to command a company of riflemen if the Committee of Northampton County should think proper to recommend him to that service; for particulars he refers to Mr. Gordon, who is now in Philadelphia. Lithograph fac-simile of an A. D. S. in possession of Simon Gratz Esq. 1 page. 4°. With a small lithographic view of the Res. of George Taylor N. E. Cor. Ferry & 4th. St. Easton Pa. EM. 3301

Document: Fox (Joseph). Philadelphia, June 8, 1776. Certificate to the Committee of Safety that Lewis Pahl delivered to Robert Towers 150 muskets; and that the account between Pahl and the County of Philadelphia is settled. A. D. S. Endorsed. Narrow strip. EM. 3303

Letter: Bryna (George). Northern Liberties, [Penn.,] Feb. 11, 1783. To Sec. [Timothy] Matlack [Philadelphia]. Acknowledges a copy of the vote of the Council requesting his attendance on the 13th inst., when the claim of Col. [Thomas] Forrest should be further heard; he declines; only the peculiar circumstances of the Board under [William] Moore induced him to intermeddle then; John Dickinson is too accomplished a lawyer for any help to be needed now; he has always aided the committees of the Assembly in draughting, and has unjustly been held answerable for the effects of their laws when complaints have arisen; this ill-usage has taught him to keep within his immediate duty. A. L. S. 2 pp. F°. EM. 3304

See the Minutes of the Supreme Executive Council of Pennsylvania, vol. 13 (Harrisburg, 1853) p. 500.

Document: Funston (James). Easton, [Penn.,] Sept. 19, 1765. Petition to Gov. John Penn, showing that he has been convicted of bastardy on the evidence of an infamous woman, and that the payment which he is obliged to make her in consequence will reduce him to the greatest distress; he therefore begs a remittance of the fine which he is sentenced to pay to the Governor. D. S. Endorsed by the justices of Northampton County, who certify that he is unable to pay the fine and must submit to the corporal punishment unless it be remitted; also that the woman is of a dissolute life. Signed, Hu: Wilson, Daniel Brodhead, Jn°. Jennings, Henry Geiger, Aaron Dupui. An endorsement by John Penn directs the sheriff, [Peter] Kechlein, to remit the fine. 2 pp. F°. EM. 3305
